Objects to Dust

A King street merchant called the attention of a reporter this morning to the dust and dirt on King street.

The dust was flying everywhere and the street was badly in need of sweeping and slushing. The merchants complain that they have to keep their doors and windows closed to protect their goods. The Board of Works should look after the matter.

Spoiled Petition

The bill this morning on Murray street has been knocked out. After repeated signatures and withdrawals and withdrawals from the withdrawal, the bill, representative Mr. Page, got a petition that he thought would win, but before City Clerk Merritt got through going over the petition there were enough withdrawals came in to spoil the petition, and Murray street just where it was last fall after the initiative was taken.

Explanation Wanted

A citizen called attention this morning to the fact that there was a difference between the estimated cost of the market building voted on by the people and the lowest tender for the same of nearly $3,000.

City Engineer Jones and Assessor W. H. Gonne figured that the building would cost something over $27,000. The lowest tender was over $30,000. It has been said that changes were made in this plan before tenders were asked for. If this were done, such action was contrary to the wishes of the Council, as the motion passed at the Council Board distinctly stated that tenders should be asked for the plan voted on by the people.

The Market Price

Ald. Westman remarked this morning that there was apparently a difference between the figures of City Engineer Jones and Assessor W. H. Gonne and the tender, but there was in reality less difference. Extras had been added to the plans that almost made up the difference. Besides the City Engineer and Mr. Gonne had figured on getting about $200 for the material in the market building. Mr. Westman is quite confident that the building would have been constructed at the estimated cost if the extras had not been added. These included an extension of the market shed, the addition of two meat stalls and the covering over of the space between the shed and the police station.
