The Republic of Ecuador is probably the most perfect model, at the present time, of a nation whose people and Government are thoroughly Catholic. As this is the only State which bas so far officially protested against the Italian iniquities, perpetrated at Rome, the following sketch may be worth recording. Ecuador is larger than France, having an area of 10,300 geographical miles. Its population, however, is only a million and a half; of whom 80,000 reside in the capital city of Quito. The Governand a half; of whom 80,000 reside in though the depth of the water upon it the capital city of Quito. The Government is democratic, and consists of a President elected every sixth year, and two representative Chambers—the Senate elected for size years. The religion of the Republic is exclusively Cutholic, and, to exercise the rights of citizenship it is necessary to be a flatholic citizenship it is necessary to be a flatholic. citizenship it is necessary to be all atholic, to be able to read and write, and to be 21 years of age. By a concordat with the linky See, the fullest freedom is given to religion; and, consequently, immense progress has been made in matters of education. The universities teach theolo-

Days passed, and the green beans began to ferment, and smoke, and threaten combustion, and were finally pitched out upon the ground and left to perish. Mr. Greeley, not receiving a draft for the beans, as he daily expected to do, after waiting a couple of weeks, went down to Fulton and Washington Markets to find the man who had bought them. He couldn't find the man. He then went to the Harlem Railroad office to see if any one there could give him the name of the party who had bought the beans. He there learned the unsatisfactory result of the released the unsatisfactory result of the released the unsatisfactory result of the estimate that at least one million pounds sterling would be saved in the mere conscious that whatever had befallen his vegetables, his virtue had passed safely through the temptations of commerce, he cheerfully went back to Chappagus to meditate on what he knew of the ming; and hence the remarkable book of which we now take an affectionate and admiring leave.—Sun.

Holy See, the fullest freedom is given to religion; and, consequently, immense progress has been made is matters of education. The universities teach theology, law, medicine and science. Equadorials boasts its own academies of painting, soulpture, and music; whilst the astronomical observatory, of considerable importance, has been confided to the care of a papil of the celebrated Jesuin astronomer, Father Secchi. It is worthy of note that the state prisons, under the cld irreligious rule of Spain, such nurseus of crime, have vastly improved under the hewCatholic laws. So salutary has been the effect of these wise regulations that, since the: introduction, the number of crimes has diminished 75 per ceat., as compared with the preceding ten years. A compared of the that the state prisons with that of Liberal infidelity, as exemplified in Italy where crime goes on increasing with terrific rapidity, is worth ten thousand roulmes of disquisitions on what is now adays called political economy. A few years ago Mr. Greeley, under the impulsion of the late Prof. Mapes, went in heavily at Chappaqua on Lima heans. He bought the choicest seed at a high price, and obtaired cedar poles at great expense, on account of their lasting qualities, with the intention of using them from year to year. Mr. Greeley looked after the hoeing and general cultivation of them with fatherly solicitude. The beans were not ungrateful. They came on apace and in great

Here picked, loaded on Harlem freight cars, and sent to the city to market. Here came in the difference between the farmer and the trader. As a farmer, Mr. Greeley had achieved a great triumph. As a trader, we are glad to record that he did nothing with his beans at which the most sensitive, the most morbidly upright conscience could find any fault.
