

Scientific appointments generally in connection with Agriculture, e.g. Chemists, Botanists, Mycologists, etc. }	In all colonies and protectorates.
Forestry .....	In certain countries, e.g. Federated Malay States, Ceylon, East Africa, Nigeria, Gold Coast.
Survey .....	ditto. ditto.
Police .....	almost exclusively to East and West Africa.
Educational .....	all colonies and protectorates
Administration .....	East and West Africa and Fiji.

V.

Of the above it is thought that the following would not offer suitable facilities for the selection of Canadians except perhaps in one or two rare cases:-

(a) Legal The number of legal vacancies in a normal year is very small. The higher appointments are almost invariably filled by promotion from within the Colonial Service. Canadian applicants could therefore compete with candidates from the United Kingdom only for a very few junior appointments and further they would be precluded from the usual prospects of promotion owing to the fact that in most colonies the higher legal appointments can only be filled by members of the three United Kingdom Bars. For these reasons it is not thought worth while to consider this class of appointment.

(b) Forestry It is probable that Canada will herself require the services of all her best trained forestry candidates. In any case the whole question of the provision of the training of forest officers for