

the heavenly spirits, nevertheless he obeyed with truest humility.

He followed in the footsteps of Our Lady, who advanced as if clothed in ravishing glory, but with an expression of sweetest majesty. On the way our Blessed

Lady spoke familiarly with the priest, she told him of the admirable virtues of the dying girl, of the perfection with which for a number of years, she had served her Divine Son ; she entertained him with numerous instances of her devotion to the mother of Jesus, and the thousand
