Mr. Coaker
"Loquitur."

From his comfortable cabin on board s.s. Sachem, the saviour of Newfoundland hands out his usual literary pabulum, in the ardent hope that the Coakeresque sentiments and statements therein contained will still further befoul those to whom his review of "The Year Just Past" is addressed. But northern fishermen are not so short on memory that they will have forgotten so quickly the cavalier manner in which they were treated by Mr. Coaker last November, when they were parading Water Street in an almost hopeless effort to dispose of their catch. Neither will they have forgotten the difficulty experienced by them in their endeavours to obtain short interviews with the Acting Premier and Minister of Marine and Fisheries on the—-to them—all absorbing subject of fish sales. Another matter which they are not likely to put out of mind is the rude manner in which Mr. Coaker and his satellites dismissed their complaints and refused them a hearing at that "wonderful" meeting called at the instance of the President of the Fishermen's Protective Union on the night of November 18th last, at which no person was permitted a hearing save those who were down on the programme for the usual stereotyped address, and when several fishermen persisted in an attempt to query the Regulations, the police were ordered to clear the hall. These incidents are quite fresh in the thoughts of the toilers and they are not likely to allow themselves to be bulldozed or bluffed by any written statement of the man who made the price of fish.

Mr. Coaker, in his review of the past year, writes as a politician, not as a statesman, and as a hide-bound politician at that. Any person needing evidence of this statement has but to apply to the columns of the Advocate containing the article in question. Mr. Coaker defends the Fish Export Regulations. Naturally. He was their creator, father and sponsor, and it is most unlikely that he would "round" on his own brain child. The usual old threadbare stock-in-trade arguments are revamped by the Minister of Fisheries, and his gentlemanly style of misrepresentation of opponents loses nothing in force and value by reason of writing from mid-Atlantic. If anything they are more potent and increasingly vigorous, because distance, perhaps, lends power to his ideas, and the scourge of his pen falls impartially upon all who opposed his policy in the operation of the Fish Regulations. There is nothing original in the diatribe of the "Wordy" President. His well-known style changeth not, neither do his arguments. They closely follow his former lines of thought, and convey an impression that he is writing only to while away the tedium of a voyage across the herring pond, and to kill time, because there are no passengers on the ship with whom his exaltedness cared to associate. All who opposed the Fish Export Regulations, come alike under the lash of that weapon which Mr. Coaker so well knows how to wield, though—and we say it with regret—he does abuse the power which it gives him. But so long as the doughty warrior likes to engage in a "swords at twenty paces" combat, there will be few who will find fault with his desire to once more get the Fish Regulations congestion of "langwidge" out of his system. Mr. Coaker must tilt at something, otherwise life would not contain any pleasure for him. His especial betes noirs to-day are those who fought him to a standstill on his ruinous Fish Policy, and there are other Richmonds in the field now.

A Little Bit Out.

A resolution passed at a meeting of the official board of Gover Street Methodist Church practically accuses the newspaper reporters of holding back news favourable to prohibition, and, in fact, of entering into a conspiracy with the purpose of rendering null and void the Prohibition Act. It does not matter one iota whether a newspaper reporter is in favour of prohibition or not, for his duty is to report without comment of any sort, and so far as the Telegram has been concerned this has always been done. To suggest "a conspiracy amongst newspaper reporters" is absolutely ridiculous on the face of it, and the resolution would have been rendered more forceful by the omission of the conspiracy sentence.

Canadian Hockey News.

OTTAWA LEAVE ICE.
Following the giving of a goal against them, at Montreal on Jan. 28, which in spite of the referee's decision they claimed to be off sides, the Ottawa team after some ridiculous conduct, left the ice five minutes before the end of their game with the Canadians. The 5000 spectators created a terrible uproar, by turns, cursing the Ottawa men and begging them to finish, but to no avail. As a result of this unsportsmanlike act on the part of the Ottawa, Referee Smeaton, one of the best referees of the national Hockey League, resigned.

COMING BY ROSALIND.
By the Rosalind, which is due to arrive about Friday next, Rev. R. J. and Mrs. Power, Revs. MacGlashan and Major Kent are expected. Revs. MacGlashan and Kent will take a prominent part in the Induction Service, and Major Kent, who has been overseas, may possibly preach on Sunday evening next, at which service the bronze tablets, one in memory of the members of the congregation, and one in memory of the Newfoundland Highlanders, who have paid the supreme sacrifice, will be unveiled. The Highlanders will be asked to attend, and possibly the Last Post will be sounded. The actual unveiling will be performed by men who have been overseas. The reception to Mr. and Mrs. Power is planned for Tuesday, February 8th, and an interesting programme is being prepared. We want every member and adherent present at all these special services. Please come and give Mr. Power a warm Newfoundland welcome. — Presbyterian Calendar.

Buying Ready-mades has been an expensive game. But BLAIR'S Overcoat Sale gives everybody a chance to get into the game and you can't lose. For Ten Dollars you get a $20.00 Overcoat, saving the price of good Tub of Butter. For $16.50 you get a $33.00 Overcoat saving the price of a Barrel of Flour. For $20.00 you get a $40.00 Overcoat saving the price of a Ton of Coal. You don't take any chance here, you win every time.—febl.10

Hockey Notes.

The big game between the Feildians and St. Bon's takes place to-morrow night.
Seats have been reserved for this game. General admission will apply to the ground floor only.
Opinion seems to be divided as to who will win out to-morrow night. For a time the odds seemed to be in favour of St. Bon's but the Feildians have backers willing to take up or give any odds on them.
It is to be hoped that there will be no trouble over the referee question in this game.
It has been suggested that the rink management should reserve seats for the players of other teams to enable them to see the game.
The Feildian line-up will probably be the same as in the last game.
We have not heard whether Capt. Higgins of the St. Bon's intend to make any alterations in his line-up but we should not think so.
Here is the probable line-up:
Feildians Goal. "Doc" Power
"Nix" Hunt "Doc" Power
Hubert Rendell "Higgins
Tait "Duncan
Centre "Muir
Pays "Centre "Eagan
Right
Winters "Callahan
Left
Ewing "Cahill

The Feildian spares will likely be: Art. Rendell, Aldred and Harold Rendell, while the St. Bon's will be Gibbs, Murphy and Power.
The Colleges had their second practices this morning and all showed good form. The last practices will take place on Thursday morning and the first match will be played at noon on Saturday.

The Public hears a lot about Price Reductions to-day. But it is of no interest to the working-man to hear the price of the Rolls Royce Car is dropping. But the laborer, the milkman, the lumberman, takes heart when he hears that he can now get a Twenty Dollar Mackinac or Overcoat for only Ten Dollars. The prices of Men's Mackinacs and Overcoats are cut in two for Ten Days only, at BLAIR'S.—febl.10

ON PRELIMINARY HEARING.
The preliminary hearing of the man Nolan on the charge of willful murder, will likely be held on Friday morning next before His Honor Judge Morrish.

COLLECTION OF LOST ARTICLES.
Quite a collection of small articles picked up by the police are in the possession of Inspector Newhook, who is anxious that the owners of the articles would apply for them.

Why not give us an order?
We can deliver it to your door in a hurry. Our prices are reasonable and we keep the goods. J. J. WHELAN, Colonial and Gover Streets; the shop on the corner.—febl.11

MAGISTERIAL ENQUIRY.
Magistrate Fitzgerald of Grand Falls presided over an enquiry held on Saturday at Claretown into the death of the man Parmliter, who was accidentally killed while working at that place some time ago.

SOME VOLUME.
Not Lloyd's Register of Shipping or Kelly's London Directory, which are large in their way, but the massed chorus of seventy voices in the Prince of Pilsen. The choruses are overpowering in their magnificence. Bring your smelling salts.—febl.11

STARTLING COSTUMES.
Throw away your fashion-plates and pattern books, discard your How to be Half-Clothed Tho' Modest Journals, and come and see some REAL costumes at the Prince of Pilsen. The colors alone would gladden the heart of a rainbow.—febl.11

Shipping Notes.
S.S. Rosalind was due at Halifax this a.m.
S.S. Minola is due to-morrow from St. John, N.B.
S.S. Coban arrived in port this morning, 50 hours from Louisburg, with a cargo of coal. The steamer had some difficulty in getting up the harbor owing to ice, and the tug Ingraham had to be requisitioned to cut a channel for her.
Schr. Aspinth, which left here on the 14th ult. for Sydney, has not been reported as arriving, and it is thought she must be delayed by head winds.
Schr. Gladys M. Hollett has cleared from Burin with a cargo of fish for Martinique, French West Indies.

CONCERT AND PLAY.
The St. Joseph's Institute are holding a concert and play at the Parish Hall, Holytown, on February 25th. The concert is under the direction of Mrs. P. J. Kinella, and will be followed by a play under the management of Major J. J. O'Grady. The affair promises to be exceptionally good.

That Sale to Italy.

Yesterday's Star is authority for the statement that the Prime Minister had received a cable from Mr. Hag-boll, head of the Italian Consorzio, stating that the Consorzio has arranged firm purchase and consignments for over fifty thousand quintals of Labrador fish and expressing confidence that this business will be increased before the Consorzio dissolves at the end of April. As far as can be learned this will not mean any new fish shipments from here, and is simply a confirmation of some sales already effected and probably amounting to 25,000 qts. The balance can easily be secured from cargoes now at Malaga of which there is a number.

Bible Society Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Bible Society was held last night. His Excellency the Governor presided, and gave an interesting address, in which he outlined the difficulties encountered by translators. Rev. Dr. Hemmeon and Rev. Dr. Jones followed along the same lines. The report for the year shows that great progress had been made. The officers are: His Excellency the Governor, Patron; His Lordship the Bishop of Newfoundland, Hon. President; Rev. Canon Bolt, President; W. Frew, Esq., Vice-President; Rev. L. Curtis and John Leamon, Esq., Treasurers. R. A. Templeton, Esq., Sec. Secy. John Leamon, Esq., District Secretary. A vote of thanks proposed by Mr. Mow and seconded by Mr. R. A. Templeton was extended to His Excellency, who in responding tendered a word of appreciation to the Cochrane St. Choir, which being present during the session made the evening pleasant with beautiful hymns.
