

The original diary of Daniel Connor in his own hand writing with the accompanying papers, came into my hands at his death in 1858, as one of his sons, and have been in my custody ever since.

Fearing that if left in that shape they would ultimately be lost or destroyed, as such old family papers frequently are. I had them printed, and illustrated with portraits of Mr. Connor and his wife, and other members of the family.

In this way whatever value is in them, relating to the early settlement of Bytown, will be preserved.
