Question: What is pure paint?
Answer: 70% pure white lead, 30% pure white zinc, equal 100% pure paint.

Why?

Because white lead and white zinc, mixed in these proportions, produce a paint that resists the elements better than that made by any other formula. Scientific tests and practical experience extending over many years absolutely prove this to be so, and that is why is made by this formula. It is pure paint in the truest sense of the word. A mixture of 10% white lead and 90% white zinc might be called "pure paint" but the expression would be misleading, because the compound would not fulfil all the requirements of a first-class exterior paint.

B-H "English" Paint is pure paint that works easily, penetrates deeply, spreads well, holds its color and lasts years longer than ordinary kinds.

You can get genuine B-H "English" Paint from Queen Mary's Needlework Guild.

The Guild was founded in London on the outbreak of the war by Her Majesty, the Queen, with the object of collecting garments and useful articles for distribution by Her Majesty to the soldiers and sailors, and to the refugees and civilian population to whom suffering and want is brought by the most terrible war.

An appeal was made in the British Press to the Women of the Empire for co-operation and support in the work that was proposed.

Her Majesty to form a Branch of Queen Mary's Needlework Guild in Canada.

As this is intended as a war emergency Guild only, it was thought to be desirable that extensive organization should be entered into; no hard and fast rules were laid down, and where new Provincial Branches are formed, it is advised that each Branch should make its own rules to suit the circumstances in the respective districts, and that collections of donations should be forwarded once or twice a month to the Guild Headquarters, 116 Windsor Street, Montreal, for shipment to London.

Regular sewing meetings are not held, the main thing is to have a central point, where anyone wishing to contribute to the Queen's work may leave a donation, have it acknowledged and then forwarded to Montreal.

In the working of the Guild, Her Majesty's chief aim has always been to meet the greatest need and to avoid overlapping in the distribution of the various articles, so that the donations are used to the best possible advantage. Her Majesty personally inspects and supervises the work, and is kept informed as to where the things are most needed.

To give an idea as to where the donations ultimately go, the following may be mentioned: various regiments; hospitals of the Allies, many things went to the wounded around Ver un, Meopotamia, Russia, Italy, the Queen of the Belgians' Hospital; prisoners of war, clearing stations; Navy League; trawler men; Princess Louise's Fund for sick swimmers; Soldiers' Club; etc.

Gracious messages of thanks and appreciation are sent to her loyal supporters in Canada by Her Majesty the Queen, who is always most interested to know the source of the many contributions to her work.

The badge of the Canadian Branch is a small brooch in the form of a shield, with a royal blue cross on a white ground and the initials of the Guild. These Badges cost 25c each.

During the summer of 1915 the Monte L ladies heard so often that what the Canadians at the Front were most in need of was Home News; though newspapers were posted, in very many cases they did not reach the men at the front.

One soldier from western Canada writes from England to a friend in Montreal: April 28th, 1916—I have seen a copy of 'The Soldiers' Gazette' in the hospital here, and I think it is the best thing I've seen yet. I got more news from it than I have heard in the last year.

Numerous letters of praise, appreciation and gratitude have been received from both officers and men, all of whom eagerly looked forward to receiving the paper.

Besides the general and Montreal news, 'The Soldiers' Gazette' includes the most important items taken from the newspapers of the various Provinces throughout the Dominion. These Provincial papers are a special feature of this little paper, and add considerably to the cost of production as new type has to be set up for them. On this account subscriptions from friends in the Provinces are especially welcome. More troops are going every week, and a greater number of copies ought to be sent, but this can only be done by the voluntary co-operation of the public throughout the Dominion.

Be Canadians.

The national and business men who have inaugurated a movement to promote a more cordial relationship between the people of Ontario and Quebec provinces are doing more good service for Canada than those who are busy with their own narrow provincial, religious, fanatical and journalistic views.

Distribution of Seed, Grain and Potatoes from the Dominion Experimental Farms, 1916-1917.

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs.), white oats (about 4 lbs.), and field peas (about 5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes in sample of about 3 lbs. will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Q. B. All samples will be sent free by mail.

Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early. Requests received after the end of December will probably be too late.

Anyone desiring a sample should write (post free) to the Dominion Cereal, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for an application blank.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S CATARRH POWDER 25c.

It is not good to discontinue the use of this powder in the treatment of catarrh of the bladder, urethra, etc., as it is a powerful antiseptic and disinfectant, and it is the only powder that will cure the disease.

The Steel Passenger Car.

When the steel passenger car was introduced into American railway systems, the immediate objection was to diminish loss of life in collisions. The replacement of equipment will have cost the railways approximately $50,000,000 and incidentally has considerably increased the cost of operation, as heavier locomotives are required to haul the trains.

The President of the Chicago & Great Western Railway says: "These heavier locomotives, with heavy steel equipment behind them, running at high speed, in case of accident become more destructive than any of the trains in the days of the wooden cars; in fact, we have records of the complete destruction of steel passenger cars that would be impossible to build of wood."

The substitution of steel for wood in cars has also dealt a serious blow to the lumber industries of the Pacific Northwest and has increased the danger of forest fires. Car material provides a market for the common grades of lumber, and the elimination of this market has meant a large portion of waste left in the woods. Waste left in the woods means increased forest fire hazard, and greater difficulty in clearing land for agricultural development, so that in the opinion of the Pacific Coast lumbermen the cost to Uncle Sam has been much more than $50,000,000—indeed it would be more like a billion dollars—all of which has ultimately to be paid by the public.

Value of Clean Living.

Researches into family histories have shown in a very striking way the value of a good, clean ancestry. This it is which has caused eugenists to call attention to the urgent need of dealing comprehensively with the problem of the feeble minded. For wherever this respect and added greatly to the extension of criminality and immorality. The value of being well born is beyond compare, and it comes to a duty of parents to assure it for their children. Among the families whose records have been minutely and carefully traced two stand out in instructive contrast.

In 1743, according to the records of the eugenist, a woman was born named Ada Take. True to her name she took everything there was to be had in the way of liberties and licenses. She died a confirmed drunkard, and altogether she had 7-9 descendants. Among them were 100 children born out of wedlock, 181 women of immoral life, 142 beggars, 46 workhouse inmates and 76 criminals. It has been estimated that this woman cost the country $1,200,000.

By way of contrast, the Ladies' Home Journal tells of an Englishman, born in Queen Elizabeth's time, a yeoman with a good wife. In the year 1900 there had been 1,394 descendants of this family traced and identified. Of them, 205 were college graduates, 13 college presidents, 65 clergymen, 101 lawyers, 33 judges (one a vice-president of the United States) 75 army and navy officers, 60 prominent authors, and 16 railroad and steamship presidents.

Nothing could show more clearly the importance of good birth, not only to the family, but to the State. If all cases of defective heredity could be eliminated, social problems would be more easily and effectively solved. The great personal lesson in that it pays to live a clean life, if parents have the good of their children at heart.

Kidney Disease Overcome.

Mr. James Prange, cattle dealer, Shilo, Sask., writes: "For about ten years I suffered from kidney disease, at times I was bad with backache, and derangements of the digestive organs. During that time I was treated by four different doctors. One day I read in Dr. Chase's Almanac about the Kidney-Liver Pills and began to use them. Altogether I used six boxes. All I need to say is that I feel well now and attribute this condition to the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills."

"I always aim to tell the truth," remarked the man, who talks twice and thinks once. "Yes," replied his friend, "but you remind me of a woman in that respect." "How's that?" queried the party of the pretense. "You seldom hit what you aim at," was the reply.

Indigestion Resulted From Bad Case of Inactive Liver

Experience Proved That Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills Were Exactly What Was Needed.

Pointed Paragraphs.

If you would please a woman, don't talk—listen. However, it is far better to grin than to groan. The youth who courts a tall girl has high ambitions. People who think before they speak seldom say much. If the smile won't come off it soon becomes monotonous. The sap has stopped oozing from the crop of spring poets. It's surprising how smart a boy can be—when his mother tells it. A loss of dollars sometimes brings the spendthrift to his senses. How we dislike people who are always dramatizing their troubles. A successful black-mith can either shoe a horse or make a horseshoe. A girl likes a young man who is different from one who is indifferent. A woman may accept any old excuse—if a nice present goes with it. When a woman is harboring a brainstorm it is a man's cue to say nothing. Few men have sufficient confidence in their own veracity to believe all they say. But perhaps there are a few small boys who would object to being kidnapped to the circus. More than 100 diseases may be caught by kissing; says an eastern physician, and it will be just our luck to die from something else.

The Phylotype.

This is an English invention for making pictures by impression of leaves, ferns, lac, feathers and various other objects. It depends upon the chemical action of a fine powder. The object of which a representation is to be made is placed upon white paper and pressed, either by the hand or by other means. When the object is removed an impression is visible on the paper, but upon sprinkling the powder over the paper the picture at once appears, sharply defined, and remains permanent. Sections of wood and designs of coin and medals can thus be represented, and the prints can be transferred to lithographic stone, zinc, or aluminium thus producing records from which any number of copies can be taken—Chicago Record-Herald.

"What did you say, George?" "He said it was too hot to talk to someone." "But did he know that you wanted to marry me?" "I think he did." "And didn't he encourage you to proceed?" "Yes, he held the door open to me."

The number of Jews in the British army has, from the beginning, been above the proportion of the Jewish population, and that remarkable race has now one Brigadier-General to its credit, namely, General John Monash, who is also reported to be the first member of his race to receive the Order of the Bath.
