of love which spans about our life and enfolds us and enwraps us whether we know it or not. Oh, my dear, dear daughter, if I may call you so now, thank God for the capacity for love He has put into your heart, for I think the day will come when it will be by some such capacity as that, that we ourselves shall be judged."

amaris tears,

there when y how dream again spare bught

It all."
nor
He are hich of this

shall

this that ove. in the

it rst. is

ity