MODERN MONEY GETTING.

Modern money-getters make the Count of Monte Cristo, Croesus, Solomon and the other rich men of old look like "thirty cents." The billion dollar capitalization of J. Pierpont Morgan's steel trust have suggested the ancients, as indeed it does some moderns. The earnings of another United States enterprise—the Standard Oil Company—are almost past comprehension. That concern has in twelve years distributed $335,000,000 in dividends. In the last ten years Mr. J. D. Rockefeller has drawn from this source more than $100,000,000, and it is estimated that during the next decade he will have an aggregate income of $500,000,000 from oil sources.

It is calculated that Mr. Rockefeller's present fortune amounts to $200,000,000, and a Frenchman has been figuring out what this means. If a man has been working steadily day and night from the birth of Christ to the present time at the compensation of twelve dollars an hour, his total earnings would just now have reached the sum of the Oil King's pile. Twelve dollars an hour is $300 a day—very handsome pay, and a man getting this sum every day from the year one till now and consuming nothing of his earnings would only now have acquired as much wealth as has Mr. Rockefeller in a short lifetime.

Mr. Cramer of Hamilton makes a good point when he suggests that the Dominion and Provincial statutes be amended so as to compel the promoters of all such enterprises, the bonds or shares of which are upon the open market, to take the public into their confidence. In other words, the law should require the publication uniformly in all cases of a certain definite amount of information concerning the operations of such concerns. Such a measure would provide a safeguard to the every-day investor, and go a long way towards doing away with reckless speculation founded upon often baseless rumors.

CHURCH UNION.

Advocates of church union will find encouragement for their cause in the attitude of some of the Christian denominations towards one another. It is worthy of note that, in its leading editorial article this week, The Christian Guardian, the official organ of the Methodist Church in Canada, recommends as a textbook for its Methodist readers a doctrinal work from the pen of a leading Presbyterian divine. The leader in question deals at length with the importance of Bible study to the individual, and advises the student to utilize as an aid in his work a "safe, instructive and invigorating" book, entitled "The Messages of the Prophetic and Priestly Hierarchies," by Prof. John E. McPayden of Knox College, Toronto. There must be a good deal in common between two church bodies one of which will go to the other for theological instruction.

GOOD IDEAS.

The following bits of advice for school children are being widely circulated. Some excellent ideas are found in them. Here they are:
Children should be taught:
Not to spit; it is rarely necessary.
To spit on a slate, floor or sidewalk is an abomination.
Not to put the fingers into the mouth.
Not to tick the nose.
Not to wet the finger with saliva in turning the leaves of books.
Not to put pencils into the mouth, or pencils in the hair.
Not to do anything into the mouth.
Not to put pins into the mouth.

SHIPBUILDING BONUS.

Deputation Asks for 10 Per Cent. on the Contract Price.

Ottawa, April 30.—The shipbuilding delegates met Messrs. Mulock, Sutherland and Sir Richard Cartwright in the office of the Minister of Trade and Commerce to-day. They asked for ten per cent. on the contract price in the way of a bonus. E. M. McDonald, M.A., and J. W. Wardrope, lumberman, representing the shipbuilders, and the other firms represented were the Polson and Bertram of Toronto and the Longs of Collingwood. The ministers promised to consider the representations made to them. The delegates asked that something be done this session.

except food and drink and the toothbrush. Not to swap apple-cores, candy chewing-gum, all-day suckers, half-eaten food, cigarettes, or bean-bowls for anything that is habitually put into the mouth.

Teach the children to wash the hands clean. If a child is coming down with a communicable disease, it is reasonable to believe that there is less chance of infecting persons and things if the hands and face are washed clean, and not dabbed with secretions of the nose and mouth. Teach the children to turn the face aside when coughing and sneezing, especially if they are facing another person, or when at table.

Children should be taught that their bodies are their private possessions; that personal cleanliness is a duty; that the mouth is for eating and speaking, and should not be used as a pocketbook, and that the lips should not take the place of fingers.

The following was promulgated in connection with the suggestions:
The persons of some of the common and also some of the most loathsome diseases are frequently contained in the mouth. In such cases, anything which is introduced into the mouth and the infected person may, if it touches the lips of another, convey disease.

It is the purpose of health officials to keep in isolation all persons having communicable diseases during the time that they are infectious. But, in many cases, this is impossible. Little real results can be obtained in such cases, as measles, whooping cough, chickenpox and mumps; and even such operations of such contagious diseases as tuberculosis are frequently so mild as to be unnoticed, and children are frequently infected by their parents and others. It is probable that, in such cases, one of the chief vehicles of infection is the secretions of the mouth and nose.

It is believed that much can be done to prevent the spread of such habits of cleanliness. But, if such instruction is to be effective, it must be continuous, and the rules must be as simple and correct violations of these rules as habitually as violations of the more formal school rules are corrected.

Even if the question of disease and contagion did not enter into the matter, the subject ought to be given more attention by teachers. Our schools should not only teach arithmetic, but also, perhaps, quite as important, that they should inculcate important lessons in good habits and manners. Cleanliness should be taught for its own sake, even if it had no relation whatever to health.

FOR FOURTH CONTINGENT.

Editor World: I think it would be graceful of the city of Toronto to present flag classes to the officers of the last contingent belonging to the city. It requires considerable more courage to go on this last contingent than on any of the former ones, as there is not such enthusiasm, and the man who goes in the field must have the courage of a lion, and as those who went to South Africa with the infantry, who are the backbone of the army, who are the backbone of the army, who are the backbone of the army.

THE GREAT ENTERPRISE.

Canada Will Soon Control the World's Paper Supply.

THE ATLANTIC PULP AND PAPER CO.

Natural Wealth of the Dominion the Great Factor—The Company Will Have Ample Capital and Valuable Property—Able Men at its Head.

Nothing so helps the prosperity of a country as the steady development of its natural resources. Industries may be the energy of individuals or the slothfulness of other nations be built up in spite of the lack of natural wealth, but such instances are, however, very rare. Great Britain is perhaps the only nation under the sun which has successfully done this, but she was specially favored by boundless coal and iron, an intelligent and energetic race and the slothfulness of European nations. Canada possesses boundless natural wealth, and so the development of that wealth has been proceeding by leaps and bounds. The exhaustion of the United States spruce forests has directed attention to the spruce as well as upon the natural wealth of the Dominion.

To develop that wealth by converting it into paper the Atlantic Pulp and Paper Company, Limited, has been formed. The capital is placed at $3,000,000, of which $500,000 of 1 per cent. cumulative preference stock is offered to the public at par, payable as fully set forth in the prospectus. The directors of the company are composed of Messrs. C. E. Edwards, M.P., the Ottawa lumberman; R. Y. Ellis, director of P. W. Ellis & Co., Toronto; Charles H. Wardrope, president of the Waterloo Engine Works, Brantford; R. H. Thompson, paper merchant, Buffalo; A. J. H. Macdonald, Toronto; Charles Lyman, president of the Lyman & Knox Co., Montreal; J. W. Wardrope, lumber manufacturer, late mechanical superintendent of the Laurentide Pulp and Paper Co., Montreal; and W. R. Parker, barrister, Toronto.

The company has secured a spruce forest in the Bois des Chateaux, extending to 193,200 acres, and it is estimated that the supply of pulpwood will last 65 years. As, however, spruce trees grow in about 28 or 30 years, this means really an inexhaustible supply. Since the issuing of the prospectus, offers have been made for the entire output of paper from the mills. So that it is quite evident that the company will be successful. When it is mentioned that the abundance is at hand on the Little Cascapedia, that there is an ample supply of clear water available, an essential in paper-making, that the localities is cheap, wages reasonable, the shipping facilities unsurpassed and the management a gentleman, it will be obvious that the prospects of the company are of the most favorable character. It may be stated in conclusion that the subscription books of the company will close on Wednesday, May 7. The prospectus of the company appears in another column. Further information may be obtained by writing to the company at Montreal, or to the National Trust Company, Limited, Toronto, Montreal or Winnipeg.

DIRECT MAIL SERVICE.

Cardiff Men Interview Lord Strathcona in Connection With It.

London, April 30.—(Telegram Cable.)—Sir Charles Tupper, former Prime Minister of Canada, is here. In an interview with The Daily Express, referring to the proposed Canadian flag line, he said that every time he had to visit New York he felt disappointed that he could not visit the Canadian flag line.

Lord Strathcona, the Canadian High Commissioner, to-day received a deputation from Cardiff in regard to a direct mail service between England and Canada.

Business men have a great opportunity just now in Scotch's special prices of 25c and $2.50, on genuine British suits.

Montreal, April 30.—It is announced that the Wolvyn Syndicate has purchased the outfit of the Prescott Elevator Company at Prescott, and that the vessels, which include eight barges and a tug, will be utilized in the grain trade between Quebec and the lakes. The barges purchased are of two sizes, six being 22,000 bushels capacity and two 28,000 bushels. There is also a tug of fairly good size and strength. The price of the outfit is in the neighborhood of $90,000.

Cayuga, April 30.—It was stated yesterday that the fast American express crossed the bridge two minutes after the accident at this place, but the shave was much closer. WILL BE OPENED TO-DAY.

Soulanges Canal Fitted With Most Up-to-Date Electric Appliances.

Coteau Landing, April 30.—The Soulanges Canal will be opened for the season of 1902 to-morrow, with the new electrical apparatus for working the lock gates, sluices, bridges, etc., in the full and successful operation.

The depth of the canal, one on each side. The heavy gates (90 tons) are opened or shut in one minute, and the sluices in 45 seconds. The machines work with perfect ease, safety and smoothness, and are designed as to be under complete control, and to obviate any chance of breakdown if handled with ordinary care.

Only about half the number of men necessary to operate a similar apparatus are now required, the money saving being nearly $10,000 per annum. An ordinary canal takes less than 10 minutes, and a tug has been run thru the whole 14 miles and five locks in two hours and ten minutes.

The canal is brilliantly lighted throughout, and is as easily navigable by night as by day. The electric power and lighting, the maintenance of the locks, the installation, design of motors, etc., is the work of the Canadian General Electric Company of Toronto.

It may be said that this canal does not resemble in any way the details of either the Soo, Welland, or the other St. Lawrence locks, and affords the best specimen of an artificial channel of 15 feet draught hitherto constructed on this side of the Atlantic.

The depth in the canal, at mean stages of Lake St. Francis, is about 17 feet, rendering it easily practicable to run the boats at a speed of 10 miles an hour, without danger to the banks.

It is expected that a large amount of grain will pass down this season to Montreal from the Canada Atlantic Railway, which has a half-million bushels of grain in storage at Coteau Landing above the head of the canal at Coteau Landing.

A Delicious Diet for the Banishment of Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

The value and importance of Malt Breakfast Food, as a diet for dyspepsia, is becoming more apparent each day. The happy record of dyspepsia being cured by this food is a strong recommendation of its value.

Instead of nauseous drugs, which cheer the heart of many a poor sufferer. In dyspepsia and dyspepsia are results of overtasking the stomach and digestive organism with indigestible and faulty nourishment.

Malt Breakfast Food soothes and strengthens the inflamed and irritated stomach. It has a most beneficial influence on the torpid liver by quickly giving new power and life to this organ; it enriches the starved blood, and brings the whole digestive machinery into one harmonious combination. The happy results may be summed up as follows: healthy appetite, increased energy, greater vitality and good health. If dyspepsia is making life a misery for any member of your family, have the sufferer use Malt Breakfast Food for a couple of weeks. Your Grocer will recommend it.
