

regian colony on and wealth of soil, resbyterian settle-

Dominion, 67; its
the Chaudière Falls, cross, from Panama

see Pitcairn Island); 232; climate of, 278; the progress of New of like causes else-ce, 279; Japan, Van-New Zealand, likely ring greatness, 280; 2.

ing at the rate of two d and one mile at the completion of it in ts to proceed quickly rapid and steady progarmed construction-objects of the under-opposition to the, 89.

f, 228; animals and at a railway station anama, 229; departuro n, New Zealand, 289. estern States of Amer-

(Maori). ombay).
spotism of, in America, power, 211.

as left by the war, 22; n, 80; on the Plains, 87. banana-tree there, 32;

ited by the people, 230; captain? How's Vic-endants of the Bounty sh to submit to the expritration, 230; the case
" 231; its curious legal temporary commercial anders, 231; inquiry for e, 231; brandy as medinders strict teetotallers, from the bay, 232.

ornia, 160-163, 166.
87; a "sugar" meal," 87; great distance of forts 88; sitting revolver in a companions in the lon-of, 101; resemblance to 102; vast extent, 102;
and—want of water, 103; 103; feeding-ground for egro freedom, 28; effect of slavery on both master and slave, 31; planters leaving the South, 33.

Plutocracy in Australia, 307, 308 (see Squatter).

Point du Galle (see Maritime Ceylon).

Polygamy in India, 455; polyandry, 456; polygyny, 456-458.

Polynesians, Malay origin of, 246-250 (see Race and Maori); rapid spread of Christianity among, 268; the Maori religion common to all Polynesians, 269; a vague polytheism in the songs, seeming to approach pantheism, 269; difference between the Maories and other Polynesians, 269.

Poonah (see the Mohammedan Mohurram).

Potomac, 40.

Prairie-dogs, for food, 88; on the Plains, 90.

Prairie flowers, 93, 94.

Protection to native industry in the colonies, 320, 321; the squatters alone in favor of free trade, 321; defense of protection by the diggers, 322; its self-denying character, 322; defended on different grounds in Australia and America, 322, 323; grandeur of the willingness to sacrifice private interest that a nation may be built up, 323; protection to a great degree a revolt against steam, 324; American defense of, as a necessity to a young nation, 324; and as a security against the pauper labor of Europe, 325; "No America without protection," 326; eagerness for, in Victoria, 327; American admission of the economical argument, but assertion that political objections overweigh it, 328; protection not the doctrine of a clique, but a nation, 328.

Pyramids, the, 539.

Q.

QUEBEC, terrace at, 57; change of scene from the States, 57; strength of the French population, 58; customs and feelings of Old France, 58; the only true French colony in the world, guarded by English troops against the inroads of the English race, 59; contrast with English energy, 60; climate of Quebec, 60; northern lights, 60; the oppressive monopoly of the Hudson's Bay Company, 60.

Queensland (see Rival Colonies and Squatters); question of the cultivation of a tropical country not yet settled, 291; little hope of the colored races being received on equal terms of citizenship, 292; physical condition of the colonists on the Downs and in Brisbane, 297; population of (from 1860 to 1866), 332.

R.

RACE, war of, in America, 221; in New Zealand, 221; in Mexico, 221; disappearance of physical type, 222 (see Saxon and Latin Races); gradual destruction of races, the bearing of, on religion, 224 (see English Race); probable opposition of the Victorians to the Queensland colonists availing themselves of the labor of the dark-skinned races, 291; unfairness of the planters to the dark-skins, 292; danger of peonage, 292.

Rail and river, 80; railways in America preceding population, 80; converging lines and parallel lines, 80, 83.

Ranchmen, cooks, and hostlers, 141; their roughness, 142; dislike to "biled shirts," 142.

Red Indians (see Indians).

Representation in the Northern and Southern States, 35.

Reptiles, in New South Wales, 294; Tasmania, 350; a snake story, 350.

Republican party in the United States, complete organization and great power of, 212.

Rhode Island, smallness of territory and population, 54.

Richmond, 22; defenses of, 24; future prospects of, 26; Washington's statue in, 26; Hollywood Cemetery, 27.

Riley, Fort, the centre of the United States, 84.

Rival colonies and towns—Australia and New Zealand, 293; New Zealand hitherto mainly aristocratic, New South Wales and Victoria democratic, 293; separation of New Zealand and Australia by a wide ocean, 283; New Zealand presenting to Australia a rugged coast, while her ports and bays are turned toward America and Polynesia, 284; difference of climate, 284; energy of the Australians as compared with the su-pineness of the New Zealanders, 285; different appearance of the people in the two colonies, 286; New South Wales, Queensland, Victoria, 288; probable wide political differences in the future, 290 (see Squatters); Sydney and Melbourne, 297; rivalry of, 297; seasons in New Zealand and Australia, 306; climate, 307; the question of confederation of the Pacific colonies, 353; willingness of the colonies for free trade with each other, 352; postal and customs union, 352; difficulties in the way of confederation, 352; choice of future capital, 352; desirability of selecting some obscure village, and not a great town, 352; the bearing of confederation on imperial interests, 352; and on colonial ones, 353; our duty in case it should lead to independence, 354.

Riverina, the (see Victoria and Newspapers).
Rockwell, Porter, 135, 136; death of Captain Gunnison, of the Federal Engineers, near Rockwell's house, 140.

Rocky Mountains, 76; sublime view of, from Denver, 94; Black Mountains, 105; the Wind River Chain, etc. 105; dreaded alkali dust of the desert, 106; a fine scene, 108; the Elk Mountains, 108; game, etc.
108; Rocky Mountain plateau, 108; solitude of, 108; sudden arrival by night at a Mormon camp, 108; a Mormon welcome, 108; Echo Canon, 109.

Rowdyism in the West, put down by the God-fearing New Englanders, 178.

Russia (see India—Russian approach to).

S.

SACRAMENTO, 166; the Sacramento River, 166.

San Francisco, its future connection with Europe by means of the Pacific Railway, 78