Wedding Bells

Dear Sir,—With your permission I wish to make a few remarks on a very pretty wedding which took place on Tuesday afternoon, June 4th, at 5 o'clock, in the Methodist Church at Clarke's Beach, when Miss Isabella Bradbury, daughter of Mrs. Charles Earle, of Shearston, and Mr. Azariah Butler, son of Mr. Charles Butler, of Clarke's Beach, were united in the Holy Bonds of Matrimony by the Rev. Mr. Robb.

The bride was dressed in a suit of cream nun's veiling, worked with light blue silk and trimmings, with a light blue bridal veil surmounted with a wreath of orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Mr. F. G. Winsor, of Bay Roberts, gave the bride away. Miss Minnie Jerrett acted as bridesmaid.

After the ceremony the party, which consisted of nine carriages, drove up toward Shearston. On the way to the Goules and returned by the Goules Road to their future home, where Mr. Winsor took a photo of the party, after which a supper was served to the party and guests, which numbered in all about 150 persons.

The bride received a large number of very valuable presents and most pleasant wishes for the future. The weather being excellent a most enjoyable time was spent by all, the party breaking up in the early hours of Wednesday morning, when the young folks returned home wondering who would be next.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space in your valuable paper, I am, a well-wisher to the married couple and one who enjoyed the company.

REDNER.

S. S. Kyle Arrives

The Reid Newfoundland Company's steamer, the S. S. Kyle, commanded by Capt. Wm. Parsons, the new boat for the Labrador Service this summer, reached Bay Roberts about 6:30 p.m. Tuesday to take on board freight and passengers. The Guardian did not have the opportunity of fully viewing the ship, but from what we did see the boat appears to be a handsome and well-fitted out vessel for the Labrador service. The Government has arranged with the Reid Co. for a weekly service this summer with two good boats in commission, so that the needs of our fishermen in that respect will be well looked after. She left port again about 8 o'clock.

We have referred other years to the steamer not hauling in to some wharf in this harbor to take on board passengers and freight, and we regret to see the same thing happening again this year. We are informed that steamers drawing 18 ft. of water can haul in to two wharves in Bay Roberts. Considerable inconvenience is caused by our people having to put out in boats with freight and passengers, and we hope that when the next steamer calls at Bay Roberts arrangements will be made for her to haul into some wharf.

Mrs. (Capt.) S. Bartlett died at Brigus on Thursday night, May 29th.

The Scandal Monger

A short time ago a woman who was a nervous invalid received a newspaper clipping with notations on the margin reflecting on the character of her husband. Whether it was meant for a joke or whether it was the handwork of some dealer in scandal, it had the effect of so preying upon the mind of the sick woman that she committed suicide.

Appropos of this there was a decision handed down recently by the Supreme Court of California which ought to prove effective in quieting the activities in those who delight in spreading evil tidings about their neighbors. One woman divorced her husband because of evil reports which were brought to her by a friend. She afterwards discovered that the reports were false, and thereupon sued the friend for damages. The lower court ruled against her by declaring that the husband was the aggrieved party, but the Supreme Court declared that either the husband or the wife under the circumstances had grounds for damages.

We have little to say in favor of the woman who so easily believed the charges against her husband. Very likely she could have discovered their falsity before as well as after the divorce. But the matter is interesting as showing that there is redress for those who are the victims of scandal mongers. Where the law of God forbidding the bearing of false witness against one's neighbor is ineffective, perhaps the fear of a suit for damages will restrain the unruly tongue.

But if all who are guilty of this sin were brought to court what long sessions there would be. There are many people who do not know how to control their tongues. They are incorrigible gossips. Nothing is too sacred for them, nothing too personal. And men and women who would scorn to steal a cent of their neighbor do not hesitate to rob him of his good name before the community. Yet what is wealth compared with one's good name? How well Shakespeare has described it in "Othello" which may be called the tragedy of the scandal monger.

Good name in man and woman, dear to lord, Is the immediate jewel of their souls; Who steals my purse steals trash; 'tis something, nothing; 'Twas mine, 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands; But he that filches from me my good name Robs me of that which not enriches him And makes me poor indeed.

The Guardian sent to any part of Labrador or French Shore for the summer months for 25 cents.

There is general activity in this section just now in anticipation of the coming fishery operations. Schooners are being outfitted, trap boats built and some of them fitted with motor engines, codtraps repaired, twine barked and crews being engaged. Some schooner owners and planters are finding it difficult to secure crews, while the man wanting credit is also placed at a disadvantage.

Methodist Sunday School Anniversary

One of the finest Sunday School Anniversaries that the congregation of Central Church has been privileged to hear was held on Sunday afternoon last. The latent and unexpected talent displayed evoked favourable comment from all quarters. The selections and their rendering certainly reflected credit upon those who had supervised the training of the scholars. It is to be regretted that so few opportunities are given for the exercise of the talent undoubtedly possessed by those who participated in the programme. We feel sure that we voice the sentiments of all present when we express the wish that such services would become at least quarterly. It would help give the Sunday School its proper status as a most important and vital part of Church work. The Report showed the schools to be in a flourishing condition. A large collection gave further evidence of the appreciation of the congregation.

Getting "Milk"

There are a number of fishermen who have joined the F. P. U. who have placed themselves in the rather awkward position of getting milk from a cow that they have not fed. In other words, they get employment or supplies which puts them in a way of making a living for themselves and families, from certain individuals but they do not consider it their duty to in turn support and help and cooperate with that individual but rather another.

They are getting or expecting to get milk from the cow that they never feed.

Mrs. Bendix Olsen (before her marriage Miss Fanny Chard) arrived at Coley's Point from Aarhus, Denmark, about a month ago. She came on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Chard. Her husband is managing editor of a Danish commercial paper, "The Dansk Handels Blade."
