THE PRESBYTERIANS.

THE RELATION OF THIS DENOMINATION TO THE REPUBLIC.

Portraits of Dr. Smith, the Retiring Moderator, and Dr. Thompson, the Newly Elected Moderator—Academy of Music and Horticultural Hall, Philadelphia.

The one hundredth session of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in America, recently convened in Philadelphia, proved to be an occasion of even more interest than was expected, quite rivaling that historic assembly of the same place in 1870, which did much toward the reunion of the Old School and the New.

The first general assembly of the Presbyterian church in America, consolidating the old side with the new side, was held a year after the election of the Union into a federal Union by the adoption of the Constitution.

And it is certainly no disparagement of any other denomination to add that the Presbyterian church was and is peculiarly suited to America, for though individual ministers and writers of the church have at various times held other views, yet the church as a whole has maintained that the brethren in each country have a Christian liberty to adopt that form of church polity which is best suited to their situation, and that the presbyterian form is only best for Great Britain and America because it both requires and cultivates a general exercise of personal intelligence.

Every communicant is made to feel that he or she is a constituent of, and to that extent responsible for the make up of the session, the presbytery, the synod and the general assembly. Even the austere Richard Baxter, whose conscience would not allow him to "conform" in 1670-80, and who is so little understood by the present generation that his name is sometimes used as a representative of bigotry, was so liberal that he advocated the recall of Charles II, was made a court chaplain and offered a bishopric by that monarch.

It labored long to establish mutual toleration between the sects. He freely conceded that monarchy was then the best for England, and so an established prelate was not in itself a wrong, he only claimed a like toleration for those who preferred a presbyterian form, and that the civil polity of a Christian body should be so flexible that it could grow and develop with the development of the state.

It is also worth noting that the establishment and growth of the Presbyterian church in a colony was always coincident with the liberal ideas of the government, and so it is quite a natural coincidence that the new government and the new church organization came to full growth together. As one historian has justly said: "The American Revolution was always a good deal of 'E Pluribus Unum' about the church government, as its gradations from local sessions through presbytery and synod up to general assembly harmonized admirably with the American system of township, county, state and nation, so many units of one order making one of the next higher order, with general laws for all and local self government."

Even the schism of 1857, complete and far reaching as it was, had some curious liberal features. It was a division upon methods and measures in which each party held to its respective standards, and never was union more hearty and complete than when the two bodies came together. Any man who will compare the original Westminster Confession of Faith with the revision adopted by the general assembly of 1788 will see that the men who took the lead in this assembly were keenly alive to what was going on in America; that they had read the debates of the convention of 1787; pretty clearly, and that they stepped upon the full meaning of the new constitution and foresaw its future effects in securing religious liberty. They carefully struck out every word or sentence which might be construed as to give the civil government any power over differences in religious opinion, and after providing for synods and assemblies under call of church authority, added these words: "It is the duty of civil magistrates to protect the person and good name of all their people, in such an effectual manner as that no person be suffered, either upon pretense of religion or indelicacy, to offer any indignity, violence, abuse or injury to any other person whatsoever, and to take order that all religious and ecclesiastical assemblies be held without molestation or disturbance." And that is the sound American law today, as ever since the adoption of the constitution; but it may not be so well known that it was the doctrine of many eminent Presbyterians and Independents when the divisions began in England. Indeed, the attention of young Americans should frequently be called to the fact that when the first settlements of New England and Virginia were formed, there was no forced line of separation in England; many of noted Calvinistic views held high places in the established church.

Princess Irene, the Grandson of the Late Emperor William, Weds Princess Irene. On the memorable celebration of Emperor William's 60th birthday the aged monarch announced the betrothal of his grandson, Prince Albert William, to the Princess Irene of Russia, with Princess Irene of Hesse. The date of the wedding was set for May 24, 1888.

Prince Albert William Henry is the second son of the present Emperor. He was born on Aug. 14, 1862, at Potsdam. In 1877 he entered the navy as a cadet, receiving his first practical instruction in nautical matters on board the frigate Niobe, which was then cruising in the German ocean and the Baltic. The following year he made a two years' cruise in the Indian ocean and the Chinese sea on the corvette Prince Adalbert, returning in 1880. On the 1st of October he passed a successful examination on nautical topics at the Naval Academy of Kiel, which resulted in his being appointed lieutenant of the navy. In 1884 he was made captain lieutenant and in 1887 chief of the first torpedo division. He is said to be an excellent sailor for one so young.

Princess Irene, Louise Marie Anne of Hesse was born on the 11th of July, 1866, at Darmstadt, and is the third daughter of the reigning Grand Duke Louis IV and his deceased wife Alice, who was a daughter of Queen Victoria and sister of the present Empress of Germany. Her marriage with Prince Henry was to have taken place last winter, but the "strange" events, which were the result of a memory caused it to be postponed until now.

Roscoe Conkling's Memory. It was said of the late Roscoe Conkling that he could repeat many verses from memory, not fragmentary lines or brief stanzas, but whole epics, page by page. The ode of Horace in the original version was familiar to him as the "Pan of Life." He could recite the first book of Homer, Bryant's translation (which he considered the best), almost without an error, and a portion of the third book, which he said reminded him of the tramp of a marching army. His favorite poems were "Lalla Rookh" and "The Lady of the Lake."—Frank Leslie's.

Not a Book Agent. Mr. Goode, druggist, is not a book agent, but has the agency in Goderich for Johnston's Tonic Bitters, which he can heartily recommend for any complaint to which a tonic medicine is applicable. This valuable medicine has been with most astonishing good results in cases of general debility, weakness, irregularities peculiar to females, extreme paleness, impoverishment of the blood, stomach and liver troubles, loss of appetite, and for that general wear and feeling that nearly every one is troubled with at some part of the year. Don't forget the name Johnston's Tonic Bitters, and $1 per bottle at Goderich's drug store, Albion block, Goderich, sole agent.

A Wonderful Organ. The largest organ, and one that plays a controlling part on the health of the body is the liver. If torpid or inactive the whole system becomes diseased. Dr. Chase's Liver Cure is made specially for Liver and Gall bladder disease, and is guaranteed to cure. Recipe book and medicine $1. Sold by all druggists.

Farm and Garden.

Sheep not only measure the land upon which they are herded or pastured, but they distribute it evenly and press it into the soil. There is an old maxim that "the foot of the sheep is gold to the farmer."

Cut potatoes to two eyes. If they be desired early for home use, thin out the plants to a single one in the hill. This will give earlier, larger, and more uniform potatoes, but the yield will not be as large as when two points are left to the hill.

Occasional doses of a good cathartic like Burdock Pills are necessary to keep the blood pure and the body healthy. Im-

It is important to note the heifer's milk during the first year. Weigh it, keep it apart and test it for cream to see how rapidly it gathers and note its density. Keep a record; if it is not up to the standard sell her, if above it keep her and improve upon it.

How it Works. The mode of operating of Burdock Blood Bitters is that it works at one and the same time upon the Stomach, Liver, Bowels and Blood, to cleanse, regulate and strengthen. Hence its almost universal value in chronic complaints.

When manure is not available a very good fertilizer for asparagus may be made by mixing 20 pounds of nitrate of soda with 100 pounds of superphosphate of lime. This quantity will be sufficient for a quantity of fifty feet squares, and it should be applied over the whole ground when it is mellow immediately after the ground is worked. Frequent hoeing around the stools or working between the rows is needed for a full crop.

Hay fever is a type of catarrh having peculiar symptoms. It is attended by an inflamed condition of the lining membrane of the nostrils, throat and lungs. An acrid mucus is secreted, the discharge is accompanied with a burning sensation. There are severe spasms of sneezing, frequent attacks of headache, watery and inflamed eyes. Ely's Cream Balm is a remedy that can be depended upon. 50cts. at druggists; by mail, registered, 60cts. Ely Brothers, Druggists, Oswego, New York.

The average weight of home eggs is said to be about ten to the pound, but this is considerably more than this, while others weigh less. A German author, who seems to have paid some attention to determining the ratio between the size of the chick and the egg, says that the chick at the moment it is hatched weighs about two-thirds as much as the original egg. This would seem to show that it is desirable to select the heaviest eggs in order to produce strong and large chicks.

Dangerous Counterfeits. Counterfeits are always dangerous, more so that they always clone imitate the ORIGINAL IN APPEARANCE AND NAME. The remarkable success achieved by Nasal Balm as a positive cure for Catarrh and Cold in the Head has irrefragably established its value to imitate it. The public are cautioned not to be deceived by nostrums imitating Nasal Balm in name and appearance, bearing such names as Nasal Cream, Nasal Balsam, etc. Ask for Nasal Balm and do not take imitations. It may be purchased by mail, registered, 50cts. per bottle, or by express, 60cts. per bottle, post-paid on receipt of price (50c and $1) by addressing Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

"I have nothing but my heart to give you," said a lady to a lawyer who had concluded a suit for her. "Well," said the lawyer, gruffly, "go to my clerk; he takes the fees."

"More Trouble May be Expected." If you do not heed the warnings of nature and at once pay attention to the maintenance of your health. How often we see a person put off from day to day the purchase of a medicine which if procured at the outset of a disease would have remedied it almost immediately. Now if Johnston's Tonic Liver Pills had been taken when the illness would have been "nipped in the bud," Johnston's Tonic Bitters and Liver Pills are decidedly the best medicine on the market for general tonic and invigorating properties. Pills 25c. per bottle. Bitters 50c. and $1 per bottle, sold by Goode the druggist, Albion block, sole agent.

The doctor—"Well, perhaps, Mr. Ellington, you eat between meals." Mrs. E—"Oh, no, eat 'cept, of course, I eat dinner 'tween breakfasts' an' supper, an' so on."

Early to Bed. Growing children should have all the sleep that nature demands. To make sure of this Dr. E. C. Cook advises that the bed time should be no later than 7 o'clock for children under 10. This habit of early bedtime will take care of itself, if it is preserved in by parents at first. Some men and women would not only be stronger, but cleverer, if they had had all the sleep they needed when children. Nothing can be more pernicious than to allow children to stay up late at watering places. They taste then of the highly spiced society life, none too healthy for the strongest, and in the hot house air and stimulating influences their natures are forced to results that may break down their own health and the hearts of their parents also.

Cardinal Points of Courtesy. An authority on etiquette insists upon the value of tact in society. Do not fail to exercise it; and if you haven't any tact, at least you can think first about others and next about yourself, and this will go a good way toward it. "True politeness, some one says, 'is always to be in the thing as others have no time to think of it.'"

Don't think yourself neglected or be sulky on account of it. Think only of pleasing and try to please; you will end by being pleased.

Put this restriction on your pleasures. Be cautious that they injure no being which has life.

Troubles spring from illnesses and illnesses from needless cares.

Words of Wisdom.

Live within your income. Think nothing in conduct unimportant or indifferent. Be guarded in discourse, attentive and slow to speak. It is a good rule to be deaf when a shanderer talks. Never acquiesce in immoral or pernicious opinions. Avoid as much as possible either borrowing or lending. Manner is something with everybody, and everything with some. Truth is the property of no individual, but is the treasure of all men.

Perfect Health. Can only be attained by carefully attending to the laws of nature as expressed in the system. To do this successfully requires the use of Burdock Blood Bitters occasionally, to secure the regulating and strengthening effect of this splendid medicine.

That is to say, your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them. When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot do their work. And what will they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. It is to take Roscoe's German Syrup, which any druggist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. Even if everything else has failed you, you may depend upon this for certain. Bewily

How a Dude Caught Cold. A slim young man in the height of fashion was violently sneezing in a street car, when a companion remarked, "Aw, Charley, don't you know 'sneezing' is the dreadful cold? 'Aw, don't you know, left my case in the lower hall 'to-day, and in sucking the ivory handle, so dreadful cold, it chilled me almost to death." If Charles had used Dr. Harvey's Red Pine-Gum he'd 'a' world not trouble him, very much. For sale at J. Wilson's prescription drug store.

A Confirmed Dyspeptic. C. Canterbury, of 141 Franklin st., Boston, Mass., writes, that, suffering for years from Indigestion, he was at last induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, by its use, was entirely cured. Mrs. Joseph Aubin, of High street, Holyoke, Mass., suffered for over a year from Dyspepsia, so that she could not eat substantial food, became very weak, and was unable to care for her family. Neither the medicines prescribed by physicians, nor any of the remedies advertised for the cure of Dyspepsia, helped her, until she commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. "Three bottles of this medicine," she writes, "cured me."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla, PREPARED BY Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Price $1; six bottles, $5. Worth $5 a bottle.
