"B" contends that, according to the rules governing a pitcher, one foot must be in contact with the pitcher's plateCHAMPION WOMAN

Mobbed the Umpire.
Twenty-five hundred angry fans swarmed down out of the stands on to the playing field at Tecumseh Park yesterday afternoon and made such a threatening demonstration against Umpire Bennett after he called the second game with Ottawa with no score in the tenth round, that the umpire fled the scene. The visitors won the initial battle by merging a couple of hits in the third period. President McCaffrey, of Toronto, was in the director's box looking over London and Ottawa for local possibilities.The Leading Sluggers.

Manager Dooin, of the Philadelphia National Baseball team declares the "epitaph" is responsible for an attack of diphtheria from which Pitcher Ad-Brennan is suffering. On the strength of this assertion he means to make an application to President Lynch of the National League, for permission for his pitchers to use disinfectant on the ball when they are opposing a spitalist.When It Pays.
Whether or not it pays to go into the market and bid for young players of promise, even if the prices seem high, is answered in the case of "Chick" Gandil, whose addition to the Washington Nationals virtually made the team. It is generally understood that he cost $10,000, including the assessed valuation of four players and a cash balance, the deal being similar in this sense to the one by which Russell went from Baltimore to the Athletics. Russell's purchase was a dead loss, but that was entirely the fault of the player, who put himself out of the game. So far Gandil has been a success. He has proved that he is a star fiddler, who were let out would be useful right now, as Cunningham was doing bench duty exclusively and Griffith was not using either Alers or Becker to any extent. MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—At the end of the present baseball season the "Baseball College" will make its debut, according to advice received by members of the Phillies. The college for the future stars of fandom is to be started by Charlie Carr, the original first baseman of the Athletics. He has been assured enough financial support to make the college a success from the start. President Navin of the Detroit club being one of the chief financial supporters.Baseball College.
Carr's present idea is to take the young players who have been secured for trial by the big league clubs and train them in the south during the winter. The college will be open during December, January and February, and the youngsters will get a thorough tryout and the club owners would receive an opportunity to get a line on the raw material. The plan is in line with the ideas of President Ben Johnson of the American League.King Cole Suspended.
"King" Cole, the Pittsburgh pitcher, recently acquired from the Reds, has been indefinitely suspended by Manager Fred Clarke, of the Pirates. "The King" has been in bed with what the club owners are as he recently took French leave and disappeared for a few days. Clarke left him in Pittsburgh when the Pirates were on a vacation trip. He is intended for the Regina.Sargent New Golf Champion.
Toronto, Aug. 9.—As a result of consistent good golf at every stage of the lengthy competition, George Sargent, of the Cherry Chase Club, Washington (D. C.), carried off the blue ribbon of the Canadian golf in the open championship over the Rosebush links this afternoon. The winner's score was 190, which works out at a fraction below 75 for each of the eighteen-hole rounds. His remarkable consistency is best shown, however, by a place at his four scores of 72, 76, 75 and 76. Over the last he held an advantage of three strokes over his nearest competitor, Charles Murray of Montreal, the former holder and runner-up. Sargent carried this to four in the penultimate round.Hockey.

THE NEAL INSTITUTE

A Worthy Institution for the Treatment of the Liquor Habit, Established in St. John.
An institution has recently been opened in St. John for the treatment of the liquor habit. It is situated on Crown street, corner King and Crown streets. It is one of the famous "Neal Institutes," which have been such a boon to all humanity, and especially to those who have had to contend with the great drink evil. By the Neal treatment it is claimed that perfect relief from the craving for strong liquor is given the patient in three days, and that he is forever freed from bondage. There are at present some sixty Neal institutes in the United States and seven in Canada.MORNING LOCALS.
In the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception, after low mass this morning, His Lordship Bishop Casey will confer minor orders on the candidates for the priesthood. The ceremony will be held at 10 o'clock. The common clerk has received the required number of names for a referendum to be held on the early closing of the city. He will compare this list with the names of those who voted in the last civic election. The matter will probably be referred to the meeting of the commissioners on Monday.Exhibition Athletic Meet.
At a meeting of the general executive of the exhibition association held yesterday afternoon $400 was granted the board of trustees for defraying a portion of the expense which will be incurred in putting on another Made In St. John exhibit. It was decided to co-operate with Physical Director Bandlow of the Y. M. C. A. in holding an all-comers athletic meet on the exhibition grounds during the big show, and that he is forever freed from bondage. Tenders were examined relative to the lighting of the buildings with tungsten lights and the matter of engaging bands for the outdoor pavilions was left with the manager.SO SOON.

It was decided at a meeting of the school board yesterday afternoon that the pupils of the city schools will turn out in force to greet the vicar royal party. After the meeting the principals of the schools met and read a notice by the school trustees that all children in Grade IV and upwards assemble on Wednesday, August 14, those in St. John west in Albert school; all others in High school in Union street. Teachers are also requested to attend. It is expected that 2,000 children will be in line. The route of procession has not been definitely decided upon, but may be from High school along Union street to Waterloo and down Waterloo to Haymarket Square and thence to the playgrounds, which are to be opened by the Duke. The children will be provided with flags."Did you ever see any one so afraid of draughts as Aunt Martha?"
