OVER ONE HUNDRED HOURS WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER. TWO FISHERMEN ARE SAVED

James Knight of Yarmouth, and Pearl Hardy of Annapolis, Lost in the Bay—Nothing to Eat from Tuesday Morning Till Saturday Afternoon—Land at Mispec and Are Cared For.

To be tossed about in the Bay of Fundy for more than one hundred hours, without food or water, were two Nova Scotia fishermen, James Knight and Pearl Hardy. Knight is a resident of Yarmouth, while his companion belongs to Annapolis. They arrived in the city shortly after noon yesterday and are being cared for.

Lost at Sea. The two fishermen were members of the crew of the fishing schooner Rosaway. After breakfast on the schooner last Tuesday morning Knight and Hardy set out in a dory to fish. They had not been more than a couple of hours clear of the vessel when a dense fog set in, and soon after they missed hearing the fog horn sounded on the schooner to guide the men to safety. The two men started to row in the direction where they thought the schooner was, but after rowing some time and not hearing any sound in answer to their shouts, they realized they were lost in the fog. There was nothing to eat, but they hoped very much that the fog might lift when they would be seen by the lookout on their vessel and be picked up. The fog did not lift, however. The afternoon passed and darkness covered the sea. The situation for the men was indeed most trying.

All night they sat in their dory listening for some sound from the schooner and frequently shouting hoping that, perhaps, their voices might be heard, but shouting was in vain, nothing more than the swash of the sea could be heard by them. The fog never appeared to be thicker than on that Tuesday night and the fishermen could not see half a boat's length ahead of them.

Nothing to Eat. In addition to the loneliness of being out in an open boat, far from land, with no compass, the unfortunate men had nothing to eat. When darkness cleared early Wednesday morning, the lost fishermen were still in a bad plight, for the fog was thick. They took turns on watch, hoping each minute to hear the welcome sound of a fog horn, which meant a possible rescue, but no such sound greeted their ears.

Another day and night passed, which brought them to Thursday morning. Although the men were gradually weakening from hunger and exhaustion, they fought hard for their lives, but being hardy fishermen did not slide in their boat, but rowed mile after mile, hoping they would keep nearly a straight course. They knew the distance between New Brunswick and the Nova Scotia coast was about forty-five miles and by chance they hoped to sight land.

They Arrive Safe. All day Thursday and Friday they did not once see the sun. When the

R. K. Y. C. SERVICE WAS WELL ATTENDED YESTERDAY

Upwards of Two Thousand Persons Heard Eloquent Address by Rev. Dr. J. A. Morrison.

Upwards of two thousand persons gathered on the shore at Crystal Beach yesterday morning for the annual church service under the auspices of the Royal Kanabecossal Yacht Club at eleven o'clock.

The day was all that could be desired from the standpoint of weather and many took advantage of that fact to spend a few hours on the river after the service. Commodore Chesley of the St. John Power Boat Club headed a large delegation from that organization. The Anglican service of intercession was used and the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. A. Morrison, as the chaplain, Rev. Dr. G. M. Campbell, missed train connections on Sunday and was unable to be present.

Dr. Morrison was approached at a late hour on Saturday night and kindly consented to take Dr. Campbell's place and the large audience listened with rapt attention as the speaker traced the cause leading up to the present struggle and its progress to date. Dr. Morrison's oratorical powers are well known and despite the short time for preparation yesterday's sermon ranked among the best he has ever delivered and will linger long in the minds of those who were privileged to hear it.

Music was provided by an orchestra under the direction of Morton L. Harrison. The offering, which was a generous one, will be handed over to the Mayor's military fund. The names of the donors are: Rev. Dr. G. M. Campbell, Dr. Morrison, Dr. J. A. Morrison, Dr. J. C. Chesley, commodore of the St. John Power Boat Club, and the speaker, Dr. Morrison. Before the service closed Mr. Morrison thanked Mr. Morrison for his kindness in stepping into the breach and consenting to preach on such short notice.

The names of thirty-eight members on the honor roll of these four have made the supreme sacrifice and are being graves in the foreign land. The names of the dead are David B. Clarkson, J. M. Haen, S.
