It Makes a Difference

That it pays to keep your subscription to the home paper paid up is a long-established fact. Take the case of John Jones and his neighbor, Abe Smith, for instance. Both were well-known citizens of the community; both had lived the average sort of a life; but when they passed from out this vale of tears John was paid in advance, while Abe was some six or seven seasons behind the lighthouse. Their funerals are held; mourners in about equal numbers follow them to their last long resting places. The editor is alone in the sanctum. He sums up their careers in his mind, and after looking at their subscription accounts he takes the office typewriter on his knee and this is what he says;

JOHN JONES

Our heart is in a tumult of sadness, and life's way has been darkened. A familiar form has gone from our midst that the coming years will be unable to replace. To know our friend and neighbor, John Jones, was to love him. He was the soul of generosity and kindness, and his sad leave-taking has cast a pall over the entire community. As a husband and father, he was the personification of all that was good and noble; in his business dealings with his fellow men he was the acme of honesty and uprightness. He has gone out over the vineyard hills of time to await the coming of his loved ones on that other shore. His life was ideal, an inspiration to better citizenship; and we know that his shall be the reward of the faithful—a seat on the right of the throne, a place in glory through all the eternal ages.

ABE SMITH

In the due course of human events Destiny finally came to its senses, and last Wednesday night reached out and yanked old Abe Smith into the unknown. We don't know where he has gone, and care a damnable less. So far as this community is concerned we can spare him with pleasure. He was a boulder upon the rails of progress; he was 'agin' everything that stood for the betterment of the town in which he lived. He was parsimonious, low-down, and foul of mouth, and it must be a relief to his family to be rid of him. He died, leaving a widow and eight small children, no estate, and unpaid subscription account at this office of seven dollars. We are humane, we are forgiving, and just before the undertaker screwed the lid down we put in a seersucker suit, a palm-leaf fan, and a thermom-eter. We hope he'll have a darn big lot of use for 'em.

A LETTER FROM THE FRONT

Pte. Elton Burns Writes a Very Interesting Letter to His Mother, Mrs. Percy W. Burns.

DEAR MOTHER—Just a line this Sunday night before I go to bed. This has been a long, long day. It was a little drizzly this morning, but this afternoon was fine, although a little cool. We had a church parade this morning. Packs, rifles and all. It will seem strange when I get home to be able to go out without taking 50 to 100 lbs. with me. Here in France, practically all the time, we wear our equipment. At times we have to sleep in it and I have gone 7 or 8 days without taking it off. We feel lost without it, but it's a pleasant feeling.

We are out on "rest" now, but where they get the name from is more than I can see. We are busy from morning reveille at 5 until 7 p. m. at night. In the line, the actual work is quite easy, but then again you have Fritz to contend with. It's a toss up which is the better but there is no doubt which is the healthier. One can stand a lot in order to get out of the trenches just to straighten up with- out having bullets whistling by your head. So far I have been reel lucky and have no cause to complain. On one occasion, three of us were in a shell-hole. One fellow got his left hand almost blown to atoms and the other fellow next to me, so close, he was touching me, got simply riddled with bullets. He died almost instan- tly. Lucky me, never got a scratch, but perhaps I wasn't thankful when I got out of that place. I had no fear at all and never have in such places. Before I go I ask God to go with me and if it be His will to bring me safely back, I know it will be well in either case, therefore I never fear. Until one has seen this life, he has no idea what he has to be thankful for. I am real well and am feeling tip- top. Have been havin' some lovely weather. Nice and warm. Hope Ruth gets my letters alright.

This is a great farming country. You would be surprised to see the great quantity done by old men and women. Hundreds and thousands of acres of lovely grain, some almost ready to cut (May 12th). Lots of hens, but eggs are only 9 cents a piece. I had one good feed though the other night. Eggs and French fried potatoes.
