

1880; and I cannot believe these objects will be assured to this generation by a provincial confederation, or by the intervention of England. The United States may interpose, with the requisite guarantees; and if so, why shall we not combine to extend an American Union to the Arctic circle?

JAMES W. TAYLOR.

Hon. HUGH McCULLOCH,
Secretary of the Treasury.