COMMANDANT HURD'S VISIT

Commandant Harry Hurd, S. A., accompanied by his two sons and Adj. French, S.A., of St. John's, arrived here Saturday last. Commandant Hurd's visit here was in connection with raising money to furnish the new Maternity Hospital. A meeting was held in the S.A. Citadel on Saturday night, special services were held all day Sunday. On Monday night Commandant Hurd delivered a lecture, entitled, "The Salvation Army Around the World," in aid of the hospital. There was a small attendance but nevertheless the lecturer delivered a most interesting and instructive address. Outside of St. John's, there appears to be little or no interest in the movement. The Commandant and his two sons went to Hr. Grace on Tuesday. Commandant Hurd is an old Bay Roberts boy who has done well in connection with Salvation Army work. He has travelled considerably, and is now financial representative for Canada East, Newfoundland and Bermuda.

NEW EDITOR OF 'GREETING'

We extend congratulations to the new Editor of the 'Meth. Monthly Greeting', Rev. J. G. Joyce. For the past 25 years the 'Greeting' has appeared under the Editorship of the Rev. Dr. L. Curtis. His resignation has been accepted by Conference. If the church is to stand for the cause of truth and righteousness and hold her own in the world today, then the organs of that church must fearlessly take sides with right and expose that which they believe to be wrong. We predict a very successful journalistic career for the Rev. Mr. Joyce, with whom the Editor of The Guardian has a personal acquaintance.

THE TRIP OF THE MOTOR BOAT MONTAGNAIS

Leaving Bay Roberts on June 24th Battle Hr. was reached July 1. Leaving Pattle Hr. the boat was 14 days in the ice, some days making 5 miles, other days 25. Reached Northwest River July 21st. Quite a number of Montagnais Indians were there, and a few families of Nascoptic Indians came from the interior to the settlement (which is one of the most beautiful spots in the world) and were received into the Church and baptized. Rev. Dr. Whelan on arrival was feeling well.

On July 25th he measured the ground for the foundation of a new church building, returning on board the boat in the evening. About 11 o'clock the same night he complained of feeling unwell, and at 1 o'clock the following morning he passed away peacefully. Mrs. Paddon, wife of Dr. Paddon, who is in charge of the hospital at Northwest River, was called on board, and was making preparations to receive Dr. Whelan into the hospital for treatment, when at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of July 26th he suddenly expired. The crew did everything possible for the deceased priest, but to no avail. A rough coffin was made by Messrs. Gillett, of Twillingate, William Fitzpatrick, cook, and C. Verneulen, Kelly, of Coley's Point, and Mark Blake, of Northwest River. Early next morning the coffin was brought aboard the yacht. The remains were then placed in the coffin and packed with salt. The weather was very hot. Fog and bad weather kept the boat there that day, but the next morning at 9:30 o'clock the Montagnais started for home. That evening Rigolet was reached, and notwithstanding the head winds encountered in the bay. Next morning another start was made only to bring up at Georges Island as sea and fog made it impossible for them to go on until the next morning, when the fog lifted. At Grally the crew sent messages containing the sad news to the friends and relatives, and then proceeded to Baateau, which was reached before dark.

Next day after a swift run Battle Harbor was reached, where the crew received orders to wait for a steamer. Then 2 days later in the afternoon the steamer was received in the bay. St. Anthony which again was reached at sundown. 8 O'clock Sunday morning the Sebastopol reached St. Anthony, took the body and went out again, the Montagnais staying until the weather cleared. A few days later another start was made and though fog, head winds and heavy seas were encountered the weary crew, consisting of Ronald Shannahan, master; Thomas srs. Gillett, William Fitzpatrick, cook, and C. Verneulen, engineer, reached the home port at 4 p.m. Sunday, the 19th.

The motor yacht Montagnais, owned by the late Rev. Dr. Whelan arrived here from Labrador at 4 pm on Sunday last, after being several weeks on the return trip. Bad weather and fog were the cause of the delay. This is the boat on board of which Dr. Whelan passed away in the presence of his crew, Ron Shannahan, master; Thomas Fitzpatrick, cook, and Cornelius Verneulen, engineer. On arrival here she was boarded by the Rev. Fr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Phil Morrissey, and proceeded to Clark's Beach, where she was met by Rev. Fr. O'Brien and a large number of the deceased cleric's parishioners and friends. The crew then proceeded to the Presbytery, where they told the story of the last illness and passing of the deceased to his aged father and his sister, Mrs. J. M. Curran.

In connection with the C. of E. Garden Party at Salmon Cove on Thursday a football match was played between the C. L. B. team of this town and a picked team from South River, Clarke's Beach and Makinsons. The game resulted in a win for the C. L. B. by a score of 2 to 1. The C. L. B. band was also present.
