MRS. W. M. COVENEY.
Mrs. William Covene passed away on Saturday about one o'clock from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. The deceased had been in poor health for some time, but the end came very suddenly. She is survived by one son and two daughters. The children are Joseph, in the employ of B. Mooney and Son; Katie and Minnie, at home. A granddaughter, Miss Gertrude Covene, also survives.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from her late residence, 245 Union street. The remains were taken to the Cathedral, where the burial service was recited by Rev. William Duke. Interment was made in the new Catholic cemetery.

Leonard McLaughlin, charged with driving over the Suspension Bridge faster than a walk, could not attend court this morning owing to illness.

PECULIAR CHARGES AGAINST POLICEMEN

Holding Hands With Girls in the Magee Building

Perry and Jones May Have to Answer to the Chief—Statements Made by Man Who was Arrested.

Robert Carlin, a well dressed young man, was arrested Saturday night about eleven o'clock by Policemen Ira Perry on the charge of lying and luring on Water street. As a result of this arrest J. B. M. Baxter was defending the prisoner in the police court this morning and considerable reflection has been cast by the evidence on Policemen Perry and Jones, who, it is alleged, were holding hands with girls in the Magee building.

Policeman Perry gave evidence that at twenty-five minutes to eleven Saturday night he was talking to a man named McNulty on Water street, and two women came down Prince street hill. They asked him and Policeman Jones to go in the doorway of the Magee building on Water street as they had something to say to them. They said a man named Dobbin had been following them. When the officers came out Carlin and Dobbin were standing at the Magee building main entrance. Perry said he asked Carlin what he was doing there, and Carlin said he did not know that he was to be arrested. He said he was waiting for a friend, that he was a citizen and would not give his name. Carlin was then arrested.

To Mr. Baxter Perry said he did not say anything to the young men about the charge of following the woman, and he did not take Carlin to the woman for identification. He did not speak to Dobbin regarding what he was doing there, but only arrested the man who spoke.

Robert Carlin, the defendant, took the stand in his own defence and had as a witness John Dobbin. The story given by these two young men is somewhat of a different nature than that handed out to the court by the policeman.

Carlin said that he walked down King street, along Prince Wm., and when he got to the corner of Prince and Water streets he saw John Collins, of Carleton, standing on the corner of Water and Prince streets. He joined them. He had not followed any woman and did not see the ones in question, but having occasion to pass the building he glanced in the main entrance. He saw Policemen Jones standing there with his hands on the shoulders of a girl and witness remarked, "Oh, there's a cop with his arms on a girl's shoulders." Officer Jones came out at the hallway and walked to Philip O'Neill's corner, and as witness returned to the Magee doorway and looked in he saw the policeman getting up from the floor. The helmet was on the floor. Almost immediately Officer Perry came out of the hallway and the shoulders of his coat were covered with lime and whitewash.

Perry shortly after came to him and asked him what he was doing round the building and he saw a shadow of a cop's helmet that was rising from the floor. The back of the coat was covered with lime, he would not say there was a bunch of lime on the coat.

To the court, defendant said that Officer Jones was in the vestibule of the building and Perry was in the hallway. There were lights in the inner hallway and the shadow could be plainly seen through the glass panels of the door.

John Dobbin gave evidence that he was at Brennan's Corner on Water St. with John Collins, of Carleton. He saw two girls go down the hill and as they got to the Magee building and two policemen who were standing near the door followed them into the hallway. Policemen Jones took hold of the younger girl's hand. Dobbin said he passed the door and saw Officer Jones talking to the girl in the vestibule. Witness went to the alley between O'Neill's and the Magee building and saw a man standing in there. Shortly after, Officer Jones left the hallway and joined the man at the alley. Witness then looked in the Magee door and saw a man get up as if from the floor or steps. Officer Perry then came out but did not say anything to either witness or Carlin. Jones whistled to Perry who joined him and the man at the alley and after being there full ten minutes talking Perry came to witness and Carlin and talked to the latter and finally arrested him. Witness said he walked to the lock-up door when the arrest was made. He met Perry again about midnight and the officer told him that he might want him to be in court. When Perry came out of the hallway there was lime on his back. He said he thought that policeman should use a little more discretion in work of this kind.

The magistrate said that some times good judgment was not used and persons were questioned by one son and a street car. Complaints had often been made.

The case was adjourned until 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, when Policemen Jones will give evidence.

When asked about the matter this morning Chief Clerk said that he guessed the policemen could clear themselves of the charges made in evidence.

The Young People's Society of Tabernacle church will hold a literary entertainment this evening, when members from all other Baptist societies in the city will attend.

DISTINGUISHED VISITOR GIVES HIS IMPRESSIONS

Mayor Hurley, of Salem, Mass., Down on a Visit to Billy O'Keefe—Says he was 50 Years Behind the Times.

"Your city is fifty years behind the times," was the remark with which Mayor John F. Hurley of Salem, Mass., greeted a Star man this morning.

"Why," he said, "you have no Sunday papers here, no stores open, you cannot get a drink, a poor person who saloon yesterday. You have no Sunday pint of milk if the family supply gets out, and a man tells me that he even had difficulty in finding an eating saloon yesterday. You have no Sunday trains or steamers, and if a person sets here on Saturday night he is tied up here until Monday. You have a nice enough city but it is away behind the times."

As soon as he recovered his breath after this onslaught the reporter inquired of the reason which was behind the Mayor of Salem so far from the location paths of civilization.

"Oh," said His Worship, "I am quite a traveller. I have visited England and Ireland, and last year I took a trip through Canada. I know everything and there are things one can learn everywhere now. Why, I even picked up some new polka songs. So this year I thought I would run down in this direction and see my old friend Billy O'Keefe. Billy is an old friend of mine, comes from a place about two miles from where I live. He seems to be well known around here. Even the little girls in the 5 and 10 cent store seem to know him. I was up there this morning and asked them if they knew Billy O'Keefe. Sure we know him," they said. "Turning to matters of greater importance, Mr. Hurley gave a brief outline of the form of civic government in Salem. He said they have a common council composed of twenty-four members, four from each of the six wards, and a board of seven aldermen elected at large. The mayor is also elected at large. The mayor is the only member of the civic government who gets paid for his services. He says that the city is prosperous and has the most economic administration. At present they are building a $400,000 sewerage system which has cost over $200,000."

As the mayor was beginning to feel the pang of a parting shot to the effect that "You can say all the nice things you like about me, but you cannot say anything about my city."

His Worship is right up to the minute himself. His impressions of the city today as he strolled along elegantly clad in a frock coat suit with a pair of white string ties, a pair of Alice blue socks and natty tan shoes, with a diamond in the middle of his shirt front that would rival a locomotive's headlight.

Mr. Hurley was treated to a drive around the city with the reporter. John McDermid, who also took him to call on Mayor Bullock.

From St. John Mr. Hurley goes to Fredericton, where he will stay at the Woodstock, and thence home by way of Houlton, Me.

SIX CLIMBERS KILLED IN PEAKS OF ALPS

TURIN, June 19.—The Stampa has received a telegram from the Alpine club stating that a party of six tourists—four French and two Italian—were killed in the peaks of the Alps. The party was led by three French guides from St. Germain, in France, to climb some of the peaks in the Grand Teton range. They wished to make the ascent of the Grand Teton, the summit of which has never yet been reached. Great difficulties were encountered, the supply of ropes being insufficient. The party had made good progress, when, at about 10 o'clock, the ropes broke, and all were precipitated into an abyss.

The guides managed to save themselves by clinging to projecting rocks, but the Frenchmen, named Gerard, Bonroux, Tappete and Planche, and the two Italians were carried to Tottone in a dying condition, and succumbed shortly after.

MISS CHEYNE'S FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Miss Ethel Cheyne was held yesterday afternoon from her parents' residence, Prince St. The service was conducted at the house at 2 o'clock by Rev. Jacob Healey. The quartette of the Queen's Square Methodist church rendered several selections. Interment was made in Fernhill cemetery.

There were many floral tributes, including: Heart, chair of Queen Square Methodist church; crescent, Queen Square church; wreath, Carleton Methodist church; carnations, Sunday school class Carleton Methodist church; carnations, Carleton Presbyterian church; carnations, James Griffith; pillow, Maple Leaf Club; crescent, Brook and Patterson; cross, young ladies of Brook and Patterson; carnations, Misses Howard and Child; wreath, G. H. Allen; carnations, Miss Lurgie; wreath, Mrs. C. U. Wilcox.

It is understood that a protest has been made by some members of Zion church against the transfer of Rev. James Kirk. This was the information received from Woodstock today. It is added that the first station house has been approved by conference no action can now be taken. The matter will likely be referred to the chairman of the district.

Charles Morris, of the staff of W. H. Thorne and Co., Ltd., was to have been a passenger on the ill-fated "Fel Yuen" on Saturday, but missed the boat. But for this accident, however, he might also have shared the fate of his fellow employees.

SIX BADLY HURT WHEN AUTOMOBILE RAN AWAY

Sight-Seeing Car Got Beyond Control and Twenty-Five Passengers Were Thrown Out.

New York, June 21.—As a result of a big sightseeing automobile running wild while loaded with merry-makers on their way home from Coney Island early today, six of the occupants of the vehicle are in hospitals with severe injuries and one young woman is expected to die as the result of her hurts. The fatally injured victim, Miss May Emery, of Washington Heights, sustained fractures of both legs and of the right arm and internal injuries which had gone wrong, went zig-zagging along the parkway but were restrained. Three of the six injured persons are women and Miss Rose Miller, of Manhattan, had both legs broken and is suffering from shock.

HEALTH INSPECTORS MAKING THEIR ROUNDS

The annual inspection of premises of householders by the Board of Health is progressing slowly.

At the meeting of the Board of Health this morning a number of the inspectors had completed their first visitation. A few others will finish their first inspection during the present week. The inspectors are finding generally a desire to conform with the regulations. However, there are the customary owners, who neglect to clean up the refuse. A second inspection will be made by the board officers and then final reports will be entered. The owners refusing to clean their premises will be immediately called upon to appear in the police court for not conforming with the regulations.

The issuance of licenses to hawkers has been carried on during the past few weeks. A number of licenses have already been granted. It is imperative that all sellers of milk must have licenses, and must clean their cans in accordance with the health regulations.

PRESSED HARD Coffee's Weight on Old Age

When prominent men realize the injurious effects of coffee and the danger in health that Postum can bring, they are glad to lend their testimony for the benefit of others.

A superintendent of public schools in one of the southern states says: "My mother, since her early childhood, was an inveterate coffee drinker. She had been troubled with her heart for a number of years and complained of that 'weak all over feeling and sick stomach.'"

GOVERNMENT WILL PAY ITS WATER RATES

The dispute which has existed between the city and the Dominion public works department since August last, when the water rates were raised about 60 per cent, has now been satisfactorily settled and a check for $2,800, being full payment of the arrears in water rates due the city, has been handed over to the city.

The I. C. R. is also in the city's debt to the extent of $7,000, the arrears in dispute being for the February and March quarters, during which the maximum amount of water which the city agreed to supply at the minimum rate was exacted for its Pottinger has notified the chamberlain that the protest has been dropped and the claim would be paid.

BOY OF 14 ELOPES WITH AUNT OF 22

New York Couple Arrested in Philadelphia, the Woman Charged With Kidnaping.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 19.—Michael Maszlova, a fourteen-year-old boy, and his aunt, Pannie Maszlova, twenty-two years old, both of New York, who came here, intending, the girl says, to be married, were arrested today.

The boy broke into tears when Raphael, a detective from New York, and O'Brien, a special policeman of the Third and Daney street station, entered the house and placed him under arrest as a runaway. He said he wanted to stay with his aunt, as she had treated him so good. From the lad the police learned the whereabouts of the aunt, and going to a cigar factory where she was employed, arrested her. The girl was accused in the warrant of kidnaping the boy and the detective and information and warrants to the boy to be taken before Edward Gallagher, captain of detectives, and she informed them that she and her nephew had come to this city to be married.

The intended bride said they lived in a house at No. 1284 High avenue, New York, and that they had been sweethearts for many months. They decided to elope three months ago. Stealing from the house at night, they came to this city, and since their arrival she has been supporting her nephew.

When the boy was asked if he was going to marry his aunt he smiled. He said that after he had been with her a long time he had told him that it would be impossible for her to stay at home any longer. He said he became frightened and ran away with her.

"I had a good time ever since," he concluded.

ROSS RIFLE WILL BE USED AT BISLEY

Was Banned From Competition Through Misunderstanding.

OTTAWA, Ont., June 20.—A cable has been received from Bisley by the secretary of the D. R. A., which states that the Ross rifle will be admitted to the competition this year. A week ago the rifle was barred from the competition. It appears, however, that this action was based on a misunderstanding. It has been reconsidered with the result that the Ross rifle is permissible.

FORMER ST. JOHN MAN'S EXPERIENCES IN THE WEST

A recent letter from Byron Yandall, formerly of this city who has been in the west since his graduation from U. N. B. in 1891, tells of some interesting experiences. Mr. Yandall was engaged as a civil engineer in various parts of the west, chiefly on railway work. He was sent to the west by the way of the G. T. P. He tells of a trip to civilization, during which he walked 250 miles by canoe, then walked 150 miles before reaching a railway station, where he could get a train. He spent some time in Seattle and other coast cities. He spent some time in the G. T. P. offices at Prince Rupert. He is at present engaged on the work of revision of location in the wilds of British Columbia.

HISTORIC RUINS OF ERIN GRUMBLE

LIMBICK, Ireland, June 20.—Slowly but steadily the historic landmarks which dot the western and southwestern part of Ireland are disappearing. Time's ravages and man's neglect have done the work of effacement, and places dear to the hearts of Ireland's sons, at some time or other, are fast crumbling into decay.

In this connection may be mentioned the little Roman Catholic church of Garraunoy, a quaint hamlet within a few miles of the picturesque town of Killybeg in the County of Donegal. This little edifice dedicated to the worship of God, was built in 1812, when its people, taking advantage of the relaxation of the penal laws, moved once more into the open and dared to aspire to the right of public worship.

Close by, but more secluded, stood the old thatched Chapel of Sean Tigh an Afinn—the old house of the masses—the people of the surrounding districts of Clare and Tipperary were wont to assemble during all that long, dreary night of persecution and when the ancient parochial churches of the neighborhood were either appropriated or destroyed, to assist at the great sacrifice and hear the Word of God, while sentinels kept watch from the surrounding hills. "The no worship" accusations so sacred would be treasured deeply in the hearts of a faithful people.

It would be hard to realize the deplorable state of decay in which the present structure lies. The walls are seriously out of plumb, the roof is in danger of falling in, and that, all things considered, remodeling is out of the question. An effort is now being made to remedy this sad state of things—replace this historic ruin by a building, plain and substantial, but somewhat suitable for its sacred purpose. In this work the Very Rev. Canon Flannery, the parish priest of Killybeg, is much interested and has issued an appeal for aid. The people of the locality have been and are, according to their means, contributing generously to the building fund; still, without assistance from their friends at home and abroad and the public, there would be little hope of success.

Canon Flannery believes that an appeal to the sons and daughters of Clare, Limerick, and Tipperary in the United States and Canada—an appeal which has the warm approval of the Most Rev. Dr. Fogarty, Bishop of Killybeg—would be generously responded to and Canon Flannery is hoped up with the hope that many American dollars will be willingly contributed for this absolutely necessary work.
