by the demand for goods from coun-tries which had been pre-war custom-ers of Russia and Germany. The increased foreign demand for goods, coupled with under-production on the part of the British workmen, Mr. Campbell ranks as two important for the part of the british workmen, factors co-operating to keep up high Bulging With Money. "British workingmen," said Mr. Campbell, "are getting from three to four times the rate of pay received before the war. Due to the high wages paid during the war the armistice found many whose pockets were bulg-ing with money, an experience they had not before enjoyed. They pro-ceeded to have a good time and now hey find it hard to get down to work they find it hard to get down to work. In addition, there is an idea that limitation of production will insure a continuation of prosperity by making enough work for everybody, but it is precisely this under-production which is one of the main factors in main-taining high prices." Mr. Campbell declared that profes-sional agitators were doing much to arouse discontent and dissatisfaction emong workingmen. He said that the home market was dull as people were home market was dull as people were refusing to buy because they say the goods are not worth it—"and they're not," added Mr. Campbell. "The con-sumer is the key to the situation, for if they persist in their refusal to pay, prices will have to come down." Mr. Campbell thinks that at last the Worm her turned and that at last the worm has turned and there will be a gradual decline in prices until such time as production is back to normal and the foreign demand for goods de-creases when a considerable drop may be expected.
