Dr. Meyer has been spending a week in the city with a patient for whom he has been caring. He ventured out alone last night to see the town by gaslight. He was brought back to the Sheldon Hotel a few hours before daybreak, bleeding profusely from half a dozen severe knife wounds, with his clothing cut in many places and his money and watch gone. He was almost totally devoid of reason and will power, and there was not even a trace of alcoholic odor about his breath.
