London, Tuesday, August 30.

The Member for London. The Toronto News, in a sketch of the prominent personalities of the Dominion Parliament, refers to Mr. Hyman strongest man the Liberal party has found in many a long day. The House of Commons was not long in justifying the faith which the Liberals of London have reposed in Mr. Hyman for a good many years. His rapid rise in the councils of his party and as a parliamentary figure is peculiarly gratifying to his supporters in of Sabine and Beaumont because the He plainty shows his deview of the political history of the riding and hopes long deferred. When Mr. Hyman took his seat in 1900 there were many able men on the Liberal side of the House who, on the score of seniority, might have claimed preferment from the leaders. Mr. Hyman has come irresistibly to the front by sheer ability, and seems destined to play an increasing part in public affairs. He is a strong man-strong in body and mind, with a capacity for hard work which he does not spare. During a considerable part of the present session his regular duties, onerous enough in themselves, have been increased by the temporary charge of the public works department, owing to the illness of Hon. James Sutherland. Mr. Hyman has added to his laurels by his discharge of this important responsibility. In piloting the public works estimates through the House, he showed a grasp of the details of the department and a parliamentary adroitness which greatly impressed his fellow-members. "The House realized," said the Toronto News, "that Mr. Hy?

After all, the uncertainty as to the date of a general election affects only the professional politicians. The bulk of the people do not worry. Whatever disadvantages the system may have they are more than offset by the advantage of allowing public opinion to act more directly upon parliamentary representatives and through them upon the Government of the day.

Awful Suffering of a Boy from an Itching

CURED BY CUTICURA

Not One Square Inch of Skin on His Whole Body Was Unaffected.

My little son, a boy of five, broke out with an itching rash. Three doctors prescribed for him, but he kept getting worse until we could not dress him any more. They finally advised me to try a certain medical college, but its treatment did not do any good. At the time I was induced to try Cuticura Remedies he was so bad that I had to cut his hair off and put the Cuticura Ointment on him on bandages, as it was impossible to touch him with the bare hand. There was not one square inch of skin on his whole body that was not affected. He was one mass of sores. The bandages used to stick to his skin and in removing them it used to take the skin off with them, and the screams from the poor child were heart-breaking. I began to think that he would never get well, but after the second application of Cuticura Ointment I began to see sighs of improvement, and with the third and fourth applications the sores commenced to dry up. His skin peeled off twenty times, but it finally yielded to the treatment. I used the Cuticura Resolvent for his blood, and now I can say that he is entirely cured, and a stronger and healthier boy you never saw than he is to-day." ROBERT WATTAM,
