

Established 1867
The Weekly News and Literary Journal of the University of New Brunswick

Member Canadian University Press
Authorized as second-class mail, Post Office Dept., Ottawa
Brunswickan Office: "O" Hut, Campus
Honorary Editor-in-Chief—Rt. Hon. Lord Beaverbrook
Editor-in-Chief BETTY LOU VINCENT
Sports Editor JIM CROCKETT
C.U.P. Editor ARNOLD DUKE
Feature Editor MARY LOU O'BRIEN
Photo Editor JIM HENDERSON
Columnists Anne Sansom, Bill Cockburn, Ruth Nicholson, Bob Whalen, Mike Joseph, Frank Walton, John Pierce, Jim Currie.

DEADLINE—All copy must be typewritten and in the Brunswickan office before Saturday noon for publication the following Wednesday. Brunswickan Office Phone 8424. Subscription $2.00 Yearly.

VOL. 71 FREDERICTON, N. B., DECEMBER 5, 1951 No. 9

Vote is Needed . . . .

Since the proposal for a visit by Russian students to Canadian camps was rejected at the NFCUS Conference in September, most of the universities who voted in support of the plan have begun a campaign to have a new vote taken. The latest member to add to the hue and cry is Toronto, who originally vetoed the idea. McGill has yet to hear from NFCUS regarding its request for a new vote.

The University of New Brunswick was one of the six who gave an affirmative nod to the proposal at the Conference. Our representatives felt that the students on this campus were tolerant and broad-minded enough to agree. The time has come to add our strength to the campaign by a student vote. The more requests that can be sent, the stronger the case will be, and although this university stands "in favor", a campus-wide vote would add strength to this stand.

Our representatives have been elected by the students, and it is time to illustrate the faith we have in their decisions. For once, can't this campus shake off its lethargy to join in a fight which concerns it as well as the rest of Canada? Support the representatives YOU elected, and practice the tolerance you profess.

You Are Always Welcome At HERBY'S MUSIC STORE
306 Queen Street
FREDERICTON'S BRIGHT AND CHEERY MUSIC CENTRE

Advertisement for Sweet Caps Cigarettes featuring a woman in a dress and a pack of cigarettes. Text: 'Something extra special', 'SWEET CAPS WITH Cork Tips', 'CLEAN AND FIRM WITH AN EXTRA WIDE BAND OF SATIN SMOOTH GENUINE IMPORTED CORK. Mild and Fresh'.

A. M. & D.

By Anne Sansom

There is a question of great importance floating around the campus these days; every tongue is clacking about it, all are intensely interested in the problems it creates. In case there are still some few who have not yet become familiar with the discussion, it is best that I should inform them of it. The topic is this—should students go to university? The faculty, of course is interested in another aspect of the question—should students be allowed to attend university? It quite evident therefore, that this current topic is of great importance to the student bodies. Naturally there are two points

Attention, All Freshmen And Sophomores

Your COTC requires young men who are willing to devote one night a week and not less than twelve weeks of their summer vacation to training for a commission in the Canadian Army. The maximum employment during the summer is twenty weeks, not including travelling time to points as far away as Victoria B.C.

There is no more urgent need to-day than a reserve of young officers to command Canada's Army should the need arise.

Not only can one earn up to eight hundred dollars during the summer alone with travelling, clothing and board expenses paid, but there is no more striking advantage to COTC training than to be in a position to give the most effective aid possible should this country be forced to defend itself. On the Army alone rests the final decision as to whether Canada will stand or fall in a future conflict.

Are you unselfish enough to devote part of your time to this cause? If so, see the Resident Staff Officer at the COTC office, Hut K, or phone him at 5385.

of view on the subject. There may of course be more, but I have only encountered two in the discussions that I have happened to overhear. First of all, the students on the whole seem to be in favour of their attending university. Second, the faculty, for the most part, also seem to be in favour of the students attending university and being allowed to do so. It would seem then that this discussion would be pointless if the opposition were small to (a) students attending university, and (b) being allowed to do so.

However, we are living in what we claim is a democracy, where the minority rights must be protected as are those of the majority. With this in mind, I feel it my duty to present the case for those whose ideas have been sadly lost through the overabundance of those in favour of the projects (a) and (b).

There are of course some interesting problems resulting from this controversy, which must not be forgotten. If it were that students were (a) desirous of attending university, and were not permitted to do so; then the situation in existence would be one of complete disaster to our modern society. If students were (b) desirous of not attending university, but were permitted to do so, then the situation, it is plain to see, would be just as unbearable. Therefore, one of standardization of the solution of necessity must be of ideas. Students (a) wishing to attend university, should be allowed to do so, and (b) students not wishing to attend university, should be forbidden to enter an institution of higher education.

Before this standardization is effected, however, I feel it my duty as I said before, to present the opposing views of the argument. These views are held by scattered members of the faculty and of the student body, and I feel that they should be respected. "Students should not be allowed to attend university", is a harsh statement indeed. The cause behind it must be a very important one, and is in my opinion worthy in most respects. People are of the opinion that the student of today is a disgrace to his Alma Mater and is not worthy to claim her name. The students at present attending university do not drink to be true followers of the old student tradition—why some of them even attend lectures while sober—a disgrace to the institution. Secondly, they spend too much time on their studies nowadays, that they have no time to spare for activities around them. Those who do find some energy to expend, use it in participation in student activities on the campus, taking these—a very poor showing when they could be involved in riots, brawls and other such amusements which have been the life of the students of past generations; those which should grace the name of "university" and "college student".

These same debaters on the question are of the opinion that students who thus disgrace their Alma Mater should be forbidden to remain at college; and in order to assure that there will be no more such incidents, all students should be barred from the campus in case they too should leave a blot on the escutcheon of their university. It must be admitted that this argument is a good one in view of the fact that the seniors, S. R. C. etc. always know what is best for the student bodies as a whole. This fact has been true all through time and history, and it holds in this argument also. In spite of this some of the students who favour the latter mentioned argument taken events into their own hands and have acted on their beliefs . . . more power to them.

It should, however, be advisable for everyone to become familiar with both sides of the question, since it is so vital to all of us. It is the duty of everyone to help correct the situation if it demands correction, or on the other hand to leave it alone if events so require.

Turning to less important matters now, I find that U. R. P. will be or has been aired (according to the paper's release date) An inspector is still calling and it is still not too late to have a crack at the job of play reading. The Art Center is still where it was, or at least it was still there yesterday, ergo, there is good music to be had and the pleasant company of U. N. B.'s favourite painter.

The Film Club and the Camera Club have just about become extinct, which is perhaps just as well in view of the above mentioned discussion. Last of all, it has been suggested that the name of this column be changed to the more appropriate one of "Fiddle-foot". This is a good suggestion, and I feel that it demands consideration. However it is best not to be too drastically in a hurry to change things since there is a chance that none of us will be here next year. IT'S SUCH A BLOODY SHAME! (Ed's Note ? ? ? ? ?)

Wilbur and Gus . . . . . and the B of M

FOR expert advice on money matters call on . . . . . "MY BANK" TO A MILLION CANADIANS B of M

BANK OF MONTREAL Canada's First Bank

JOSEPH RIGGS, Manager Fredericton Branch.

WORKING WITH CANADIANS IN EVERY WALK OF LIFE SINCE 1817

EASY TO SELECT YOUR CHRISTMAS CARDS

Right HERE! Right NOW!

IN THE WIDE VARIETY OF DISTINCTIVE CARDS DISPLAYED ON OUR SECOND FLOOR

HALL'S BOOKSTORE EST. 1869

WRITE

Look Ma, I'm a . . . . . Up and down; over and over; one wave on top of another; the vessel with another wave of water, sending me against the gun . . . . . Limply his huge . . . . . there. The blood . . . . . from the gash on . . . . . then catching the . . . . . tumult, vomited . . . . . gushes, only to stop . . . . . Slowly he drew him . . . . . kneeling position a . . . . . stayed. His eyes li . . . . . into the very storm . . . . . him such misery, . . . . . cursed its being. . . . . For a brief second . . . . . shattered the gloom . . . . . young man's face. . . . . he told it was his fir . . . . . haggard look could . . . . . someone feeling the . . . . . sea for the first tim . . . . . eyes no longer spar . . . . . drooped, tired and . . . . . Sleep? It seemed a . . . . . possibility. . . . . The sickening ro . . . . . dive again for the . . . . . spilled forth his la . . . . . at food. Slowly he . . . . . into the shelter of . . . . . and wiped the sp . . . . . face. His cap had . . . . . fore in a previous . . . . . for the rail and r . . . . . tossed his blonde h . . . . . the waves. Color . . . . . drained from his c . . . . . to offset his na . . . . . features, so that, e . . . . . caked blood his fa . . . . . deathly pale. . . . . He looked down . . . . . feet which were no . . . . . support his two hu . . . . . Another roll sent . . . . . water spraying int . . . . . gulping him in a t . . . . . which oozed all ov . . . . . consciously his tee . . . . . he rubbed his h . . . . . seeking comfort. . . . . The top of his . . . . . dungarees hung lo . . . . . massive shoulders . . . . . forward in accomp . . . . . the discouraging . . . . . Across the water . . . . . were stains of . . . . . dashes for the sid . . . . . swallowed, choking . . . . . dreaded feeling. . . . . Peering into the . . . . . searched the deck . . . . . Wedged against t . . . . . found his soggy pa . . . . . med another tast . . . . . dough into his ob . . . . . It was all a vic

Advertisement for hair cream featuring a bottle of 'Vase Hair Cream'. Text: 'JUST I WA', 'NEW'.