

magny, the Governor, laid the first stone of the said church.—L. & C., 17.

Concerning the above-mentioned gift of the habitants, cf. vol. xxvii. of this series, p. 89; vol. xxviii., pp. 225-227.

29 (p. 275).—Geneviève Juchereau, daughter of Jean Juchereau, sieur de More, and wife of Charles Le Gardeur de Tilly.—L. & C., 18. See vol. xxvii. of this series, notes 5, 15.

30 (p. 277).—Jean Gloria was born in 1639, near Dieppe. He is mentioned in 1650 as an employé in the Jesuit residence at Quebec; but in January, 1652, he married Marie Bourdon, a niece of Jean Bourdon. By her he had six children, two of whom became hospital nuns. In 1658, he was procuror, or agent, for the habitants of Quebec. He died in October, 1665.

31 (p. 283).—Reference is made to Jean Guenet (vol. xxxv., note 12).

32 (p. 283).—The minot is an old measure of capacity, equivalent to 39 liters, or 1.11 Winchester bushels.

33 (p. 285).—Daudeville: Nicolas le Vieux de Hauteville, lieutenant-general of the seneschal's jurisdiction, (vol. xxxvi., note 52); he came to Canada with De Lauson (1651). He married (September, 1654) Marie Renardin de la Blanchetière; they had two daughters, one of whom became a hospital nun.

34 (p. 285).—The inhabitants of the Côte de Beupré still give the stream that name. On the maps it is called River Sainte Anne.

The company of the Hundred Associates conceded the Côte de Beupré to Antoine Cheffault, sieur de la Renardière, and the Island of Orleans to sieur Jacques Castillon, on January 15, 1636. But we observe, by a declaration of February 29 following, that the sieurs Cheffault and Castillon had not acquired those two seigniories for themselves alone,—because they acknowledge that they are for themselves and for Messieurs François Fouquet and Charles de Lauson, councilors of state; for Monsieur Berruyer, seignior of Manselmont; and for Messieurs Jean Rozé, Jacques Duhamel, and Juchereau, merchants; the eight associates owning each one-eighth in the partnership. This company, which generally took the name of the Company of Beupré, sold those two seigniories, by various deeds passed between the years 1662 and 1668, to Monseigneur de Laval, who bequeathed them to the Seminary of Quebec in 1680.—L. & C., 51, 52.

35 (p. 285).—Charles Cadieu (also named Courville) was born in 1628. At the age of twenty-six, he married Michelle Macard, by whom he had eight children. In 1650, he was engaged with
