Meeting at London Closed With Patriotic Addresses - Sir George Gibbons' Speech on Patriotism — Women Urged to Fight for Release of London Suffragette Leaders.

LONDON, Ont., May 81.—(Special.) The closing scenes in the annual ing and enthusiastic of its history. Sunshine bathed the land and the hearts of the visitors and the ladies of London. Luncheon, given by the local council, was a function long to be remembered. Mrs. McNaughton of Montreal thanked the London ladies for this and the countless courtesies received during their stay. Mrs. Huestis seconded the motion, including the bays of beautiful closer like and the bevy of beautiful flower-like girls who had waited at ables. Mrs. Yorker of London who had captained much of the whole arrangement, replied graciously on behalf of London.

"Patriotism as exhibited in citizen-"Patriotism as exhibited in citizenship" was the note of the evening meeting. The hall was crowded as never before, Rev. J. Gibson Inkster was in the chair and on behalf of himself and the whole Presbyterian world congratulated and wished well to the council.

Sir George Gibbons.

"To speek on patriotism is not easy."

Sir George Gibbons.

"To speak on patriotism is not easy," declared Sir Geo. Gibbons, the first speaker. He deprecated war. It was the best men who were killed and who killed others. Times are changing, whereas resort to arms was the method of the past, The Hague, with its board of five men are now selected to settle any dispute, as was done in the late Newfoundland fisheries case. The trades and labor unions of every country of Great Britain, Ireland, France and Germany were for peace.
