Baseball Leafs on to the Training Camp

Note and Comment

To-day the Leafs are established in their camp at Macon ready for a fourteen days' grind; another two weeks of exhibition games and then the opening of the championship season. The sharps on the circuit are all taking their hats off to Toronto, while Kelley's selections seem to satisfy the local fancy. There is an odd growl about a hole be-lind the bat and also some wise critics are heard to remark that Holly, who shifted from Rochester to Montreal last season, may make another move before October, 1912.

Then there is Newark, now at Petersburg. Va., for a three weeks' stay, and they will hardly be recognized when they make their bow at the stadium. Heading the squad is Bill Bergen, the veteran backstop of the Brooklyn Superbas, who was sold to McGinnity by Charley Ebbets a week ago, and Cy Seymour, once with the Giants and at one time the leading batter of the National League. McGinnity purchased Seymour from Baltimore only two days ago, and made Cy sign a conditional contract. It will be the third time McGinnity and Seymour have been together, they having played with Baltimore in 1901 and with New York in 1908. Two other big league veterans in the squad will be-George Bell, the former Brooklyn pitcher, and Harry Smith, a catcher. Eddle Zimmerman, who played third base for Brooklyn most of last season, is also with Newark this year.

Two months from to-day, according to the calendar, the O. J. C. races start. May 18 falls on Saturday and that is the date set for the King's Plate. The snow is still deep upon the ground, and the thirty-five plate candidates at Waterloo, Hamilton, Barrie and elsewhere have done nothing more than exercise upon tracks of straw. About a month hence the influx will begin, and then, ho for the Woodbine, the early-morning trials and the mind bets that must take the place of the real speculation in a city where handbooks are now unknown!

INTERNATIONAL CHESS

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, March 16.—Drawn games were the order of the day in the eighteenth round of the international chess masters' tournament, a circumstance favorable to Spielmann of Munich as it brough thim nearer to the end without being headed off. Four rounds remain to be played. After eighteen completed rounds the standing of the masters is as follows: ters is as follows:

The National Gun Club held a large and successful shoot, when nine hundred and thirty birds were shot at. The prizes were three silver cups, and the winners were: A Class. Geo. The shoot next Saturday will be for silver medals, and it is hoped that there will medals, and it is hoped that there will even be a larger turnout of shooters. The April 16 was a day for big deeds by Toronto baseball men. In 1895 the Philadelphia Nationals, then managed by Arthur Irwin, a native of this city, ex-manager of the Leafs, etc., stopped off in Hagerstown, Md., and pasted the home pitchers for 46 safeties, for a total of 92 bases. The Phillies made 14 home runs, Lave Cross being credited with four.

The same day, the same year, Joe Kelley then a member of the Baltimore team, made two singles, two doubles, a triple and a home run in an exhibition game with Yale.

Then, in 1906, Pitcher Willie Lush, then of the Phillies, passed ten of the New York Giants and fanned the same number of men, winning his game, 4 to 2.

Baseball Gossip

George McBride, the Washington outfielder, is a great admirer of Walter Johnson, and it is his fondest hope that the time is near when Walter will have a winning team behind hm. "I would just like to see what sort of a record he would establish if he was with a winner, and I hope we will prove one this year," said George. "We made one trip last year to five cities of the circuit, and we lost all but five of them, winning one in each city, and Walter was the fellow who turned the trick. It is easy to see what would happen if he had a team behind him which could get him a few runs."

Joe Delahanty, the ex-Toronto Ball Club's outflelder, who was given his unconditional release a few days ago, is wanted as manager of the London Club in the Canadian League. Another club is also after him both wishing to land him as manager. The London team will do its training at Niagara Falls.

Ganzel says he's tickled at having Walter Blair with him again. "I can't understand how he got out of the American League. With me the season before last he was the best catcher in the country. He needs to work every day, and he will have no opportunity to loaf on the Bronchos if he meets with no injury."

Dan Moeller, last year with Rochester, and Jack Flynn, both ex-Pirates, already are being picked as fixtures in the Washington line-up for the coming season. Flynn is showing clever all-around work and Moeller's work is featured by his speed. It seems almost certain that Flynn will be at first and Moeller in an outfield position.

The annual meeting of magnates of the New York State League at Syracuse developed a bitter scrap over one Sunday I date between W. J. Clymer of Wilkes-Barre and E. J. Coleman of Scranton. There are 19 Sunday games listed in the schedule that was adopted. That meant a division of ten games for one city and nine for the other. Neither Clymer nor Coleman wanted the short end of it. Some sharp personalities were indulged in, and when the matter went to a vote Clymer won, getting the ten Sunday games for Wilkes-Barre. Then Coleman bolted the meeting.

Montreal Hockey Team Play Tle on Sunday 5

BOSTON, March 17.—The Wanderers' hockey team and the Canadiens both of Montreal, started a series of eight games at the Boston Arena to-night with a tie. After three periods the score stood 5 to 5. Jack Laviolette of the Canadiens was knocked out in a collision with a Wanderer at the end of the third period, and the Canadiens elected not to go on with the game, as the disabled man was unable to piay.

With the addition of one or two more pitchers of big league timber, Joe McGinnity, manager of the Newark team, has a notion concealed in his dome that the Tigers will be running one, two, three in the International League this season. On paper the Bengal outfit looms up as a formidable aggregation. To begin with, Newark has a classy pair of catchers in Bill Bergen and Harry Smith, both purchased from the Brooklyn National League Club.

Hans Wagner's prowess as a hitter has never been disputed, but it remains for Clark Griffith to give the Dutchman credit for being real cunning. According to Griffith, Wagner owes much of his ability as a hitter to the fact that he fools most pitchers. Griffith says Wagner will purposely look ridiculus swing. ner will purposely look ridiculous swing-ing at some sort of a ball for no other purpose than to make the pitcher believe that this is his weakness and repeat the delivery. Whenever a pitcher allows himself to be hoodwinked in this manner Wagner is sure to break up the game with one of his famous long drives. The he has been practising this trick for years, Griffith says that he still manages to fool some pitchers.

The answer is plain and clear: "By doing the best." We advise correctly as to styles and material. Everything this season will be along quiet lines. Steel-greys, with two or three faint hair stripes, and green-greys, with plain herringbone effect, are much in favor. Then there are blue-greys and purple-greys-greys are indeed much the vogue. You can hardly err in choosing a grey. Lovat shades, with small invisible check, make a stylish suit.

An application was also forwarded from Lake Champiam, or Burlington, Vt., and in the long run Peoria received six votes, Saratoga three and Burlington two.

According to Mr. Putnam, oursmen should find the course very suitable. It is on a wide part of the Illinois River, with a current of less than one mile an hour, and there is little or no traffic at the point. In addition, excellent hotel accommodations are to be had, while the vantage points for spectators are also all that could be desired.

The following regatta dates were sanctioned:

American Rowing Association, at Philadeiphia, May 25; Harlem Kegatta Association, at New York, May 30; Schuylkill Navy, at Philadelphia, June 15; People's Regatta, at Philadelphia, July 4; Hudson River Amateur Rowing Association at New York, July 13; Hackensack River Rowing Association, at Hackensack, N.
