THE NATIONAL "PLANT."

Many circumstances have combined to put the public mind in a condition of fretfulness. And among these may be mentioned the fact that some large additional railway subsidies have been granted, while the idea had got abroad that there would be a "let up" to that kind of thing—for some time at least. At the same time it should be borne in mind that the railways of the country may be regarded as so much national "plant." And the question of increasing that "plant" from time to time is simply one of prudence, or comes in the form of necessity. People in Ontario talking of this matter cannot be oblivious to the fact that the extension of the C. P. R. from Woodstock to the Detroit river could only have been brought about by means of those grants which some are apt to call in question when applied to other portions of the country. This is scarcely a fair discrimination. The Government should certainly be in a better position to know what is really required in any special section of the country in respect of railway advancement than most of us who have, very likely, no accurate knowledge of the needs of any district than our own. It is evident that the policy of railway development has been beneficial in many ways; for it has not only opened up districts that were formerly shut out from us, but it has been the means of affording not only temporary but permanent employment to many thousands of people. The money spent in that way have been spent, for the most part, amongst ourselves, and by granting and we have stimulated the expenditure of many millions in the country which would not otherwise have been distributed amongst the people. And the rapid advance that Canada has made during the last few years, and the bright prospect that exists of still further, still more rapid progress, should satisfy all that the railway policy has been on the whole a beneficial one, though it may be possible to point to some flaws in the execution of it. No doubt expectation has been rife that the capital account would soon be brought to a close, or would be enlarged only to an insignificant extent. And we believe that that is the settled anticipation, the well-grounded desire of the people at large in Western Ontario. At the same time the advance of material interests "all along the line" is reassuring on this point—that the output of capital has not been, so far, in excess of the needs of the country or of the capacity of the people to sustain it. The newly granted subsidies to various lines of steamships, though not standing on exactly the same ground, may be treated from the same general standpoint. The opening up of new lines of commerce is certainly to the general advantage. Of course, one may be reminded that it sometimes happens that one has to pay too dearly for the proverbial "whistle," which is true enough. But it may be said, on the other hand, that if no exertions were to be put forth to secure additional business matters would sag down considerably, and in the face of fierce competition coming from other quarters we should go behind very much as a people. In ordinary business life no little exertion is made, no little venture indulged, in order to keep up with the times, and to be in a position to take advantage of opportunity. So, too, in relation to the "plant" account incident to any manufacturing firms. New demands necessitate new outlays, and the question becomes only one of capacity to stand up against the constant demands in that direction. And the same general idea enforces itself with regard to national expenditures. The matter of outlay on account of national "plant" is no longer one of the principle or of policy, but is reduced to the narrow limits of expediency. As matters stand it does not seem that expediency has been treasured upon to any great extent, if at all. And at that point argument stops. The matters come under the head of advisement at that stage, and it may be fairly left to Parliament and to the Government of the day to construe it advantageously.

In the district of Parry Sound, since last September, there have been 153 cases of diphtheria and 57 deaths. Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, who was sent by the Ontario Government to help the people in the outlying districts, reports very many cases of said bereavement. On the Alsace road, in a German settlement, one man, named Schaefer, had buried within the last few months six of his children, and his neighbor, named Strauss, had also lost six. In the Township of Machir there were eleven cases of diphtheria in two families. Upon going into one of these houses for the first time, at nine o'clock at night, he found a family of nine persons, seven of whom were afflicted. The family were poor, there being neither stove nor light of any kind in the room except that of the fire place. By the light from splinters of wood the doctor was able to discover the nature of the disease.

A conference will be held in London on May 8, when leading British merchants will meet at the invitation of Viscount Cross, Secretary of State for India, to discuss the best means of improving the quality of Indian wheat. India at present comes from Russia and America as the third important source of England's wheat supply, and Viscount Cross and a good many others think there is no reason why she should not drive the other nations out of the English market.

CANADIAN DEVELOPMENT.

The liberal proposals advanced by the Government for steamship subsidies are meeting with general approval in the country. The Montreal Star holds that they go to prove that Canada is gradually occupying a national position in her relations with other countries. Besides providing amply for subsidies to steamers in our home waters, at a cost of about $100,000 a year, we have launched out in what may be called national subsidies. The Government is providing for steam communication with the West Indies, and the Premier in a recent interview gave it to be understood that the new line would have St. John, N. B., for its Canadian headquarters. For this a subsidy of $60,000 a year is provided. It is also proposed to pay $500,000 a year for a twenty-knot service between Liverpool and Quebec in summer, and Liverpool and Halifax in winter; $125,000 a year for a fortnightly service between British Columbia and New Zealand and Australia; and $75,000 a year for a monthly or $125,000 for a fortnightly service between British Columbia and China and Japan. In these items alone we have $910,000 per annum of the public revenues pledged in the interests of commerce. What would have been scouted twenty years ago as preposterous, is now accepted as the proper policy for Canada. The addition of our great Pacific province, with its noble harbors, great forests and fisheries, rich mines of coal and precious metals, of the great North-west and Rupert's Land and the Mackenzie Basin, with their limitless prairies and coal fields, and immense stores of petroleum, has brought to the Dominion an aggregate of natural wealth beyond the skill of computation, while the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, through the joint endeavor of public and private enterprise, has stimulated the commercial spirit to an incalculable degree. Canada in a few years has risen from the dependent position of a colony, with all that this implies, to this position of conscious power and the altitude of a nation. We are, in fact, a nation in all but the name. We have such sources of national wealth as scarcely any nation on earth possesses. We are being rapidly imbued with a national spirit, and the lines of communication we are sending out to the distant parts of the earth are so many evidences of our determination to compete in the region of commerce with the great commercial nations both of the Old and the New Worlds.

THE GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

When it was announced in the Free Press that a proposition was on foot to dismantle the Grand Opera House, our readers were greatly astonished, and many voices were raised against so doing. It was felt to be little short of a calamity, and the hope was generally expressed that no such step would be taken. The Opera House is one of the best in the country, is the only large place of amusement we have, and a pleasurable resort to a host of people, for all sorts of objects. Its abolition would leave a great blank, which no new structure of the kind would be likely to fill. Our citizens feel relieved, therefore, by the decision arrived at by the Masonic Temple Company, to leave the Grand Opera House as it is. To make the change that was in view would cost about $20,000, and the profit was thought to be noble material. The resolution was unanimous to let well enough alone, and it is now assured that the Grand will be open next season as usual, with a Detroit lessee. This news will be well received by the citizens; but in order to keep the house going it will be necessary for them to give it a liberal support. There is always a popular craving for amusements, and the demand is for the best companies that travel. But these would not come to play at an inferior house, nor in any case unless they are fairly well supported. The promise is, that the new management will be more vigorous than ever, and that the very best attractions will be brought here.

THE RAIN.

The genial rain of Saturday just came in the nick of time for the starting and development of vegetation. A great deal depends on the early development of any plant; and water is the medium through which all the elements are carried to the plant—that is the inorganic part of the plant's life. Food to plants is only made available through fluids, and hence the benefit of rains at this time of the year. When plants gain a top or expose a large area of surface to the atmosphere, then they feed from this source, say, to the effect of 8-10 to 9-10 per cent. The rain of Saturday has flushed up pastures, and the fall wheat has sprung up into life. The early sown spring grain is now up, and looks vigorous. In another week cattle will be able to live out doors. And hence hay at the present time is coming forward in large quantities, and prices have gone down to $9 a ton. Several farmers have already sown their mangolds, and the rain has aided the vegetation so that the plants are above ground. The gardens are flourishing, and a great number in outside growth have potatoes, peas and other vegetables well on the way. At this time of the year the prospects were never better. The cheese factories have made a good start, and an excellent season is looked for.

A conference will be held in London on May 8, when leading British merchants will meet at the invitation of Viscount Cross, Secretary of State for India, to discuss the best means of improving the quality of Indian wheat. India at present comes from Russia and America as the third important source of England's wheat supply, and Viscount Cross and a good many others think there is no reason why she should not drive the other nations out of the English market.

MALT SPROUTS.

A correspondent from London North, who keeps cows, wants to know about the value of malt sprouts for feed. In reply, we may say that these sprouts are poor feed in one sense, and good in another. That is, for the production of fat and beef, they would be insignificant, but for milk production they would be of great profit; and for this reason, malt sprouts are rich in albuminoids, but very little carbohydrates (fat producing elements) in their composition. Malt sprouts produce the most beneficial results when fed with cut hay, bran, shorts, or cornmeal. You then get a balanced ration: 2 lbs. of hay; 2 lbs. of malt sprouts; 2 lbs. of bran, and 4 lbs. of shorts, would give a nutritive ratio of 1 to 5½. That is 1 part of albuminoids (flesh-producing elements) to 5½ of carbohydrates (fat-producing elements). Always mix your feed to produce the best results.

A local contractor, having been found by the City Engineer putting sand on the roads in place of gravel, was ordered to stop it, very properly. The material hitherto used in street making and mending has not been of the best. Certain quantities of so-called gravel have been put on in the spring, only to be scraped off again in the form of mud. It is cheaper and better, in every way, to lay down a permanent way, such as the black paving that has proven a success. Dundas and Richmond streets, so far as this paving is laid, are models of cleanliness, and may be crossed at any point without soiling a shoe. Action has been taken to extend the black pavement along Dundas street as far as Adelaide. This would have been done long ago only that the religious corporations owning exempt property were reluctant to subscribe to the frontage tax requisite. They have now agreed to pay their share, and it is said the work will go on this season.

CURRENT TOPICS.

The regular income of John D. Rockefeller is twenty millions of dollars a year. That makes him the richest man in the United States, perhaps the very richest in the world. He is a Baptist. Mr. Rockefeller is the organizer of the Standard Oil Company, which has practically monopolized the oil trade of the U. S., and was the forerunner of the big syndicates so much complained of.

The Ottawa Citizen, discussing the March bank returns, remarks:—We are disposed to look hopefully upon the prospects before the country, notwithstanding internal agitation, and the efforts of certain politicians to make the Dominion the hewer of wood and drawer of water for the United States. The business outlook is bright, and the financial position is sound and satisfactory. All that is required in Canada is the maintenance of a spirit of enterprise and self-reliance, which, it is gratifying to know, has been developed to a satisfactory extent of late years.

The British Canadian remarks:—The Grits want the assessors to prepare the voters' lists, and "if they are friendly" it is expected all will be right. Then with a "cooked list," a ballot which shows how many large party, their hands on the throat of every household, and Mr. C. F. Fraser's clutch on their throats, they expect to do well. They can run their own little side-show to suit themselves; but where the interests of the Dominion are concerned the people want something not quite so narrow, and with a little "fair play" in it.

The Week observes:—There can be no doubt, one would suppose, in the mind of any unprejudiced thinker that Mr. Mowat's Government made a serious mistake, and played directly into the hands of the Ecclesiastics, who are the real managers of the Separate Schools, when they consented to the changes in the Separate School Law, which were made in 1886. Under the old order of things, which certainly seems to be the natural order, the taxpayer was assumed to be a Public School supporter unless and until he declared his preference for a Separate School. As the law now stands, every Roman Catholic parent is assumed to be a Separate School supporter, unless and until he declares the contrary, and asks to be classed among Public School supporters. The change can be defended on no broad principle. It is clearly a strengthening and encouragement of the Separate Schools at the expense of the Public Schools. This no Government has a right to do. How much better it would be for all who disapprove this change, which to many minds must seem more mischievous than the Jesuits' Estates Act itself, to frankly condemn it, thus compelling Mr. Mowat to repeal the obnoxious clause, and restore the Public Schools to their old footing.

Sneezing Catarrh.

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headaches—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE FOR CATARRH will afford instantaneous relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic form, where the patient is obstructed by clogging, putrid mucus accumulations, the hearing affected, small and taste fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvellous curative power of SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

SANFORD'S RADICAL CURE consists of one bottle of the RADICAL CURE, one box CATARRHAL SOLVENT and an IMPROVED INHALER, price, $1.50. POTTER DRUG & CHEMICAL CORPORATION, BOSTON.

GLOBE WORKS
Auction/sale of very valuable Real Estate, Estate and Machinery.
UNDER INSTRUCTIONS RECEIVED from the vendors the undersigned will sell by public auction at John W. Jones' Auction Rooms, Dundas Street at two o'clock p.m., on Wednesday, the 1st day of May next, the following very valuable real estate, viz:—Lots No. 20 and 21, on the south side of a Dundas street, in the city of London, in the County of Middlesex, more particularly described in the deeds.
The above is a well-known manufacturing plant, established over thirty years ago. The land has a frontage on Dundas street, main street of the city, of 220 feet by a side street, Adelaide street, of 195 feet. The main building fronts on Dundas street, 220 feet long, three stories high, and is a substantial brick building. In it are the offices, storerooms, store rooms, workshops, etc. In the rear are erected blacksmith shop, foundry, store room, sheds, etc. All the buildings are in first class condition. With the real estate will be sold a large quantity of machinery, nearly new, and in good order.
The above premises have been used for manufacturing agricultural implements, wagons, etc., but can readily be converted into workshop for other purposes.
This affords an exceptionally good opportunity to manufacturers and investors to secure a first class property at a bargain.
For further particulars apply to the undersigned.
