LT. COL. MCAVITY NOW IS THE CHIEF RECRUITING OFFICER

Local News of The Soldiers—Private Hospital Now Ready For Use

The new wing being built on the St. James street hospital is also coming along well.

REV. MR. PORTER WRITES OF DEATH OF SOLDIER

Pte. W. B. McKinnon of the 104th, Who Passed Away at Moore Barracks Hospital

Alexander McKinnon, of Moncton, formerly of Norton, has received particulars of the death of his son, Pte. W. B. McKinnon, whose death occurred in Moore Barracks Hospital, England, on November 2, of pleurisy. Pte. McKinnon enlisted in Sussex in the 104th. "We were exceedingly sorry to lose him," writes Capt. Oliver, of the Moore Barrack Hospital, "for we had come to learn his worth." Capt. Oliver says that Pte. McKinnon had been ill for a long time, and although weak, they thought he would get strong enough to be sent home; but during the last week he had fallen for the worse.

Rev. P. S. Porter, chaplain of the 104th Battalion, formerly pastor of the German Street Baptist church, writing from Witley Camp, Surrey, England, on November 8, says that he assisted the hospital chaplain at the burial service. Much took place in the picturesque cemetery near the garrison church, Shorncliffe, on November 5. "He was a general favorite with every one," writes Capt. Porter, "and all his wants were provided for at the hospital, to which he was assigned on September 9. The dread disease had fastened too firm a hold upon him to be successfully combated, and he passed away, having assuredly done his bit as a true and faithful soldier. Full military honors were accorded him at the funeral, and your eldest son, Cecil, was present as a sad mourner. A tablet is soon to be erected to the memory of your noble lad."

FINE WORK BY THE RETURNED SOLDIERS

Exhibit in King Street Store Attracts Laudatory Comment—Buyers Wanted

There is an interesting exhibit from the work rooms of the Parks Convalescent Home for returned soldiers, in the window of John DeAngelis' store, corner of King and Charlotte streets. Little knots of interested people are before the window most of the time and certainly the articles on view are very attractive.

They are samples of some of the things the men in the Parks Home are prepared to make for sale to the public. There are a solid well finished little oak chest, a finely-made picture frame, tobacco work basket, jewel boxes, pipe holders, blotters and boxes, also a bust of Sapper Leyland who, on an accompanying "poem" states did "sap, sap, sap."

The fine form and finish of these samples will show the public what the men at the Convalescent Home can do and orders for similar articles or others of which the customer can supply a pattern or a good description will be most welcome and can be left with Mr. DeAngelis or sent to the convener of the committee appointed by the executive committee of the Women's Canadian Club to encourage this undertaking and keep it before the public. Any of these things on view would make a beautiful Christmas present and the price paid for them goes directly into the pocket of a returned soldier and encourages him to keep on in a healthful employment and in a training which may be of great importance to him in the future.

The committee who have this matter in hand is as follows: Convener, Mrs. J. C. Early, Parks Convalescent Home; Mrs. T. C. Smith, Mrs. E. P. Dykeman, Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, Mrs. John Lecheur and Mrs. Colby Smith.

LARGE SUMS INVOLVED

In the case of the Berlin Machine Works, Ltd., vs. Randolph & Baker, Ltd., Mr. Justice Barry has delivered an important judgment. The plaintiffs' claim was for a balance alleged to be due on machinery installed in the defendants' saw mill. The case was tried before His Honor without a jury at a recent circuit in this city. Judgment was given for the plaintiffs for the amount of their claim, $8,289, and for the defendants for $9,555 on their counterclaim.

The plaintiffs are entitled to costs of the suit, and the defendants to costs on their counterclaim.

J. P. D. Lewin with Dr. W. B. Wallace as counsel, appeared for the plaintiffs and Messrs. Barnhill, Ewing & Sanford with M. G. Teed as counsel, appeared for the defendants.

ANOTHER LEAVES THE POLICE FORCE

Each man that joins the force must make a personal application to the chief and must pass the medical examination before his name is considered.
