forces home the lesson of the uncertainty of human affairs and of human life itself. A year ago money was plentiful. To-day, trade and industry have slowed down; incomes have dwindled. Money is scarce. Had death called you during the past year, what kind of Christmas would your widow and children be looking forward to now? A few cents a day invested in a Federal Life of Canada Policy will guarantee their future Christmas happiness. Is it not well worth while?

RESULT OF ELECTIONS.

The electors have spoken. They have chosen their representatives for 1915. Their decision must be accepted. While individual views in many respects remain today as pronounced and unalterable as though the ratifiers of Ingersoll had not gone to the polls on Monday, regret and fault-finding should perish at first thought. The wish of the masses has been gratified, astonishing as facts may appear to those who voted in the minority. The ballot is the people's weapon. It was undoubtedly wielded in one direction with greater force than nearly one half of the population desired, but it is this uncertainty that has placed elections and these races in the same category. It mistakes have been made in the selecting of the personnel of the council of 1915, the responsibility must be assumed by the entire community. Whatever the results—good or evil—the direct bearing will be upon the town itself in its relation to the progress of the times and the moral standard which true Canadian citizenship is endeavoring to make stronger all the more potential.

So far as the Mayoralty is concerned M. T. Buchanan can take to himself the satisfaction that victory offers. He must have thrown untold energy into a personally conducted campaign. Familiar with every turn and angle in the campaign route it is evident that Mr. Buchanan not only covered his ground systematically, but that beyond willing lieutenants. While it was the people who spoke, there undoubtedly were signs that should be interpreted as a warning to the future failure of Ingersoll.

There was one day of the voting population that must have remained solid and undivided, and when opportunity offers the same voting influence will doubtless be directed with equal, if not greater force against a candidate which he proved advantage, come to the confidence and moral interests of the town.

Thos. Seldon, although defeated, has no reason to feel discouraged. The margin separating victory from defeat was extremely narrow—one of the narrowest that he marked a Mayoralty contest in Ingersoll in many years. To Mr. Seldon and those who gave him support, belongs the credit of having reduced a majority in 1914 from 230 to 10. Knocking off 220 votes was in itself no small task.

For once strict gossip gave no indication of whether ultimate result would be. The candidates themselves went away in the matter of majorities. Each encountered such a friendly sentiment that large majorities were counted upon. It was impossible to gauge results to the sentiment during the voting hours, and relying upon what they had decided in the course of their canvassing, the two candidates remained optimistic and confident up to the last.

In selecting the members of the council the electors had many things to weigh. Now that the battle of the polls is over, it is to be hoped the men who have been honored, will be seized with the importance of the trust and confidence placed in them, and settle down to a year of earnest, harmonious endeavor, having constantly before them the making of a larger and better Ingersoll.

WEEK OF PRAYER.

The first service of the week of prayer was held in the Methodist church last night when one hundred and sixty-five worshippers were present. Rev. C. J. McLean, preached a practical sermon. The choir contributed an anthem. The Revs. Scott, Perkins, Macdonald, McLean and Hill were on the platform, each one taking part. Rev. Mr. Hill presided. The meeting tonight will be in St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Perkins will preach and all the other ministers will be present and take part in the four congregations joining in fraternal service.

Verdict For Buchanan In Mayoralty Contest

Re-elected for a Second Term by a Majority of Ten—Spirited Campaign and Uncertainty Until Last Poll Was Heard From—Jas. Henderson and F. McDougall Divide First Place Honors in Contest for Councillors—Majority of 173 for the Local Improvement By-law—The Vote in Detail.

Elections usually have surprises, and what transpired in Ingersoll on Monday was no exception to the rule. Interest in the outcome was maintained at a high pitch throughout the day and eager crowds gathered at the different polling divisions and in front of the Chronicle office awaiting the announcements.

By a majority of ten, M. T. Buchanan was re-elected Mayor. Because of the various questions that had entered prominently into the campaign, more than ordinary interest centered on the Mayoralty. The optimism of the candidates inspired their supporters with confidence and up to the time that the actual figures were obtained both factions were hopeful of a victory. While the result justified this sentiment, the margin being so narrow—calculations of many who were claiming large majorities were shattered.

Although returned, the majority of Mr. Buchanan in the contest of 1914 was greatly reduced. At that time he was elected by a majority of 230. In this connection the total figures are of considerable interest. In 1914, the total majority vote was 1,170, while on Monday the total majority vote was 1,160. Divisions four and five were responsible for the outstanding slump in Mr. Buchanan's vote on Monday. A year ago the Buchanan figures in these divisions were: Division four, 120; Division five, 136. The figures Monday were: Division four, 92; Division five, 87. Although defeated, it will be seen that there was a tremendous change of sentiment and the majority of 230 given Mr. Buchanan a year ago, was reduced to the extent of 230.

Organization undoubtedly scored heavily on behalf of the re-elected Mayor. Years of experience equipped him for this phase of the work, while it was apparent that rallied to his assistance was an element that never divides. There were several factors that entered prominently into the campaign all of which served to intensify the interest of ratifiers.

For the Councillor Seats.

There was also much interest in connection with the contest for the six councillor seats. The presence in the field of four of the councillors of 1914, two of previous experience and three of the new blood type had a tendency to complicate matters, as various views were formed as to the policy that would be followed both individually and collectively.

Two of the councillors of 1914—Jas. Henderson and F. McDougall—divided the honors at the head of the poll. They ran evenly, each receiving 751 votes. R. W. G. Bloor, a new man, was next in order with a total vote of 655. W. J. Elliott received a total of 631. S. M. Douglas 626, and M. J. Comiskey, 610 votes. Mr. G. M. McKay was the member of the council of 1914 to fall by the wayside. The local improvement by-law was carried by a majority of 173.

Between eight and nine o'clock a number of citizens gathered in the town hall and listened to short addresses by the following candidates: The Mayor, F. McDougall, Reg. Bloor, M. J. Comiskey, G. M. McKay and E. DeWitt Hunt.

CARDS OF THANKS

To the Electors of Ingersoll, Ladies and Gentlemen—I wish to thank you for your votes on Monday in connection with my election as a Councillor for 1915. It will be my aim to give you the best service in my power during the year.
Respectfully yours,
S. M. Douglas.

To the Electors of Ingersoll, Ladies and Gentlemen—Accept my sincere thanks for the excellent vote you gave me as a candidate for Councillor in the elections on Monday. The vote is all the more appreciated because of the fact that I did not personally canvass. The splendid expression of confidence from the electors is gratifying, and especially the very large vote by my immediate neighbors. A man appreciates the confidence of all his fellow citizens and especially that of his neighbors. Again thanking you for this expression of your confidence and wishing you a prosperous and happy new year, I remain,
Respectfully yours,
W. J. Elliott.

To the Electors of Ingersoll, Ladies and Gentlemen—For your vote and influence on Monday, I thank you.
G. M. McKay.

OPENING GAME IN JUNIOR SERIES

WOODSTOCK TOOK MEASURE OF INGERSOLL SEVEN TO TUNE OF TEN TO TWO.

In their initial O.H.A. game Ingersoll juniors were defeated by Woodstock at the Mason's Arena Monday night by a score of 10 to 2. The quality of hockey was below what Ingersoll and Woodstock juniors provided a year ago, but both teams being composed almost entirely of recruits this was to be expected.

In the early stages particularly the home team hesitated to follow up with the slam-bang energy necessary to successfully stem the tide of defeat. No doubt some of the players were embarrassed. Towards the close of the game they were more courageous and at times showed very dangerous form. The play was not assisted as the score would indicate. Two of the bright spots of the local seven were Moulton at right defence and Hollands in goal. Hollands turned aside many well directed shots and at all stages showed real form in the net. But for his good work the score would have been larger. Clem Moulton received the plaudits of the fans when he made an end-on-end rush and shot the rubber into the net at the resumption of hostilities in the second period. The local boys showed speed, but did not have the confidence of their opponents, and as a result they frequently oversteered the rubber as it bewildered. However, they were pitted against a fairly strong team. With an ace margin on which to work the indications are that in two, or three seasons Ingersoll will have a junior team that will attain championship form. The management of the juniors have adopted a wise plan to develop a strong team.

The Woodstock team is fortunate in having a very husky defence. Their forwards are also fast and on the whole play a strong, consistent game. Harry King as rover, is an ex-Ingersoll boy and his work Monday night was followed with considerable interest. The scores for the three periods were 3-0, 7-2 and 10-2. The teams: Ingersoll—Goal, Hollands; defence, C. Moulton and Henry; rover, McMurray; centre Dundas; left wing, Boles; right wing, Hoppe. Woodstock—Goal, Childs; defence, Palmer and Forden; rover, King; centre, Martin; right wing, Parker; left wing, Holton. Referee—Lorne Fraser, Paris.

CLOSE SCORE IN GAME AT PARIS

INGERSOLL INTERMEDIATES DEFEATED IN TWENTY MINUTES OVERTIME BY SCORE OF 10-9.

At Paris Monday night Ingersoll intermediates figured in one of the most thrilling battles that has taken place in the rink of that town in many years. At the end of the regulation time the teams were tied, the score being 9-9. To settle the question of supremacy 20 minutes overtime was played, during which Paris counted, making the final standing 10-9.

The Ingersoll team experienced difficulty in adapting their play to the small rink. In the early stages of the game Paris forced to the front but in the final period Ingersoll showed excellent form, and according to spectators had the Parisians on the run. Wilson in goal performed like a veteran, keeping out many shots that looked like certain counters. The scores were received here at the end of each period, and a large crowd remained on the street during the overtime play. The teams: Ingersoll—Goal, Wilson; defence, W. Moulton and Firth; rover, Henderson; centre, Gregory; left, Petrie; right, Jackson. Paris—Goal, Brown; defence, P. Gill and Roy Meigs; rover, Woodson; centre, Chas. Woodson; left, A. Peebles; right, Parsons. Referee—John Moxom, Toronto.
