EARLY AUTUMN.

The country lanes are bright with bloom, And gentle airs come stealing through,

Laden with native wild perfume Of balm and mint and honey dew, And o'er the summer's radiant flush Lies early autumn's dreamy hush.

In wayside nooks the asters gleam, And frost flowers dance above the sod,

While, lapsing by, the silent stream Reflects the hue of golden rod, That flower which lights a dusky day With something of the sun god's ray.

The grapevine claspers o'er the hedge In golden festoons; sumacs burn Like torches on the distant ledge, Or light the lanes at every turn, And ivy riots everywhere

In blood-red banners on the air. A purple mist of fragrant mint Borders the fences, drifting out Of fostering corners, and its tint, As half of cheer and half of doubt, Is like the dear, delightful haze Which robes the hills these autumn days.

And strange, wild growths are newly met; Like some old jewel well re-set, Take on a worth unseen before, As dock, in spring a graceless weed, Is brilliant in its autumn seed.

The cricket and the katydid Pipe low their sad, prophetic tune. Though air pulses warm the leaves amid, As played around the heart of June, Low minor strains break on the heart, Foretelling age as years depart.

The sweet old story of the year Is spinning onward to its close, Yet sounds as welcome on the ear As in the time of opening rose. May life for all as sweetly wane As comes the autumn time again.

Harper's Bazar.

BROCKVILLE CHEESE BOARD.
The meeting was poorly attended. The offerings were 415 boxes white and 1,710 colored, making a total of 2,125 boxes. The cable showed a slight advance at 53s for white and 54s for colored.

The buyers showed an inclination to keep the prices down, although the general market was reported firm. The bidding started at 10½c and was advanced 10½c by Mr. Bissell. The auctioneer would not entertain this bid. He held that Brockville's was worth 11½c, taking into consideration the prices obtained at other boards in Ontario and Quebec within the past week. He intimated that unless the buyers approached nearer the mark the salesmen would hold for another week. He accused the buyers of acting unfairly. Last week they paid 11c at Brockville and the next day went to Perth and Kemptonville and paid 11½c. He considered that the Brockville Board had been made a lever for other places long enough and the salesmen had decided not to be uncoined any longer. All they wanted was what the cheese was worth. The make at the present time was the finest of the season. The weather was reasonably cool while the grass was never better since last May. The buyers had no kick coming about the quality of the cheese.

Mr. Everts spoke in a similar strain and roundly scored the men around the table for dealing shabbily with the salesman.

On the next call for bids the price was advanced to 11c and later on to 11½c. While it was not the figure they wanted many accepted. Bissell getting 85 white and 340 colored; McGregor 90 white, 315 colored; Webster 255 colored; Dickey 40 colored; Earl 25 white, 35 colored.

Mr. McGregor complained that the cheese was being shipped without being properly cured.

The auctioneer coincided with this statement and advised manufacturers to put stoves in their factories at once for the purpose of remedying this complaint.

It was announced that the fall and winter time bill on the B. & W. Railway would come into effect on Monday, 22nd inst.

Rev. Dr. Williams reports that $104,000 has been paid on the total debt of the St. James church, Montreal, and that the remaining unpaid debt is $518,000.

INSTITUTE MEETINGS.

In speaking of the Farmers' Institutes of Ontario, the Weekly Sun says: "It is impossible to overestimate the value of the work performed by these institutes in the last few years. It is largely due to this work that our exports of bacon have well high trebled in four years, and that Canada today stands well up with Denmark and Ireland in supplying the best class of bacon to the English market."

Educational work along the bacon line has now been pretty well perfected, and it is the intention of Superintendent Creelman to this year make poultry production and cold storage two of the leading features of discussion, at Institute meetings. Already considerable progress has been made in the poultry industry in Canada, and more particularly in Ontario. The exports of the Dominion to the Old Country have increased in a short time from $18,000 to about a half million dollars. This is, however, but an indication of what may be accomplished along similar lines, and it will be one of the principal objects of the season's meetings to show how poultry can be bred and fed to the best advantage, and how it should be prepared to command the best price both in the local and Old Country market.

With this end in view, Mr. Creelman has already sent to Messrs. Peart, Elliott, McNeill, Raynor, Glendinning, Anderson and other institute speakers, all the information available, gathered from Canadian and American sources, as to the best methods of handling the poultry industry. Further information along these lines, of a thoroughly practical nature, will be secured by the institute speakers at the Provincial Winter Fair and this information will be disseminated through the institutes during the present campaign.

Cold storage is an essential part of the poultry industry and of all other industries which have to do with the perishable productions of the farm.

During the past summer Mr. Creelman has personally visited most of the Institute speakers, and has informed himself by personal investigation of the special features in farming in most of the different sections of Ontario. As a result of this action, and of the special features above enumerated, there is no doubt that this year's institute campaign will be one of the most useful ever inaugurated in the Province.

James Loucks, Yonge Front, says: "I know that I saved fully 25 per cent by feeding cooked roots to my pigs last fall."

Wm. Byers, Prescott road, says: "I fed sixty pigs last fall on cooked roots and saved my bacon; although prices were low, I made some money on them. The only trouble was the Cooker was too small (40 gal.)—had to cook several batches a day."

Israel Stevens, Delta, says: "The Economic Feed Cooker is a grand thing, but the 40 gallon size is too small for to feed a large herd of pigs."

In order to meet the demand for the large size, I have procured patterns and am prepared to furnish them to order up to 100 gals. These Cookers are made with grate-bars and ash-pit below. The fire-box can be lined with brick, ensuring safety and economy of fuel. I also make the No. 40, same as last season.
