

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

Ottawa, May 7.

On motion of Mr. Foranier, the House went into Committee of the Whole and passed a resolution providing for the payment of the travelling expenses of judges on the trial of election petitions.

Mr. Dorion then moved the House into Committee on the Election Bill. Several amendments were proposed, one being that the nomination may be filed with the returning-officer at any time after the proclamation of the writ, and before or upon the time specially fixed for the purpose of receiving such nominations.

Another provided, as a protection against sham nominations, that each candidate should deposit $50 on filling his nomination paper.

This clause excited a very animated discussion.

Mr. Young, in amendment, moved to substitute a proviso that each candidate should deposit $100, to be returned after the election unless the candidate failed to receive one-fifth of the number of the votes polled for the successful candidate.

This, on a division, was lost by 79 to 32, and the first amendment was then carried.

The oath in use in the several Provinces was substituted for form of oath originally inserted in the Bill.

Mr. Hilliard Cameron wished to suggest an amendment which would have limited the responsibility of candidates for acts done by their agents by the principles applicable to contracts at common law.

Mr. Moss, in an able argument, showed that to admit the principle would strike a fatal blow at purity of elections.

Mr. Dorion was willing to consider the question before the third reading of the Bill, but did not see his way to adopt any course that would enable a candidate to receiving the advantages accruing from the illegal conduct of his followers.

The Bill was finally got through, and a clause inserted fixing the first of January 1875, as the time for it to come into operation, that being the date adopted by the Ontario Legislature for the ballot vote of that Province to take effect.

The House then went into Committee on the Controversed Elections Bill.

The Committee reported the Bill, and the House adjourned.

Birmingham Pens.

In Birmingham the number of steel pens made weekly is about 98,000 gross, or 14,112,000 separate pens. Thirty years ago, pens were sold wholesale at 6s. per gross; now, pens are good or better than they had or three-half-pence per gross. When it is remembered that each gross requires 144 pieces of steel to go through at least twelve processes in the course of manufacture, the fact that 144 complete pens can be sold for three-half-pence, after providing for material, paying wages to work people, and leaving a profit to the maker, is a convincing proof of the results attainable by the exercise of mechanical ingenuity and division of labor. Gold pens are tipped with iridium, making what are commonly called "diamond pens." The iridium for this purpose is found in small grains in platinum, slightly alloyed with the latter metal. In this form it is exceedingly hard, and well adapted to the purpose of the gold pen maker. The gold for pens is alloyed with silver to about sixteen carats fineness, rolled out into thin strips; on which the blanks are struck. The under side of the point is notched by a small circular saw to receive the iridium point, which is selected by the aid of a microscope. A flux of borax and a blow-pipe secures it to its place, and the point is then ground on a copper wheel with emery.—Engineer.

Adulteration of Butter.

The New York Times of the 25th ult. says:—

"The sub-committee recently appointed by the Butter and Cheese Exchange to investigate the manufacture of artificial butter and adulteration of the pure article, yesterday submitted a report, showing that an article manufactured from stuet or tallow had been sold during the past year as a substitute for butter, by respectable merchants. In the opinion of the committee, the least adequate remedy is to adulterate butter with any foreign substance whatever would cast a suspicion upon the quality of the whole production, and immeasurably injure the marketing of it, particularly for export. In view of this fact the committee recommend the adoption of resolutions concerning any process of adulteration, and the fraudulent attempt to sell such product for pure butter, and requesting dairymen, merchants, and others interested in the legitimate trade throughout the United States and Canada, to report to the Secretary of the Butter and Cheese Exchange of this city, all instances of this practice that may come within their knowledge, for exposure through the authority of the Exchange. The report was unanimously adopted."

The world is full of men who will cheerfully "boss a job," for a dollar and a half a day, when five dollars a day for actual work would not be the slightest temptation for them.

A FARMER.—A farmer living in the Township of Southwell, Elgin, named Crawford, owns a colt which has both of its eyes together in the centre of its forehead, and the upper jaw about five inches shorter than the under one. It did not live.

The total number of Granges in the United States is 10,862, and the total membership 780,000. The only State in which there are no Granges are Connecticut, Delaware and Rhode Island.

A Western paper says dealers in butter classify it as wool grease, car grease, soap grease, virginated, tasselated coon grease, board-house breakfast, "error tub, coon-ton tub, medium ro", "good ro", and gilt edge ro". The terms are strictly technical.

"Do I understand the counsel for the defendant," asked a very fat judge, "to say that he is about to read his authorities against the decision just pronounced from the bench?" "By no means," replied the counsel, afraid: "I was merely going to show to your honor, by a brief passage I was about to read from the book, what an intolerable old fool Blackstone must have been."

"Ay I say" said the judge, not a little elated.

A Dear Editor and a Book Pedlar.

We thought everybody in the State knew that we were deaf, but once in a while we find one that is not aware of the fact. A female book pedlar came to the office the other day. She wished to dispose of a book. She was alone in the world, and had no one to whom she could turn for sympathy or assistance; hence we should buy her book. She was unmarried, and had no manly heart into which she could pour her sufferings, therefore we ought to invest in her book. She had received a liberal education, and could talk French like a native: we could not, in consequence, pay her less than $2 for a book.

We had listened attentively, and here broke in with: "What did you say? We're deaf." She started in a loud voice and went through her rigmarole. When she had finished we went and got a roll of paper and made it into a speaking trumpet, placed one end to our ear, and told her to proceed. She commenced: "I am alone in the world."

"It doesn't make the slightest difference to us. We are a husband and a father. Bigamy is not allowed in this State. We are not eligible to proposals."

"O what a fool the man is," said in a low tone; then at the top of her voice, "I don't want to marry you. I want to sell a book-o-o-k." This last sentence was howled.—"We don't want a book," we marked blandly; "our wife does the cooking, and she wouldn't allow as good looking a woman as you to stay in the house five minutes. She is very jealous." She looked at us in despair.

Gathering her robes about her, giving us a glance of contempt, she exclaimed: "I do believe that if a 300 pounder were let off alongside that deaf fool's head he'd think somebody was knocking at the door. You should have heard her slam the door when she went out. We heard that."

"Letting off sleep" is a little boy's definition of snoring.

Anything Midas touched was turned to gold. In these days, touch a man with gold, and he'll turn into anything.

A Kentucky gentleman didn't get mad until he had been called a "liar" eighty-one times. The monotony of the thing "riled" him.
