DUNDURD PARK AND CASTLE.

(J. Pottinger.)

Come with me and I will show you Dundurds Castle by the bay; I will tell you of its owners. From the Crown to present day.

Richard Beasley first to buy it. From the Crown long years ago. And our best material for this purpose is our manufacturing concerns. To annoy our extensive laboring-citizens, on the water front, we will be the cause of our own undoing. To press now in the direction of placing a greater burden on the factories would be unprofitable for the factory owners.

If we have discriminated in favor of the manufacturer, let us continue to do so for the present. It will be a mistake to attempt to shift responsibility now. Let the charge for baths and closets and for street lighting be cut. This is a simple remedy which will give general satisfaction and not raise very serious opposition. According to a published record, there are 15,000 buildings in the city, with 8,500 baths. It would be better if there was a bath in every dwelling. The bath should be encouraged. Abundance of water taken inside and out would greatly improve public health and reduce crime. Let us have free baths in every home. Let our children be taught the need of a clean body and a pure mind. Let this take the place of the dogma of total depravity and the Baptists' font.

Smallpox, with every other kind of pox, physical and mental deformity, including diseases unmentionable, will disappear when the realm of clean living is everywhere in practice.

Just another word on the water rates. A workman's house valued at $900 (tax assessment) without bath or closet, pays 50c per month for water for all purposes—the wash tub may be used freely. This charge is not unreasonable. The more wealthy can afford to pay no rate.

That the water system is made to contribute to our general revenue, cannot be objected to on line of financial principle. The wise diplomat never distributes conditions unnecessarily when he is carrying out a constructive policy. Harmony is the law of construction. The committee on power should remember this fact.

True progress corrects every ill in due time. We are a corporation. Let the co-operative spirit control. Let us not disturb but encourage the manufacturer. True economy is not penny wise and pound foolish.

I am for broader principles.
