are there and unless the Ontario government bestirs itself all the com-missions in the world will not save the people from a gigantic electric

Contracts are being signed, rates are being fixed, vested rights are being established. This should not be permitted until the commission being established. This should not be permitted until the commission makes its report, and by raising no word of protest against it Premier Whitney multiplies the difficulties in the way of government control of rates and distribution and of nationalization of the works.

Premier Whitney ought to warn the power companies on the Canadian side of the Niagara River that they must not make long contracts for power to be exported to the States. We may soon require it all. Every train in the peninsula of Ontario ought to be moved from the Falls. It will be a nice situation if years hence the bulk of our power goes out of the country when we need it ourselves. Hon. W. S. Fielding was warned the Macleon last session that his tariff commission ought to investiby Mr. Maclean last session that his tariff commission ought to investigets and regulate the export of power and that the federal government ought to intimate to the Americans who are buying it now that a prohibitory duty might have to be put on.

tory duty might have to be put on. If the Americans can get Canadian power cheap, they will keep their factories on the American side. If the power was kept on the Canadian side, the Americans would build on our side for their export business anyway. In every sense the question of cheap power is the question of the day and it must be nationalized from a municipal, provincial and the day and it must b national point of view.
