A striking tribute to Nursing Sis-ter Baldwin, Sergt.-Major C. Ward and Sergt. Bob Wallace, members of No. 3 Ganadian Stationary Hospital, who lost their lives during a recent air raid at the front, was paid by Col. E. G. Davis, C. M. G., during an interesting talk on his experiences overseas, in the St. James' Church, South Lêndon, last night. House of Commons, Canada. Minister's Office, Ottawa. June 3, 1918. Dear Mr. Glass,—Re granting leave of ist night. "We have just received sad news." aid Col. Davis, "that one of our nurs-ng sisters and two of our best men ave been the victims of the latest fun outrage. The enemy knew the ocation of our hospital two days after he site had been chosen. Recently asualty clearing stations in the vi-inity of the London hospital have een abandoned, and our hospital was olng very essential work, and the absence, military service act: I have your letter of the 30th ultimo. <sup>4</sup> I have your letter of the 30th ultimo. The question of granting leave of absence to those men of the ages of 20, 21 and 22 whose exemptions were cancelled by order-in-council No. 919. of the 20th of April, 1918, has received serious consideration, and it has been decided that leave of absence can only be granted on the following grounds: (1) The only remaining son of mili-tary age where other members of the same family have seen service. (2) In cases of extreme hardship to dependents. cinity of the London hospital have been abandoned, and our hospital was doing very essential work, and the Huns were determined to interfere. All three of the victims did their work wonderfully both in Egypt and In France, and their untimely deaths, I am sure, will come as a distinct loss to No. 3 Stationary Hospital." The address of Col. Davis was not a talk on Red Cross work. It was a graphic description of the methods used to further the Allied cause in all branches of the service. The Sunday school room, where the lecture was given, was crowded long before Col. Davis began his lecture, and he was given an ovation by his many friends present as he mounted the platform. Col. Davis began his description by relating the history of No. 3 Station-ary Hospital, from the time it left London, until the day of his departure from this unit. He told of the tre-mendous task involved in converting Moore Barracks, Shorncliffe, into one of the best military hospitals in the United Kingdom, an achievement ac-complished by No. 3 Hospital. An interesting fact stated by the colonel was that almost all transports used by his hospital in transferring from place to place had since that time been torpedoed. Trying conditions at Lemnos, now known to all Londoners, were lickity dependents. In all such cases application must be made by the man concerned through his commanding officer as outlined in the attached memorandum. The routine orders are embodied in the regulations concerning the granting of leave of absence, a copy of which I also inclose. S. F. Glass, Esq., M.P., London, Ont. Military Service Act, 1917-Leave of The urgent need of men overseas is such that leave of absence can only be granted to men in Category A in cases which come within the provisions of orders-in-council dated the 20th April, 1918, (U. C. 919), and the 22nd May, 1918 (P. C. 1259). These - orders-in-council authorize leave of absence to be granted in extra-ordinary cases of extreme hardship. Absence. ordinary cases of extreme hardship, such as cases in which the man drafted such as cases in which the man draited is the sole support of a widdowed mother, an invalided father, or other helpless dependents, or certain other cases in which he is the only remaining son of military age (19 to 45), and other mem-bers of the family have been killed or disabled on service, are now serving overseas, are in training for overseas, battalion after he reports for duty. Such applications cannot and will not be con-sidered either at the headquarters of the military district or at militia head-quarters at Otfawa. Correspondence sent to these headquarters will only re-sult in delay and confusion. Every man applying for leave of absence must make a statutory declara-tion in a prescribed form, which may be obtained at the depot battalion, where an officer will be especially detailed to deal with such applications. Men whose cases come within the authority granted by the governor-in-council may be given up to thirty days' leave of absence without pay by the of-ficer commanding the depot battalion, and such longer leave as the case may require will granted if the recommenda-tion is concurred in by the district of-ficer commanding and at militia head-quarters, or, in any case of doubt, if it is approved by the central appeal judge under the military service act, 1017. The original thirty-day leave may, in the event of delay in a decision be-ing arrived at, be further extended by the district officer commanding by periods of ten days.

We would have thought that no one could have improved upon the summer dresses of a year ago-and looking back, how impossible many of those styles now appear. The new summer dresses we are showing have a most entrancing simplicity,, developed in materials that perplex one as to which is the more beautiful, the model or the material. The Gingham Frock, most popular of all-in fact, gingham is the aristocrat-for shopping, at the shore, in the country, on the porch at home-the gingham dress is sure to outrival all others. But not the ginghams of yesterday-these are marvels of color and design, and made in such unique models / extremely becoming to madam and madamoiselle.

> This is surely to be a summer of smart blouses, it cannot be otherwise, for never have we shown or seen so many beautifullydesigned blouses. Price does not seem to hamper their beauty. for even those of modest prices are beautiful beyond our hopes. Of course, they are simple, that is one of their chief charms but a bit of embroidery or lace is introduced in such delightful manner that it never overshadows the effect of the ensemble. Tomorrow we will make a most comprehensive display of the new summer blouses, featuring particularly the celebrated "Fashion Brand" Blouses, which are everything that one could desire in dainty and well-made blouses, so artistically designed and trimmed with the daintiest laces, insertions and embroidered designs; collars in various styles, square, pointed and shawl effects. The variety is too great to attempt to describe each, but this special display, commencing tomorrow, will tell the story of summer fashion in blouses. Regular sizes 34 to 44. outsizes 46 to 54.
