The HOME CIRCLE

A MERRY-GO-ROUND. (Tudor Jenks' in the August Century.)

G. Whillikins was a writer bold Who never lost a chance; While good at many sorts of work, His best hold was romance.

Once more G. Whillikins set out. With economic lore and moral, He soaked his very being full— It oozed from every pore.

G. Whillikins did some thinking. And thought this time he'd wait, Until the wheel had made its turn, Instead of chasing Fate.

HOME DRESSMAKING Is often anything but a pleasure. All the more if one does not take an interest in designing—you never know how many pretty, inexpensive dresses you can have until you make your own dresses.

THE EFFICACY OF LEMON JUICE The discovery that lemon juice is an absolute effective preventive of typhoid infection is announced by reputable medical men with a positiveness that leaves but little room for doubt.

THEY ARE CAREFULLY PREPARED.—Pills which dissipate themselves in the stomach cannot be expected to have much effect upon the intestines, and to overcome constiveness the medicine administered must influence the actions of these canals.

THE BUILDING OF THE NEST. They'll come again to the apple tree, Robin and the rest,

When the orchard branches are fair to see In the snow of the blossoms dress; And the prettiest thing in the world will be The building of the nest.

Weaving it well, so round and trim, Hollowing it with care; Nothing too far away for him, Nothing for her too fair— Hanging it safe on the topmost limb, Their castle in the air.

Ab, mother bird, you'll have weary days When the eggs are under your breast, And shadows may darken the dancing rays

When the fledglings leave the nest, But they'll find their wings in a glad amaze, And God will see to the rest.

So come to the trees with all your train When the apple blossoms blow, Through the April shimmer of sun and rain

Go flying to and fro; And sing to our hearts as we watch again Your fairy building crew. —Margaret E. Sangster.

DAISY AND GREENY GRASS-HOPPER. (By George H. Archibald.) Daisy Kinheart had lots of friends.

One day Daisy Kinheart saw something creeping slowly towards her, and she could not make out what it was.

OUTDOOR SPORTS FOR GIRLS. Comfortably clad you can enjoy mountain-climbing or any sport out of doors.

RACE SUICIDE. Margaret Bisland, whose name is not unknown to magazine readers, discusses some aspects of "race suicide" in the July North American Review.

With this, Greeny Grasshopper took one big, long jump, and landed right among the clover-leaves. He made Daisy shake all over when he jumped, but she soon straightened herself up, and when she saw him having a lovely breakfast, she said to herself, "I am glad I did it."

ETIQUETTE ON DINING OUT. The host or the servants should indicate their seats to the various guests as they enter the dining-room, if the names are not already affixed.

SLIPPERS MADE OF PAPER. Some of the European hotels are introducing a novelty by furnishing each guest on his arrival with a pair of paper slippers.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD CANARD. Here is a newspaper derivation of the word "canard." A canard means in French, a duck; in English it has come to mean a hoax or fabricated newspaper story.

glad I did it. What a funny little fellow he is! Just then Father Sun came from behind the clouds, and when he saw what Daisy had done, he kissed her cheek, and told her that he loved her more than ever, and that made Daisy Kinheart smile.

When the waitress comes to your table, and she is careful not to press at the edge of the dish, or you may upset it. It is not customary to take a second helping of any dish, as by so doing you may delay the whole table.

When the dishes of vegetables, or entrees, are brought for you to assist yourself, take the spoon in your right hand and the fork in your left, and then be careful not to press at the edge of the dish, or you may upset it.

Should an accident, by any chance, occur, always treat it lightly at the table. Apologize freely afterwards to the lady in the drawing-room; but simply express your regret to the injured one in few words at table.

Always on the alert for the approach of the waitress on either side, and avoid turning suddenly to speak to your neighbor lest you should inadvertently cause an upset.

When carving is done at table the host will probably inquire whether the guest has a preference for any portion of the joint. It is not etiquette to make any marked selection beyond saying if you wish underdone or well-done portion.

These paper slippers are so cheap that new ones can be furnished to each guest. An attempt is being made also to introduce them in hospitals, and public institutions, as they would add much to cleanliness, and form another preventive of contagion, since each pair could be thrown away or destroyed as soon as the wearer has done with them.

The Prophecy of Malachi. A correspondent supplies an interesting survey of the famous "Prophecy of St. Malachi."

Untrue Stories of the Conclave. London, Aug. 7.—The Times correspondent at Rome says: There is no ground for the old "misconception" fostered chiefly by the continental press, concerning the conduct of the Sacred College before and during the deliberations.

Mr. John O'Connor. DEAR SIR—I do heartily recommend your Benedictine Salve as a sure cure for rheumatism, as I was sorely afflicted with that sad disease in my arm, and it was so bad that I could not dress myself.

DEAR SIR—It gives me the greatest pleasure to be able to testify the curative powers of your Benedictine Salve. For a month back my hand was so badly swollen that I was unable to work, and the pain was so intense as to be almost unbearable.

DEAR SIR—Your Benedictine Salve cured me of rheumatism in my arm, which entirely disabled me from work, in three days, and I was completely cured. I suffered greatly from piles for many months and was completely cured by one box of Benedictine Salve.

DEAR SIR—It is with pleasure I write this unsolicited testimonial, and in doing so I can say to the world that your Benedictine Salve thoroughly cured me of Bleeding Piles. I suffered for nine months.

DEAR SIR—After suffering for over ten years with both forms of Piles, I was asked to try Benedictine Salve. From the first application I got instant relief, and before using one box was thoroughly cured.

DEAR SIR—It is with pleasure I write this word of testimony to the marvellous merits of Benedictine Salve as a certain cure for Rheumatism. There is such a multitude of alleged Rheumatic cures advertised that one is inclined to be skeptical of the merits of any new preparation.
