pleasure to several people. But all the same, I think that girl needs to look out. There is a power within her in which she justly exults but it is a power which may bring he happiness or misery, according to whether she controls it or lets it con-

ly desirable one, which brought much trol her. All virtues have a point at which they change color and become vices. Determination and perseverance are no exceptions to this rule.

To have the perseverance and sticko-it-iveness to carry through your plans, even when many objections are raised against them and many obstacles stand in their way, is good so long as these obstacles and objections do not consist of the rights, desires, and privileges of others.

Someone has said that the only difference between perseverance and obstinacy, is that perseverance is what you exhibit, and obstinacy is what the other man shows. If you allow for shifted viewpoints that certainly is clever analysis, but taking them should say that perseverance is rea-is very sonable, considerate tenacity that is hard," she said, never blind to the rights of others, and obstinacy is a blind, pig headed tenacity that must reach its goal, no matter whose rights or comforts it tramples over to get there.

This girl who triumphs in the fact that she finds it hafd to give up, is right on the borderland between perseverance and obstinacy. I have seen her get good things done, despite many obstacles, despite lack of means to work with, despite discouraging shiftlessness on the part of others, and I have admired her. At other times, I have seen her, at a gathering of young folks, insist on putting through some plan which was not at

Indeed, an unannounced engagement was broken by the man, because this girl would insist on ordering his whole life and, worse still, in ordering him about before other people. Men never like to be ordered about at all; some men in their courtship days rather enjoy being commanded by the lady of their hearts in private, but no man likes to be dictated to in public, no matter how well he loves the dic-

My advice to any man or woman who is conscious of possessing the power of getting his or her own way, is to look well to that power, and be very careful to see that it does not lead through the paths of selfishness to the land of unpopularity.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advise of a physician of over 40 years' experience a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscruptions medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y., -take the advice received and be well.

"Packing house men in America, do more to bring prosperity to its you!" people by establishing a dressed beef industry than through any other industry. Besides improving the beef by dressing it at the proper temperature, good profits could be made from the utilization of by-products such as tallow, casings, blood, bones, hoofs and horns.

"The whole scheme could be start ed with a capital of between two hundred and fifty thousand or three hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Meath and the adjoining counties alone should be able to subscribe this amount. It would form a nucleus for a number of allied industries, and would keep the boys and laborers at
