This perhaps may be partially accounted for by the open winter last year and its effects on stocks. The wholesale houses report a brisk demand for carpets and house furnishings, and the quality of the goods favored is a matter for common remark. Wool, linen and cotton staple goods are held very firmly, and prices show no indication of giving way. Linens particularly seem to have a strong inclination toward the upward plane.

Flour and Grain.—Business in wheat is slightly more active. Prices in this market keep fairly steady, but in Chicago they have moved up a little. Deliveries of Ontario grain have been larger this week. Flour is firm, with ninety per cent. patents selling at $3.15. In millfeed shorts keeps its firmness, but bran is a fraction easier. Oats is firm. Other grains are unchanged.

Fruits and Vegetables.—Fruits and vegetables are moving satisfactorily, and are selling at good prices. Oranges particularly are firm, while in lemons, owing to the scarcity, a rise in price is expected, and they are likely to be high
