

There's More To Buying A Car Than Price...Take For Example SERVICE

When shopping for a new car look farther than your pocketbook. Although there are many fine small cars on the market, some dealerships are not equipped to service their products, or don't want to. We know we can't build a business on one shot deals—we don't even want to try. We are small car specialists, equipped to service your new Mazda and believe courtesy goes on long after you have made your purchase. See us today!

Fastened safety belt is first step on vacation

This is a good time of year for motorists to review a few driving practices which will help assure that long auto trips are safe and enjoyable, says the Ontario Motor League.

Safety experts all agree that the first point in any list must be to fasten seat belts snugly before starting. The second point is the reminder to adjust the seat and mirrors to the driver's comfort and precheck the "feel" of the brakes and steering — and repeat this process for each "new" driver during the trip.

Once on the road, keep pace with the rest of the traffic and teach yourself to anticipate stops and slowdowns by observing traffic two or more cars ahead.

Keep at least one car length of space between your own car and the one ahead for every ten miles per hour of speed. As you drive, learn to spot "outs" — places to steer toward if you get into trouble.

When you slow down with traffic behind you, pump your brakes several times. The flashing tail lights will warn other drivers that you are slowing.

At night, dim dashboard lights to make it easier to notice light signals given by cars ahead.

When passing another car, wait before cutting back into the traffic lane until you can see all of the vehicle you have passed in your rear-view mirror.

In rainy weather, remember that on multi-lane roads, the cruising lanes are likely to be more slippery than the passing lanes because of more accumulated oil spatter.

If your windshield is dirty, so are your headlights. Ask the service station attendant, who cleans the windshield, to also clean the headlights.

An important point too, is that driving efficiency is exhausted after a few hours behind the wheel. On longer trips, ask other persons to share the driving and plan for all drivers to take a walking break every couple of hours.

Finally, in the rush to vacation areas, never hesitate to yield the right of way, especially if the other driver appears to be less efficient or cautious.

Lakeshore Study co-ordinator

Mississauga town manager Dean Henderson has been named co-ordinator of the Lakeshore Community Study discussions scheduled for September.

The meetings will bring town planners, developers and area ratepayers face to face for the first time to discuss the controversial study.

Henderson will be responsible for arranging mutually suitable times and places for sessions and setting down guidelines to keep the discussions within relevant bounds.
