of the common mistakes in Sunday school teaching and government.

Disturbing classes was much deprecated by the lecturer, who held that neither the pastor of a church, the Sunday school superintendent or the person who delivers tracts should be permitted to go from class to class during Sabbath school. Ministers had a habit of going around the schools and shaking hands here and there, but this was decidedly wrong, as it distracted the attention of the scholars. The superintendent should hold himself responsible for the good order of the teachers for the good order of the scholars. The lecturer held it was radically wrong to have separate classes for boys and separate classes for girls in the Sabbath school. He believed in mixing them up. Superintendents should seek the co-operation of the teachers in the management of the schools. Which Will Beclare War First? LONDON, March 25 .- Although the Standard this morning says for a positive Standard this morning says for a positive fact that no alarming despatch has been received from St. Petersburg, it is known that not only is such really the case but that it is simply a question which will make the declaration of war first. Instructions have been sent to Plymouth and every other military port to have all menof-war ready at once, and Lord Dufferin is preparing for the concentration of all immediately available troops with a view of at once throwing them into Afghanistan, and of making a display before the ameer.
