We take pleasure in publishing in another column the report of one of our leading financial companies—the Dominion Savings and Investment Society-for 1892, indicat ing, as it does, a successful year's business. It is gratifying to note the continued confidence in the monetary institutions with which our city is so identified. In the face of a more than ordinarily keen competition for loans during the past year, it must have been pleasing to the shareholders to notice the large sum of $720,222 11 invested during the year. This shows satisfactory dealing with the borrowing public. We congratulate the society on the evilences of prosperity shown.

It had been said that alcohol had destroyed more lives than famine, pestilence and war; but, said the speaker, I do not think that alcohol has destroyed half as many lives as ignorance—ignorance on the part of parents, as to the proper way in which to bring up their children. Another big house greeted the Nelson Opera Company at the Grand lass night. The experiment of a whole week's comic opera at cheap prices has proven a success; every performance has been well attended. In justice to the company it mast be said that their productions are not on a par with their admission fees. They are fully as good as many dollar and a half attractions that come this way, but consider it more to their advantage to have a full house at low prices than an empty one at higher prices. Last night Auber's romantic opera, "Fra Diavolo," was produced in a very creditable manner. Geo. W. Traverner assumed the title role, and bore the vocal test admirably. John Henderson's Lord Alleash was a clever bit of acting, while Maurice Hageman and Frank Nelson, ss the banditti, furnished the comedy element satisfactorily. Essie Barton made as engaging Zerlina, and was sufficiently coy in the second act. The choruser, some of which are very pretty, were capably rendered. To-night the engagement will conclude with the popular "La Mascotte." A family matinee will be given this afternoon at an admission fee of 25 cents to any part of the house. An Ohio Failure that Will Sweep Away McKinley's Property.
Youngsrown, Ohio, Feb. 18.—A sensation was caused in business, financial and manufacturing circles to-day by the failure of Robert L. Walker, a prominent banker and capitalist, who made an assignment this afternoon. The failure will be widespread in its effect, involving Governor McKinley, and indications are now that every dollar of property owned by the Governor will be swept away.
