THE YOUNG MAN IN POLITICS.
Ten years ago the young man was not considered in politics. Now his influence in politics is considerable.

Whether the young man owes more to the independent press, or the independent press owes more to the young man, need not now be considered, because the young man runs the independent press.

Without the young man and the independent press Canadian politics would stagnate, and "cream and manure," as Shakespeare describes it, would be the result.

Therefore, the young man and the independent press should be at one, and should unite to carry out the suggestion that the young men be heard, irrespective of party. They cannot be heard without the press.

The letter of Mr. H. E. Clarke, one of our city members in the local legislature, on the Northwest, is well worth the perusal of our readers. It will be found on another page.

An argument in support of the resolution proposed at the young liberals' convention, "that independence is the natural and logical result of our constitutional development," will be found on the second page.

not be exactly in accord with strict justice, it might be excused on the ground of expediency. There is a surplus of this fellow's kind on the island.

When the young meet, the old men equal.

There is some talk of a young Tory convention. Sir John does not wear a wig, but what about his dentures?

Canada's declaration of commercial independence, as contained in the N. F., was a great event; but its passive acceptance by the home associations was a much greater one, for it indicates in a manner most suggestive and most significant, the direction in which we are moving—the radical change in our relations towards the mother country which is now in progress.

The young liberals' convention had more value for the public at large than for the liberal party in particular. It will promote more independence in thought and action, irrespective of party lines. It has already set the people thinking on the country's future.

Mr. Mowat's government is giving the new provincial parliament buildings its most careful consideration. It is not likely anything will be done this year, though we were promised some time ago that tenders would be called for this fall.

The new arrangement for carrying the mails for Manitoba and the Northwest via the Lake Superior section of the C. P. R., will come into effect on the 1st of October. Thereafter it will not need to send these mails through American territory.

Both my former partners having retired from the business I have to announce to the public that I am determined to dispose of the whole of the present stock without delay, and with this view prices, which have before been twice lowered during the liquidation, have now been still further reduced, bringing them below the actual cost of manufacture.

Extensive improvements are being made in the manufacturing premises, the very latest and most improved machinery and tools are being procured at large expense, and no effort will be spared to keep fully abreast of the times, both as to style and quality of goods manufactured.

Dated at Toronto this 14th day of September, 1885.
