GOOD LIST OF ATTRACTIONS FOR HOLIDAY

Excursions, Visits to Suburbs, Theatre, Baseball Games and Other Ways of Enjoying the day

Victoria Day, as a holiday, is one which is generally looked forward to with more eager anticipation of pleasure, than almost any other such in the calendar, as it is the first with the summer sun in it, and is really the holiday which "starts the ball-rolling" in the path of summer pastimes for the remaining few months of warm weather. With fine weather tomorrow should be no exception to the rule, as the list of attractions is varied, and presents amusement, and diversion for all classes, and for lovers of all kinds of recreation.

Many anglers left the city today and yesterday for the woodland streams and lakes in the surrounding counties, the haunts of the trout, following the custom of the adherents of Isaac Walton for years past, which has been to make the 24th a day of pleasure with the rod and line.

Tomorrow will give many citizens an opportunity to visit suburban homes, and prepare them for the season of summer residence, and the number of those who will spend the day along the I. C. R. and C. P. R. in enjoying and arranging their cottages for the warm weather will be quite large. The colonies of summer folk at many of the more popular railway suburban resorts have been erected this spring, many of which the finishing touches will be given tomorrow. Although, perhaps, it may seem like work, the days of pleasure which are in anticipation, must be reckoned with and the balance weighed.

Several excursions are planned for those who are fond of a sail on the river, and many places of interest and attraction on the river may be visited by the different "steamship lines." At 8 a.m. the steamer "Sinnah" will leave for the Grand Falls, carrying a body of excursionists, under charter of the C. P. R. while the steamer "Champlain" will leave for the party for the Portland Y. M. A., up the Belleside. The steamer "Maine" will also convey excursionists as far as Gasquet, where connection will be made with the Victoria on her downward trip.

The "Union Jack," and a speech from the commodore, followed by a cruise on the river will comprise the main part of the day's amusement. The opening of the Royal Kanabec Yacht Club, while the St. John Boat Club will also have tomorrow as their opening day, and a short cruise up river will be taken by the motor boats.

For those who remain in the city the day of attraction is equally alluring and diverting. The local admirers of the baseball game will find pleasure at the Champlain grounds, which have undergone a complete renovation, in a contest between the St. John's and the Marathons in the forenoon, and another in the afternoon between the Canadians from Montreal and the Marathons. Both games are expected to be interesting, and will no doubt draw large crowds.

The Kirk Brown & Co. will present matinee and evening performances at the Opera House, while at the Nickel, Lyric, and Unique, special holiday entertainments will be presented, opening at 10 a.m. The bowling alleys will be in full operation.

From the foregoing list of events and attractions for the holiday, it should not be difficult for one to pick his choice of how to spend the day in pleasure seeking.

A MATTER WHICH CALLS FOR ACTION

Question of City Dumps is Much to the Fore—Complaint to Health Board About the Latest Filling Place

The matter of providing dumping grounds about the city for the disposal of refuse is every day becoming more serious, and the board of health is confronted with a difficult problem in making a place for the people to dispose waste matter, which is not supposed to include garbage. At a recent meeting of the city engineer said that there were only two dumps which were open for use, and citizens would readily see that in a city the size of St. John this is not nearly enough, when it is considered how rapidly garbage and refuse accumulate.

On the property in Mill street where the C. P. R. are tearing down buildings, a sign "Free Dump" was placed, and it was surprising how soon people took advantage of it. But today the board of health had several complaints about the place from residents in the neighborhood who claimed that the odor was offensive.

A board inspector visited the site and found that the odor savoured strongly of garbage, and the board will demand that no more be deposited there, but will permit ashes to be thrown on the lot.

In the central and southern sections of the city, the residents have difficulty in finding a repository for refuse and waste matter, while the same is true in the North End. In fact, in the latter place for some time private property has been used as a public dump, known as the "Elm street dump."

In Indian town some of the residents, particularly the parents of children who attend the Alexander school, are wondering whether or not some of the storekeepers and the citizens as well understood the full significance of the words, "Dump" as it applies to what is illustrated termed "Victoria Square." This is a large area used by numbers of children as a playground, and by numbers of grown people as a dumping ground, and not only are ashes thrown there, but rubbish and garbage as well, and the odors now arising from the place are none too fragrant or wholesome.

The need of an incinerator will be plainly seen by those who are observant or interested in the health of the city. M. Burns has written to ten other city boards regarding the operation, cost, etc., of such a plant.

PRESBYTERY DEPUTATION. A deputation from the St. John Presbytery, consisting of Rev. James Ross, Rev. Gordon Dickey and Rev. H. A. Anderson, visited Sussex and vicinity yesterday and held conferences with the officers of the congregations. A rearrangement of the boundaries of the Sussex and Norton congregations may be the outcome of the conference.
