

REVIEWS

Armstrong, Willis, "Innocence is not Enough", bout de papier, Fall, 1987.

Bowen, Roger, "Searching for Evil-Doers", Canadian Dimension, March, 1987.

Cairns, Alan C., "No Sense of Evil", Pacific Affairs, Spring, 1988.

Ford, Robert A.D., "Herbert Norman: lies and consequences", Montreal Gazette, October 28, 1986.

*Fry, Michael, "On the track of treachery: the Assault on Norman", International Perspective, Jan-Feb, 1989.

*Granatstein, Jack, "A Question of Loyalty", Saturday Night, November 8, 1986.

Hillmer, Norman, "Innocence is not Enough" Roger Bowen and "No Sense of Evil", James Barros, Canadian Historical Review, December, 1988.

Shoppen, Beverley, "Authors take sides on truth, lies ... and suspected spy", Quill and Quire, September, 1986.

*Whitaker, Reginald, "Return to the Crucible" The Canadian Forum, November 1986.

INTERVIEWS

Bryce, Robert
Collicott, Martin
Collins, Ralph
Edmonds, Robert
Fleming, George
Hensler, Al
McCardle, James
McGaughey, C.E. (McGuff)
Pearson, Geoffrey

Pickersgill, Jack
Menzies, Arthur
Norman, Irene
Rogers, Benjamin
Rogers, Louis
Small, Helen
Starnes, John
Walls, Don

PHONE CALLS

Barros, James (4)
Bowen, Roger (2)
Brandes, Harry
Deacon, Richard
Downton, Eric (2)
Eayrs, James
Fraser, Gayle
Hooper, William
Kiernan, Victor
Millman, Peter
Munro, John

Munton, Don
Murphy, Edward
Norman, Gwen
Page, Don
Park, Frank
Penner, Roland
Ritchie, Ed.
Stafford, David
Touzel, Bessie
Van Dusen, Tom
Whitaker, Reginald