

METEOROLOGICAL. Reported for the Dominion Gov't by G. A. Blair, Esq. SEPTEMBER. Table with columns for DATE, Time, Height of Thermometer, Maximum Thermometer, Minimum Thermometer, and Barometer.

The minus sign thus— at the left hand, denotes below zero, its absence denotes above zero.

Farm, Garden & Household.

Song of Labor. "I love the ploughman's whistle, The reaper's cheerful song, The sower's oft-repeated shout, Spraying his stock along; The bleat of the market-man, As he hies him to the town, The hallo from the tree-top, As the ripening fruit comes down; The busy sound of the threshers, As they clean the ripened grain; The husker's joke and catch of glee, Near the moonlight on the plain, The kind voice of the drayman, The shepherd's gentle call— These sounds of pleasant industry, I love— I love them all."

Potatoes for Animals. A writer upon this subject has said that "potatoes in the raw state ought never to be given to any animal, with the exception of sheep or geese." It is said "a goose will thrive better, and the flesh will be more gratefully flavored upon raw potatoes, sliced, than if more or less mainly fed upon any other article."

soil is either water-logged at one time, or so dry at another. Deep culture does answer, because the excess of water passes off before it can dissolve the fertilizers and consequently before they can be carried down the soil. In lands of shallow top soil, subsoiling must be restored, to create depth of soil. There is no economy in applying any manure to a shallow soil resting on an impervious hardpan. And herein lies the main objection by many to artificial manures. They do not put the soil in a condition to make the most of them, and perceiving no benefit to the crop, are the ones to be blamed. Either plough the 12 inches deep, or if that will not answer, (on account of thin top soil,) subsoil till that depth is attained, then apply manure, and the due amount of moisture will be secured.

CASTOR OIL FOR AXLES.—Castor oil is undoubtedly the best, and therefore the cheapest for iron axles, which should always be wiped clean. Col. Curtis informs us that his market wagon would run only twenty miles before requiring to be greased when lard was used, but with castor oil it ran sixty miles, and was good for twenty more—a big difference, and worth remembering. He further remarks that a wheel well lubricated will turn one-half easier, and wear as long again, a gain of 150 per cent, by the liberal use of oil.

Health Hints.

For poisoning from phosphorus, as when children suck matches, give a teaspoonful of magnesia and then, freely, gum arabic water, a glass of water, and a little phosphorus is taken.

If troubled with wakefulness on retiring to bed eat three or four small onions; they will act as a gentle and soothing narcotic. Onions are also excellent to eat when one is much exposed to cold.

A teaspoonful or more of powdered borax thrown into the bath-tub while bathing will communicate a velvety softness to the water and at the same time invigorate and rest the bathers. Persons troubled with nervousness or wakeful nights will find this kind of a bath a great benefit.

A noted cure for neuralgia is hot vinegar vaporized. Heat a flat-iron sufficiently hot to vaporize the vinegar, cover this with some woolen material, which is moistened with vinegar, and the apparatus is then applied at once to the painful spot. The application may be repeated until the pain disappears.

Deferred Matter.

How the Pyramids were Built.

Brugesh Bey, the eminent Egyptianologist, says, in his work on Egypt: "From the far distance you see the giant form of the pyramids, as if they were regularly crystallized mountains, which the ever-creating nature has called forth from the rock, and fit them to open up the gates of heaven. And yet they are but tombs, built by the hands of men, which have been the admiration and astonishment of the ancient and modern world. Perfectly adjusted to the cardinal points of the horizon, they differ in breadth and height, as shown by the measurements of the three oldest as follows: 1. The Pyramid of Khufu—height, 450-75 feet; breadth, 746 feet. 2. Pyramid of Khafra—height, 447.5 feet; breadth, 687.5 feet. 3. Pyramid of Menka—height, 203 feet; breadth, 352.78 feet.

The construction of these enormous masses of masonry long a insoluble mystery, but later generations have succeeded in solving the problem. According to their ancient usages and customs, the Egyptians, while they still sojourned in the Nile valley, were ever mindful to turn their backs to the region where the departed Eos took leave of life, where the door of the tomb opened, while the body well concealed, at length found rest, to rise again to a new existence, after an appointed time of long, long years, in the seat of liberty bound to the body, was at liberty to leave the grave and return to it during the day-time, in any form it chose. In such a belief, it was the custom to begin to dig the grave for the king as soon as he mounted the throne, and the sovereign gave orders to a nobleman, the master of all the buildings of his land, to plan the work and to see that the kernel of the future edifice was raised on the limestone soil of the desert, in the form of a small pyramid built in stone, which the king constructed and finished interior formed the king's eternal dwelling, with his stone sarcophagus lying on the rocky floor. Let us suppose that this first building was finished while the Pharaoh still lived in the bright sunlight. A second covering was added, stone by stone, on the outside of the kernel; a third to this second, and to this events fourth and the mass of the giant building grew greater the longer the king enjoyed existence. And then, at last, when it became almost impossible to extend the area of the pyramid further, a casing of hard stone, polished like glass, and fitted accurately into the angles of the steps, covered the vast mass of the sepulchre, presenting a gigantic triangle on each of its four faces.

More than seventy such pyramids arose on the margin and in the center of each telling of a king of whom it was at once the tomb and monument. Had not the greater number of these sepulchres and the thousands of stoneworkers devoted to the foundation, and had the names of the builders of these which still stand been accurately preserved, it would have been easy for the inquirer to prove and make clear by calculation what was originally, and of necessity, the proportion between the masses of the pyramids and the years of the reigns of their respective builders.

An ordinary woman's waist is thirty inches around. An ordinary man's arm is about thirty inches long. How admirable are they works, O Nature!

Arctic Exploration. Adventures and Discoveries of the Franklin Search Party.

THREE THOUSAND MILES BY SLEDGE.

The Herald's New Bedford special says the members of the Franklin search party, under command of Lieut. Schwatka, were picked up by Capt. Baker, of the bark "Georgiad Mar" of New Bedford, at Depot Island on the first of August, they having returned to that point from their sledge journey to King Williams' Land on the 4th of March of the present year. The sledge journey was the longest ever made through the unexplored Arctic region, the party having been absent from the base operations in Hudson Bay eleven months and four days, and travelled 3,000 miles. This is the only sledge journey ever made that covered the entire arctic winter. The expedition successfully withstood the greatest cold ever encountered by white men. On January 3rd the thermometer sank 103 degrees below freezing point. During the summer and fall of 1879 they made a complete search of King Williams' land adjacent to the main land, travelling over the route pursued by the crews of the "Erebus" and "Terror" upon their return to Back's River, and buried the bones of all those unfortunates remaining above ground, and erected monuments. Their search established the fact that the records of the Franklin expedition are lost beyond recovery. The Nachitico Esquimaux who had found the sealed tin box filled with books where the last survivors of Franklin's party are supposed to have finally perished were interviewed. These natives broke open the box and drew out the precious records, which were then either scattered or destroyed by children. They also saw known that one of Franklin's ships, drifted down Victoria Strait, and was wrecked by the Eskimos, who found it near the island of Grant Point, during the spring of 1849. At that time one man was dead in the steers. During the last chapter of the history of the Franklin expedition, they have also brought the remains of Lieutenant John Irving, third officer of the "Terror," which was identified by the iridescent medals on his open grave. The party endured many hardships and threatened starvation on their return to Hudson Bay, where an ample supply of provisions had been left with Capt. Barry of the schooner "Eothen," but Barry for some unexplained cause had left for home, carrying with him the much needed supplies.

American journals are perceiving that the present Canadian tariff is going to be permanent, except perhaps in some minor matters, and accordingly we find them freely expressing their views. The Age of Steel, a St. Louis trade journal, approves of the present tariff, and thus expresses its opinion of its opponents. The Age says: "Those who are opposing those noble, aggressive spirits there in their work of developing their industrial and manufacturing resources are the ones who are doing the community clogging and hindering the car of progress in its onward movement. They are just such men as would reject all our iron works and factories in this country could be closed up to day and their more than 3,000,000 operatives be turned adrift and starved on the roadside." The Age advises Canadian farmers to learn this fact: that it would be to their disadvantage were factories closed, for so many would be added to the producers of farm products, while the price of manufactured goods required by the agricultural community would be increased.

The Church of England has 872 parishes or churches in London, against 620 ten years ago. Of these churches 409 have weekly and 43 daily communion. The latter item shows an increase of 30 in ten years. Some 417 have Sunday day services; 245 daily service; 375 supplied choir; a gain of 261 since 1869; 270 free seats a gain of 121 in ten years; 33 increase in vestments; increase 19 in increase; 56 altar sashes; and 33 candles on the altar. The "eastward position" is taken in 214 churches.

ON THE VERGE OF THE GRAVE. Such was the Condition of Moses no Walker, of Derry, N. H., with congestion of the Lungs and chronic Catarrh.
