JERUSALEM.

Jerusalem, Oct. 31.—About four inches of snow feil on Monday night, which remained until Friday—an unusual storm for so early in the season.

Active lumber operations will be carried on this winter on Messers. Peters' lumber land back of Hampstead.

Wm. Whitten will work on the south side of the Jerusalem road and his cut will reach the river at Hampstead. He expects to get out a large quantity.

A. W. Johnson and I. W. Short are getting ready to work near Fannin Lake. They expect to engage several teams and quite a crew of men. Their lumber will come out at Spoon Island Quarry.

Wellington Webb is building a dam at the mouth of Long Lake and will work near the lake putting the lumber into it. From there, with the aid of the dam, he can drive to the river just below Oak Point. It is a good site to get out a large cut.

For are not the highways, and byways of the world full of leaves, which have fallen, perhaps centuries ago, the spirit that exhales from which is stronger and sweeter because of their hoary antiquity. There is in the city of London, that great Babylon of the nations, a building round which the full tide of traffic flows, brimming full at midday, hardly pausing in its onward rush, when the big bell of St. Paul's strikes midnight. And yet so full of glamour is the place that, the moment artist, is emilirined much that is, best and noblest in fingland's history. There, in that line of chapels die those, who bore of old time the scripter of sovereignty in the land. Some of these were wise, and good men, in their generation, some were great warriots, and mighty men, while others again cumbered the earth with their hateful presence for a while, and then went their way into the dimness of obscurity. Here, they the wise and the foolish, the good and the bad, the timorous, and the bold, the weak and the viccious, each with a recumbent effigy on his or her tomb; leaves that have fallen when their time was spent in the world of light and life, into the darkness and decay of the city of unending sleep. REMEMBER THIS FACT—Every subscriber paying one dollar in advance for our paper will receive The Montreal Weekly Herald for one year without extra cost. The expense to us is so great that we can make no deviation from this rule—the money must be paid in advance, and all arrearages must be paid.

As a Newspaper.

• As a Home Paper. THE MONTREAL WEEKLY HERALD is pre-eminently a paper for The Home: In the first place, nothing is permitted in its columns that cannot be read with profit and instruction by every member of the household. In the second place, it is edited with special reference to matters that interest women. "Madge Merton's" weekly talks with her women readers constitute the most popular department of the kind in any Canadian paper. They are vertiable "heart to heart" talks with the women of the Dominion, and are appreciated in thousands of homes. In this department, are given Hints to Mothers; time-tested Cooking Recipes; the latest Fashiona, illustrated, and a hundred and one topics of feminine interest.

THIS COMBINATION is a great one. Your home paper gives you in full the local news, the local markets and the local gossip. The Montreal Weekly Herald gives you the general news of the world, reports of the great markets, departments of interest to farmers, and, in particular, few tures of value and interest in The Home. One paper is the complement of the other. They dovetall into each other, and never overlap.
