Parliament.

The wearisome debate on the Budget speech is still progressing, although an effort was made last week to bring it to a close but without success. The leader of the opposition however promised that all the speeches would be delivered by Tuesday, (yesterday), and if that promise has been fulfilled the debate has been closed, and the business of the session will again move on.

The McGreevy investigation has been proceeded with and much information elicited of a character not at all related by the Liberal members of the House, who would like to shut out some of the information forthcoming which went to prove that sums were subscribed to Mercer's election funds, and the whole matter is being thoroughly investigated. That the result will be the resignation of Mr. McGreevy is not at all unlikely, but so far no evidence has been elicited sustaining Mr. Tarte's charges against Sir Hector Langevin, and as Mr. Tarte proposes to call no more witnesses it seems that his case is all in without having the effect intended or proving the charges made by that gentleman.

Northumberland Prohibitory Alliance.

The annual meeting of the Northumberland Co. Prohibitory Alliance was held in the Temperance Hall, Chatham, on Thursday 23rd inst., at 10 a. m. President W. C. Anselow in the chair. Meeting opened with prayer by Rev. J. D. Murray. After routine business, the President read his second annual report, reviewing the present temperance situation in Canada, and making a number of suggestions in reference to the work of the Alliance in this country. On motion the report was received, and taken up for consideration. Rev. N. McKay, in taking up that part of the report having reference to the appointment of a committee to examine into and report upon the Prohibition question, said he believed that that action was not in the interests of the promotion of the Prohibition movement and he moved the following resolutions:

1st That we are pleased that such a large number of petitions asking for national prohibition has been presented to Parliament this year, thus showing the advanced temperance sentiment of the people, and

2nd That we regret that the Parliament of Canada has tampered with this question by appointing a Commission to collect information in reference thereto in foreign countries, when this question must be settled by the temperance sentiment of the people of this country, and

3rd That we would strongly urge that in the appointment of this Commission due regard be had to the necessity of appointing at least one-half of its members of temperance men and prohibitionists, and that the Government be urged to have the report ready for the next session of Parliament.

After several hours of discussion the resolutions were adopted and the meeting adjourned to the next session of the Alliance.

A general discussion was had as to the duties, work and utility of the present Inspector under the C. T. A. A good deal of information was given, and the President and Secretary were unanimously re-elected, and the following were elected Vice-Presidents:—

James Henderson, for Newcastle; William Anderson, for Chatham; George Fowle, for Hardwick; David Topp, for South Esk; Otto Hildebrand, for Blackville; Frederick Price, for Ladlow; Rogersville; Joseph Simpson, for Anikew; Alex. Campbell, for Glenelg; John Menzies, for North Esk; John Reiss, for Derry; William Swin, for Blisdel; D. Baldwin, for Nelson.

The executive committee of last year was re-appointed, and on motion, was instructed to make a recommendation to the Municipal Council in the matter of the C. T. A. Inspectors.

The following resolutions were moved and adopted:—That instead of the provision for Semi-annual meetings, there be a yearly meeting, and special meetings to be called by the President at any time when deemed needful; Also,

That a committee of seven, consisting of Messrs. T. Marshall, N. McKay, J. McCov, and Messrs. J. Henderson, D. P. MacLachlan, H. S. Miller, and John Menzies be appointed for the purpose of making arrangements for holding temperance meetings in the different parts and parishes of the county, having in view the promotion and strengthening of temperance sentiment the dissemination of information regarding the present situation, the duties incumbent on temperance men, and the further education of the public on the prohibition question.

Some further business relating to the Alliance's work and future operations was transacted, and after a vote of thanks passed to the Sons of Temperance Division for the use of its Hall the Alliance adjourned to meet on the call of the President.

A Pleasant Bond Of.

A number of the friends of Mr. Patrick Hennessy, of Newcastle, learning that he was to leave on Thursday night for Quebec to take the steamer Parthenon for a trip to his native land thought proper to express their appreciation of him as a friend, citizen, and public man, and about forty of his old friends met on Wednesday evening in Liberal Hall. Two tables were laid out the hall and were spread with a display of delicacies calculated to tempt the most abstemious. But before being seated the chairman, Mr. J. R. Nicholson, called the assembly to order, and proceeded to read to Mr. Hennessy the following Address:

To Patrick Hennessy Esq.,
Newcastle, N. B.

DEAR SIR,
We, your friends of Newcastle, assembled, having heard of your intention to visit your native land in a few days, feel from our past intimate acquaintance with you, and from the knowledge that we cannot allow this occasion to pass without expressing our kindly feelings towards you, and regret that our friendly intercourse will be interrupted for the few short months of your absence.

We trust that under the guidance of a kind Providence, your journey across the ocean may be one of ease and comfort, and that on arrival at your birth place, your cherished anticipations of meeting the relatives and friends of your youth may be fully realized and a long period of uninterrupted enjoyment await you.

We trust that the renewal of old acquaintances and the mingling with old comrades and associations, as well as the air of your native land, may be such that you shall return to your family and friends, invigorated and strengthened in health. And for many years to come continue in the future as in the past, to fill your position in this country with credit and honor to yourself and friends.

We wish you to convey to Mrs. Hennessy and family our best wishes for their future happiness and prosperity, and trust that she and they may be cheered in your temporary absence, by the thought that they have many friends surrounding them, and who will rejoice with them on your fully expected restoration to health which this trip promises.

In conclusion, we wish you a prosperous voyage and speedy return. Signed—

Mr. Hennessy made the following Reply:

Newcastle, July 15th, 1891.

ASSEMBLED FRIENDS:—
The circumstances and the friends that I feel myself surrounded by this evening have awakened within me emotions of pleasure and gratitude which I feel myself at a loss for words to fittingly express. The assemblage of so many of my fellow citizens and these words of friendship and good will towards me have touched chords of feeling which will not cease to vibrate as long as memory endures.

During an interval of nearly forty years in this cold but not inhospitable country, in adversity as well as prosperity, how often has my memory carried me back to that green (but unfortunate) Isle of the Sea; how often in my dreams have I found myself with my youthful companions on the green road that leads to the old school house under the trees; how often have I wandered by the rippling brook winding way through the moors, to the sea; how often have I hurried to the old cross roads to join my youthful companions in our boyish sports; and now on the eve of my departure to the old land, the land of my birth (a country whose history no lover of freedom can read without emotion and whose name excites wonder, admiration and regret in the mind of every man with whom patriotism is not a reproach), to visit once more the scenes and companions of my childhood days. I cannot express the feelings of pleasure I enjoy in seeing so many of my fellow citizens around me this evening wishing me a fond good bye and expressing their fervent hopes for my safe return. I thank you all for your generous and kindly feelings towards me, for if there is any one thing more dear to the human heart it is in having the confidence and respect of our fellow men.

In my opening remarks I referred to Miramichi as a cold but not inhospitable climate, but like all other countries it has its shade and its sunshine; it offers innumerable obstacles to the home seeker, but a stout heart, perseverance and industry will overcome them. Our country may not be as wealthy as some countries we read of; it may not offer the same glittering advantages to the emigrants as the great republic to the south of us, but experience teaches that so many of my fellow citizens have their vocations and their disappointments, and if we have not the wealth and pomp of other countries, if we unfortunately have few wealthy men in our midst, yet on the other hand we have comparatively no poverty amongst us, our country is clear of class distinction which is the curse of older and wealthier countries, and if we cannot boast of having palatial buildings and vast armies we have other privileges of a higher and nobler order; we can breathe the pure air of freedom in this country of ours, we enjoy civil and religious liberty to the fullest extent; here every man can worship God at his own altar according to the dictates of his own conscience, in our social and commercial intercourse we are but one people, our population are a hardy industrious race who generally mind their own business and who honorably and honestly follow the particular calling providence has marked out for each.

I thank you for Mrs. Hennessy, she can very well appreciate your kind reference to her. No doubt but during my temporary absence her duties will be increased, but she is willing to undertake the extra labor to give me an opportunity to visit my native land.

And now in conclusion, I thank you again for your kindly feelings towards me; it is my intention after a brief visit to my native land to return to my adopted country and again to take the duties that our advanced civilization imposes upon us all.

Yours
P. HENNESSY.

—Applause.

All present were then invited to seat themselves at the tables and partake of the good things provided, sandwiches, cake of various kinds, wild and cultivated strawberries with cream, oranges, etc., with tea and coffee, and all seemed to enjoy themselves. Then a number of toasts were drank in the following order:—

The Queen, the National Anthem being sung.

"Our Guest," was proposed by Mr. Nicholson and in happy language he referred to the beautiful Emerald Isle to which Mr. Hennessy was about to pay a visit and hoped he would thoroughly enjoy it and return to us again in improved health, and he would now call upon them to drink the health of Mr. Hennessy. The toast was drunk heartily, the song—"For he's a jolly good fellow," sung. Mr. Hennessy returned his thanks, and the chairman called upon Mr. James Troy.

Mr. Troy responded in an eloquent address, referring particularly to the historical beauties of the Emerald Isle, which made it so attractive to the tourist, and more especially to the native who returned to its shores after long years of absence. He thought that Mr. Hennessy would go there in the character of an emigrant agent, for his success in life would undoubtedly be an inducement to others to come to Canada and strike out for themselves. Mr. Hennessy was respected by all and we all joined in wishing him a pleasant voyage and much happiness.

The chairman then called upon Mr. James Brown who proposed the toast of "The Press," coupled with the name of Mr. Anselow, who fully responded to the toast and song which followed it.

Mr. Morrissey then remarked that he was present to do honor to Mr. Hennessy, who had been so long in our midst. We had all to battle in the strife of life and we would win if we fought hard, and while we might not succeed as well as our friend Mr. Hennessy had done, yet they could all try to pursue an honest and straightforward course like our friend here, for it was universally admitted Mr. Hennessy had earned every dollar he had honestly and uprightly.

We lived in the finest country on the face of God's earth, socially, morally, religiously, and with its limitless resources which would in time be developed and enrich the people, and then others of our people, having become rich men would take a trip and visit the land of their birth, then we might assemble together and give them a send-off characteristic of Newcastle hospitality.

The next toast proposed was that of "The Bench and Bar," coupled with the names of Messrs. E. P. Williston & A. Davidson, both responding. Mr. Williston particularly referring to the favorable opinion entertained of Mr. Hennessy for his honorable dealings which had led to his well deserved success. His buildings were the best in town and he hoped his success would still continue, and that he might long be spared to his family and for the good of his country, for such men were wanted. He hoped Mr. Hennessy would have a pleasant voyage and a most successful return to his native land. In conclusion he proposed the toast of "The Mercantile Interests," which after being drunk and followed by the usual song was responded to by Messrs. James Brown, George Stables, Mr. M. Bannan, and a list of a speech proposed the toast of "The Ladies," coupled with the names of Mr. T. W. Crocker and H. Wyse. Mr. T. W. Crocker responded.

"Our Mechanical and Agricultural Interests" was duly honored, and responded to by Messrs. M. Russell, W. Robinson, George Brown, Thomas Mullins, J. Allen, J. H. Philmore, R. L. Malloy, J. G. Kethro, M. F. Smallwood and H. Wyse. Mr. M. Russell followed his remark with a song, as did Mr. Kethro, who sang the Red, White and Blue. "The Ladies," was proposed by Mr. Troy, and drunk with all the honors, and followed by the song "Here's to the good old times." The toast was responded to by Mr. James Brown, who thought a mistake was invariably made when a bachelor was called upon to respond to this toast, as to his mind a married man was better fitted to make a suitable response than a single one. He really must admit that on looking round this company he felt very much ashamed of himself when he found but three present who still remained in single blessedness, however he hoped that before very long he would be on the outside too. (Cheers.) Messrs. Bannan and Davidson also responded.

Mr. Brown then proposed the health of the chairman, Mr. J. R. Nicholson, the toast being drunk most heartily and was followed by the usual song. For he's a jolly good fellow. Mr. Nicholson responded in suitable terms. Then came the closing toast "Our next meeting," Auld Lang Syne was sung, and the assemblage dispersed after each had wished Mr. Hennessy a pleasant voyage, a happy visit and a safe return back again. In the remarks made most favorable of the character Mr. Hennessy had earned by his strict honesty and integrity not only in his private life but also in public offices held by him, as well as expressing the hope that his visit would be of advantage to him in the improvement of his health.

Mr. Hennessy left Newcastle for Quebec on Thursday night to take passage on the steamer Parthenon on Sunday morning, and is no doubt by this time almost halfway across the Atlantic ocean.

Sons of Temperance.

CHARLO, July 23, 1891.
The Rev. Isaac Baird lectured to an attentive audience on the question of Prohibition in the Temperance Hall, River Charles, on Thursday, 23rd inst. At the close of the lecture an address was presented to the Rev. gentleman accompanying which was a beautiful emblem of the Sons of Temperance. Mr. Baird leaves in a few days for Nova Scotia, where he will remain for some time.

The following is the address.

RIVER CHARLES, July 23, 1891.
TO MR. AND MRS. BAIRD.

Dear Brother and Sister:—One of the Odes of our Ritual gives expression to sentiment which seems to come with particular force to our minds at this time, "Blest be the tie that binds, our hearts in purest love." As we meditate upon the strain which seems called upon to end by your departure, we are made to feel how by your many endearing qualities of heart and mind and by your active, earnest interest in all efforts for the benefit of our people you have endeared yourselves to us as a division and as individuals. By precept and example you have been ever active in promoting the principles of our order and we feel confident that wherever you go our cause will find in you friends ready to lend a helping hand in hastening the day when the principles of Prohibition shall obtain universal sway. May the little memento of our order which we now present serve to remind you of the many happy hours we have spent together and help to keep alive in our minds recollections of the friends in River Charles who part from you now with feelings of deepest sorrow and regret.

An Important Case.

A little more than two years ago the Steamer Sileto of Newcastle-on-Tyne was loaded with deals by Mr. Snowball at this place. When the time came for signing the bill of lading the captain wanted Mr. Snowball to insert "defused" at shipper's risk. This was refused and the captain kept the steamer here two days on demurrage charge of £30 a day against the shipper and then signed a bill of lading under protest. On arriving in England with the cargo the steamer held it subject to the demurrage charge. On 7th inst. the case was heard before Mr. Justice Day, at the Assizes in the first nisi prius court, Newcastle-on-Tyne. Judgment was given against the steamer and in favor of Mr. Snowball's contention. It is said the cost to the owner of the vessel is about £1000. A. A. Davidson, Esq., acted here for the steamer and R. A. Lawlor, Esq., for Mr. Snowball.

Mr. Collinson, of Chatham, expects to give a concert in Newcastle in about two weeks.

"Be Soothed."

The "Advance" editor intimates that the editor of the Advocate "seems to have a very evenly sustained but lenient" because he does not take without retort the gibes and misrepresentations of the erratic and generally despised individual who conducts Mr. Snowball's paper. His character is so well known that none pays the slightest attention to what he says knowing his lack of principle, and since his somewhat out of the Liberal into the Conservative camp he is afraid to attack any leading politician, for fear he may make as great mistakes as he has done before, so that the Advocate and its editor get a double share of his attentions. It places him and does not hurt us, so we are quite content. But we intend to retain our right to reply even if it does ruffle the cheek of the convicted editor of the "Advance," who had far better employ his time in correcting his own numerous and glaring errors instead of pointing out those of others, and then his character and that of his paper may be expected to improve.

However, as the "Advance" is now offered for sale without the editor, may it be hoped that it will fall into the hands of some editor with more principle and less cheek, who will have some regard for the good opinion of the people he is living among instead of abusing all who differ in opinion from him, as has been the course pursued by the editor of the "Advance" ever since he came here to further his master's interests.

Some time ago the following appeared in the columns of our contemporary. "The Advance" aims to keep its page clean and as free as possible from personal matters," which was decidedly refreshing coming from such a source and from a man who has abused every leading politician on the side opposed to him, and as he has been on all sides the unique spectacle has been seen of at one time abusing and at another alluding to the same individual with the most fulsome flattery. Such has been his course from the first and in the future we hope he will try to carry out to more purpose the programme he had advocated but not followed.

Dr. Inch's Successor.

Dr. Sutherland having declined the nomination to the Presidency of Mount Allison College, at a meeting of the Board of Regents of the University held a few days ago it was unanimously decided to extend an invitation to David Allison, M. A., L. D., Chief Superintendent of Education for Nova Scotia, to the presidency of the College. Although he has not as yet given his formal consent it was more than probable he will accept it.

Dr. Allison was born in Hants Co. in 1836. He was educated at the Halifax Academy, Wesleyan Academy, Middlebury, and Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., from which he graduated in 1859 and became classical instructor at Mt. Allison academy. In 1862 he took a doctor's degree in the college. In 1869 Dr. Pickard resigned the presidency and Dr. Allison was unanimously elected to the President's chair, a tribute to his scholarship and ability. This position he filled acceptably until 1878 when he resigned the position for his present office. In 1879 Dr. Allison resigned the degree of B. A., M. A., in 1862 and L. D., from Victoria, Coburg, Ont. In 1873. In 1876 he was appointed a fellow of the senate of the Halifax University.

Address to Young Men.

Rev. Dr. Laing delivered a most interesting and instructive address to young men in the Masonic hall on Wednesday evening last. There was a full audience present. Mr. Reid acted as chairman and introduced the lecturer. The address was replete with good advice and was most interesting upon the battle of life, and acted upon the mind most certainly to ensure success. The Rev. gentleman spoke most highly of the aims and objects of the W. C. T. U., and thought they were worthy of the highest praise for their self-sacrificing labors.

The brusque and fussy impulse of those days would rate down all as worthless because one is unworthy. As if there were no motives in sublimity! Or comes among stars? Or catenae on peaceful rivers. Or because one resolutely professes to do what it never was adapted to do are all worthless? Because a doctor lets his patients die are all humbugs? It requires a fine eye and a finer brain to discriminate to draw a difference.

"They say" that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery have cured thousands of persons.

"They say" for a weak system there is nothing better than the "Discovery" and that the "Favorite Prescription" is the hope of debilitated, feeble women, who need a restorative tonic and bracing nerve. And here's the proof—Try one or both. If they don't help you tell the World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N. Y., and you get your money back.

The Weather.

Changeable weather appears to be the order of the day, as scarcely a day passes without more or less rain. On Monday the day was bright and warm and it appeared like a perfect day and no doubt all over the country the hum of the mower was heard, but between six and seven o'clock a heavy rain squall gathered and for a couple of hours it poured. Yesterday was a day very similar, bright and sunny, but the rain again threatened in the evening and light rain fell.

Said Down.

Snowball's mill shut down on Thursday. The deal piles had grown so high that the pliers demanded that extra money be paid to help them. The proprietor thought that was a matter for his consideration alone. The men, instead of keeping at their work and carrying up all the deals they could, knocked off and the mill had to be shut down.

Dead.

Senator Odell died at five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, of apoplexy, at his residence in Halifax. He was taken sick at four o'clock on Sunday morning. This creates another vacancy in the Senate; the government had better advertise it for sale and that is open to receive offers for it as Snowball.

S. Andrew's Church.

The services in this church on Sunday next will (D. V.) be as follows:—Morning prayer service and holy Communion at 11 o'clock; evening prayer with sermon at 8 o'clock; there will be the usual service at St. Mark's, Nelson, at 3.30 p. m.

Settled at Last.

The McLeod will case has been finally settled at last, a cable from London announcing that the appeal from the judgment of the Supreme Court had been dismissed. The law expenses have no doubt been very large, but have been paid out of the estate in question.

Acute Language.

Duothe Thibodeau was on Monday tried before Judge Magistrate John Riven, Esq., charged by W. Mason with using abusive language to him on the day previous, and Mr. Jeffries made a similar complaint. He was sentenced to twenty days imprisonment for the Mason's charge and twelve for the Jeffries one.
