Girls' Outfits For Summer Visits.

A Careful Selection Should be Made and the Trunks Should not be too Large.

When we are to be guests at a friend's house or at an inn we need not transport thither our entire wardrobe. A little planming will indicate the trim, short traveling skirt, the shirt-waist and jacket, and the neat sailor hat for the journey; the pletty reception dress, the evening and ainner costume, and the ample supply of fresh waists for everyday wear, with golf or bicycle skirt. A small trunk and a hand-bag will usually contain an outfit for a fortnight's visit, and a dress-suit case lends itself accommodatingly to the requirements of three or four days or a week. Experienced travelers cross the Atlantic and spend three months in Eurepe encumered with less luggage than some young women carry to the White Mountains or to the Adirondacks for a single month. For many reasons a trunk is a comfortable adjunct when a person is away from home, but it should not be too large and it should be judiciously packed.—Margare: E. Sangster, in The Ladies' Home Journal for July.
