

Dineen's Great Exhibition of Furs

This Exhibition of Garments in all the different departments is a Special Feature of the World's Greatest Annual Fair

CANADA'S great exhibition in Toronto marks the final passage of summer and the first real days of fall. It likewise brings from the whole of Canada a crowd of visitors to our doors and it is natural that we should prepare for them in such a manner as to make their visit memorable.

Where it is possible merchants have put on at the Fair a special exhibit of the work they are able to produce. With us, however, we find that it is wiser and better to use our own show-rooms for the purpose because of the very extensive nature of the fur garments we have to display.

Visitors should remember that we have been making fur garments in Toronto for over fifty years and our knowledge of good fur must go unquestioned. We make everything in our own work-rooms from fur purchased by members of our own firm in Europe, Asia and in the far North of Canada. Our name on a garment is your guarantee that it is something above the superior.

Garments made from advance styles furnished by Paris, Berlin, London and New York in Alaska Seal, Persian Lamb, Moire Persian, Chinchilla, Canadian Mink, Hudson Bay Sable, Russian Sable, Pony Skin, Silver and Pointed and Arctic Fox, Baum Marten, Lynx, Alaska Sable and the lower grades of popular furs.

BOY SCOUTS DISPLAY AT THE FAIR TO-DAY

Youngsters Will Show Their Skill in Fine Points of the War Game.

The background of the boy scout display at the exhibition to-day will be a number of tents strung in crescent shape formation. When the reveille is sounded the scouts will emerge and at once enter upon their ordinary camp life, which will continue throughout the afternoon, and will provide an entertainment in itself. The foreground of the arena, however, will be used for the display of special branches of the scout movement, such as the rendering of aid to the injured, made realistic and interesting by making it arise naturally out of a wagon accident, a burning house, a quarrel, an incident in scout warfare, a fray with savages, and so on.

The display that the British Boy Scouts will put on will be a perfect example of what might happen to an exploring party, or patrol of scouts, in a hostile country. They will enter the arena drawing their little transport carts, upon which are packed all their belongings, and proceed to pitch their camp, as they have done many times on the western prairie in the last few weeks. Cooking is soon in progress and the wonderful trek-cart is converted into a bath. Some scouts turn to and mend their clothes, and one wanders out to shoot some game. He is attacked by a hostile force; the enemy are defeated; the wounded are brought in; the cook is devoured; camp is struck, and, with the trek-cart now converted into an ambulance wagon to convey the wounded, the self-contained little troop goes on its way. This, together with the first aid displays, the cavalry melees, the treasure camp and the grand horseback battle, will be among the spectacular items of the program. Not so noticeable, but equally important, will be the exhibition of signalling during almost the whole of the afternoon. Examples of semaphore and Morse code will be given by flag, smoke and wireless telegraphy.

Following the arrival of Baden-Powell at 2.30 and the opening of the exhibition there will be a review of the scouts and thereafter the following incidental display: Races and cooking, bridge building, fires and boy scouts, stunts, boxing, wrestling, javelin race, physical drill, scout lacrosse, fencing, singstick, tug-of-war, first aid, lifesaving and fire brigade display, exhibition of knot-tying and display of cooking results, lassoing, cavalry musical ride and melees, scout games and horseback battle.

Knowland, secretary-treasurer of the C.C.Y.C., encloses $15 for the firemen's benefit fund, "as a slight token of our appreciation of the work of your department in saving our club house at the fire there last year. I had overlooked the matter, or the enclosed would have been forwarded before."

John Hillock & Co. also contribute $15, "to express in some degree our appreciation of your efforts at the fire which occurred on our premises a short time ago. We certainly appreciate the fact that while the blaze got a good start, the reels responded very promptly and we succeeded in getting the blaze totally extinguished almost immediately, otherwise it would have resulted in a very disastrous fire."

He ran to box 25, at West Market-street; then to 4, at Front and Church; and then had to hike three blocks north to Kingston, where he got 28 to work. The damage by fire was $75.
