

Royal Assent

of petty provincial politics. We realize that education can be best administered from the local level, as I said earlier in my speech. I know the hon. member is only trying to misinterpret what I said for the benefit of the people in his province.

Mr. Kindt: He just came in.

Mr. Morton: Well, no wonder he did not understand. I do appeal for a greater sense of unity in Canada and, no matter whether it be in regard to adult education or grants to universities, that we think in terms of what we can best do for the future generations of Canada. Let us stop thinking in terms of votes in our various constituencies.

Mr. Deschatelets: That is always the point of view from your side.

Mr. Morton: No, it is not always the point of view. I have sat here and seen how people have tried to turn good things into bad in order that they can interpret them for their own purposes and obtain votes in their constituencies. This is one matter that has been played down through the ages by petty politicians trying to turn people against having a good, co-operative basis for education across this country.

Again I appeal to those who think in terms of a good Canadian culture which takes in the rights of the various provinces across this country, because that is part of Canadian culture, that is part of building a nation, in bringing into the educational system all that is best within the provinces of this country.

THE ROYAL ASSENT

A message was delivered by Major C. R. Lamoureux, Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, as follows:

Mr. Speaker, the Honourable the Deputy Governor General desires the immediate attendance of this honourable house in the chamber of the honourable the Senate.

Accordingly, Mr. Speaker with the house went up to the Senate chamber.

And being returned:

Mr. Speaker informed the house that the Deputy Governor General had been pleased to give, in Her Majesty's name, the royal assent to the following bill:

An act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money for the public service for the financial year ending the 31st March, 1962.

BUSINESS OF THE HOUSE

Mr. Denis: Mr. Speaker, would the house leader outline the business of the house before dissolution—or rather, before tomorrow.

Mr. Churchill: Mr. Speaker, I regret that hon. gentlemen opposite are so nervous.

Mr. Denis: So willing.

Mr. Churchill: The first item tomorrow will be the resolution in the name of the Minister of National Health and Welfare dealing with the Disabled Persons Act. The second item will be second reading of the bill to amend the Old Age Assistance Act. Third will be second reading of the bill to amend the Blind Persons Act. Fourth will be the resolution standing in my name dealing with an amendment to the Civilian War Pensions and Allowances Act. Fifth will be the resolution also standing in my name to amend the Children of War Dead (Education Assistance) Act. The sixth item will be second reading of Bill No. C-36, to amend the War Service Grants Act. Seventh will be second reading of Bill No. C-37, to amend the Veterans Insurance Act.

For good measure, the eighth item will be the resolution standing in the name of the Minister of Transport dealing with a proposed railway line at Whitecourt, Alberta, and the ninth item will be second reading of Bill No. C-48, an act respecting the construction of a line of railway from Optic lake to Chisel lake, Manitoba.

Mr. Denis: Have you forgotten about the speech from the throne?

It being fifteen minutes after six o'clock the house adjourned, without question put, pursuant to standing order.
