

A Plea for the Sparrows.

When winter's storms are past, and the new birds... I have seen a sparrow... I have seen a sparrow... I have seen a sparrow...

Goderich Township

PERSONAL.—John Sheppard, for the last five years a resident of the Northwest, is visiting friends and relatives in the township. He speaks highly of the Northwest.

FROZEN.—What might have been a serious case of freezing and possible annihilation occurred on Friday last. Peter Steep bought some stock at a sale near Clinton on Thursday last. He stepped into a watering place on the roadside, getting one foot wet. With the thermometer some fifteen degrees below zero the frozen foot began to bite and a portion of one foot was severely frozen.

HONOR BURIED.—Wm. Townsend, of the Bayfield con., had the misfortune on Friday afternoon last to have his house and nearly all the contents destroyed by fire. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective chimney. The structure was made of cedar logs. During the progress of the fire one of Mr. Townsend's sons, in endeavoring to save what he could, was nearly caught by the leaping flames and falling roof. His escape was narrow. We understand there was no insurance. The loss will be considerable.

Aburn.

The choir of the Methodist church intending an entertainment next Friday evening, in the church.

The meeting of the Bible Society was well attended on Monday evening. Rev. Mr. McCosh gave a splendid address.

As two of our residents were returning from Goderich on Saturday, they met a runaway team near Joe. Towsley's, which they succeeded in stopping. The owner coming up he proved to be Mr. O'Connor who died the next day at Port Albert from exposure. He appeared to be quite sober at the time.

The meeting held in the hall on Friday evening was fairly attended. Mr. Jas. Young acted as chairman. The programme, besides the lecture, included several readings, pieces of music, and a dialogue. The lecturer Mr. T. McGillivuddy, took as his subject, "Temperance," and treated it in a very able manner, touching on the various evils resulting from the use of intoxicating liquor. He paid a neat compliment to his audience, by remarking at the close, that he never addressed a more orderly meeting.

On Tuesday evening a stranger visiting our village would at once conclude that something unusual was going on, judging from the large numbers of people moving about. The crowd turned out to attend the annual tea-meeting of the Presbyterian Church. Tea was served in the hall from 5 to 7 and the waiters had their hands full during that time attending to the hungry throng. The exercises in the church commenced about 7:30, Rev. J. Pritchard presiding. The building was filled to overflowing. A long programme was successfully carried out, the speakers being Revs. J. Hillyard and A. E. Smith, representing Aburn, and Revs. J. Gray, Clinton, and J. D. E. May, Goderich. The foreigners all gave splendid addresses. Mr. Gracey of Blyth, gave three readings, which were well received. Prof. Jones and daughter of Seaford, supplied the music, which was highly appreciated by all. Proceeds $75. A social was held on Wednesday evening.

Abfield.

Horace Greeley promised to espouse woman's rights when a female brought her ship round Cape Horn safely home. Mrs. Capt. Patton, of Maine, did it while her husband was prostrated with disease.

Dunlop.

Miss Georgina McPhail and Miss Janet McDonald, of Porter's Hill, were the guests of Mrs. Allen this week.

James Clarke, whose shoulder was dislocated through a runaway accident, is doing nicely.

TWO PATIENTS.—A. C. Macdonald has been laid up by an attack of illness, but the ministrations of the sick committee have helped to bring him on the mend. Their powerful lions were also successful in imparting locomotion to Martin Finland, who had sprained his leg by a fall last week.

Port Albert.

SAD DEATH.—We regret to record this week the death of Edward O'Connor, which occurred here on Sunday last. Deceased, who was a builder, had been to Manchester the day before for a load of brick to build a chimney for a house which he had contracted to erect this spring. The evening was intensely cold, and it is surmised that he started for a drowsy sleep, from which he never gained consciousness. He was buried on Tuesday last. Deceased was an intelligent young man and a good tradesman. His loss will be keenly felt by his widowed mother, his sister and brothers, and a large circle of sorrowing friends.

Leaburn.

John Stewart has been whiling away some of the winter hours by fishing in the lake. He has already captured some fine fish, one salmon trout weighing 20 pounds.

The first "quilling bee" for 1884 was held last week, and now a popular bachelorette who lives north of the churches steps under an extra corset. The girls thought he ought not to remain a bachelor long after this.

FAREWELL.—A gathering of young folks took place at the residence of the Hall family one day last week, by way of a good bye party. The boys are going to Muskoka, and the gathering was a sort of send off before they left for the lakes and hills of the north. A good time was had by all present.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—A few days ago, while C. Jefferson and W. Fraser were sawing wood with a long saw, a large stub fell between them diving the saw into two parts. The men had a close shave, but neither were injured in the slightest degree. Later in the day, while making a wooden wedge, Fraser cut his hand badly by the axe slipping. Medical assistance was required to dress the wound.

Sabbath School Convention.

On Tuesday, Feb. 20th, 1884, the annual S. S. convention of the Duncannon Circuit, Methodist Church of Canada, was held at the Nile.

At 10:30 a.m. the pastor of the church took the chair, and the exercises commenced with singing S. S. hymns. The verbal reports in regard to the state of the schools represented were first given and were deemed satisfactory. The secretary of the Duncannon school reported a membership of 95, average attendance 68; the secretary of the Nile school, scholars 106, average attendance 44.

The advisability of taking our own excellent S. S. papers was urged by Bro. McLean and others.

Several subjects considered to be of great importance in regard to S. S. work were taken up and ably discussed. The experience was S. S. workers in the practical work of the school was forcibly introduced by Bro. Hetherington, and excellent remarks were made by Brethren J. Eohlin and J. McLean. Bro. J. Pentland next introduced an enquiry as to the object aimed at, and the kind of position was that of S. S. workers. He properly said that God's glory and usage of salvation were the great objects, and Bro. Caswell thought that clear, earnest, affectionate teaching would secure these, with God's blessing.

Bro. J. Tiffin next called attention to the spiritual welfare of the members of the convention who were present. He said that he has no other training at home, benefits the teachers, the church, and community at large. Good points on this subject were made by others.

Time of adjournment having arrived the spirit of the members of the convention were kindly spoken by Brethren James Dastoe and J. Cantelon. Afternoon session opened at 1:30 with devotional exercises.

The next subject, How to promote temperance principles in the school, was ably introduced by Bro. Eohlin. He said that the S. S. teachers should be total abstinents, and should impress the minds of the scholars with the magnitude and awful character of intemperance, and that churches and S. S. schools should do their utmost, irrespective of party, to have men in the high places of government, who would look against the evil. Forceful remarks on this fruitful theme from Brethren Tiffin, Hetherington, Baile, Cantelon and Morris made its discussion very interesting. Next in order came the question, introduced efficiently by Bro. McLean, How to increase the spirituality and efficiency of our S. S. organization. Excellent remarks were thrown out on this important enquiry, that it is hoped will have a good practical effect through the year.

Bro. Sanderson then in well put remarks called attention to the best way to be taken by the teacher to prepare the lesson. Remarks were made that we trust will bear good fruit.

The chairman next treated on the question: How to increase the attendance at the schools, and the best way to win their attention when there. Several plans were proposed considered judicious and practical.

Excellent addresses were given to the children by Brethren Hetherington, McLean and Bridges.

Evening session opened at 7 with devotional exercises, and reading of minutes.

Bro. J. Eohlin then introduced a vital subject: The claims of the S. S. upon the senior scholars. He said they should set a good example, be ready to ready to answer questions readily and correctly, &c. Bro. Hetherington thought they had much to learn after they grew up; and that the S. S. should look to them for its teachers. Bro. McLean thought that gratitude for past services gratuitously rendered them should bind them to the school.

The next subject was: The responsibility laid upon teachers to do their best in their great work. Admirable remarks were made on this subject by Bro. John Dastoe and W. Baile.

Bro. McLean then spoke well on The encouragement teachers have to labor faithfully in this great work. Faithful service is certain of a rich reward.

The chairman then brought before the convention the question of How shall parents be brought to feel a proper interest in S. S. work. He said the question implied that as a whole they did not, but that they ought to; and that something needed to be done to set them interested. He suggested that parents be invited to attend the school. To so interest and benefit the children, that parents would notice it. To get them to pray for a blessing on their children when at school, and to give liberally for its support.

It was then resolved that a convention be held at the school on the 10th inst. The choir of the church was in attendance and greatly aided the work by their beautiful voices splendidly sang.

The convention was pronounced a success, and much good is anticipated as the result of its noble work. —[Com.]

Strange Birds.

DEAR SIR,—During last week a flock of very handsome birds, altogether new to this locality, came and lodged for quite a time on a mountain ash near my house. Their plumage was most beautiful—bright scarlet heads and heads, exceedingly plump in build, and in many respects resembling the English bullfinch. As they are a most welcome and interesting addition to our sooty feathered tribe, perhaps some of your readers could tell what they are. J. J. W. The Point Farm, March 4, 1884.

Crippling the McCarthy Act.

In order to still further nullify the Dominion license law the Provincial government, it is understood, will introduce a bill to regulate the fees to be paid for any license taken out under the Dominion law.

That law (McCarthy bill) expressly declares that on any license issued under the Provincial legislature may impose a tax or fee for Provincial or municipal purposes (see 92 B. N. A. act); and the same McCarthy law also provides that the person entitled to license under it must first show that he has paid any such fee that the Provincial legislature may have seen fit to impose; the Provincial legislature will therefore be asked to enact that the fees on licenses issued under the said Dominion license law shall be:

- On tavern, saloon or shop licenses in cities..... $300
On tavern, saloon or shop licenses in villages..... 150
On each townships..... 120
On each wholesale license..... 250
On cash vessel..... 250
Each transfer..... 20

While the Province fixes the duties, it does so without prejudice in its content that the right to legislate in respect of these licenses is conferred upon the Provincial legislatures exclusively. But for fear that the Dominion law may be held to be valid this precautionary measure is taken.

It is also the intention of the government to increase the fees for licenses taken out under the Provincial law, though it is not likely that they will be much more than half of the above figures.
