

them had much in their courses which identified formal or liberal education with the activities of the homes. The substantial advantages of co-education, in this larger sense, are already evident. The homes, the schools, and the farms are finding the common center from which radiate plans and labors: "A little child shall lead them."